LUSITANIA IS TORPEDOED

SUBMARINE SENDS GREAT LINER DOWN

Officials Yet Without Definite News Regarding More Than 1,200 Passengers Aboard

Great Cunarder Meets Fate Off Coast of Ireland--Impressive Warnings on Leaving New York Recalled

New York, May 7.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, one of the fastest ships afloat, was torpedoed and sunk this afternoon off the coast of Ireland, ten miles south of Kinsale.

She had aboard 1,253 passengers. She sailed from this port last Saturday, May 1, and carried, in addition to her own large passenger list, 163 passengers transferred to her from the Anchor liner Cameronia.

One of the messages announcing the fate of the vessel said it was believed all the pasengers of the big liner had ben saved.

No definite news as to the fate of the passengers had been received by the Cunard line here early this afternoon.

The news of her sinking was announced by the local office of the Cunard line and was based on cable advices received from the home office of the company in Liverpool.

Three dispatches received in the order named were made publis by the line and read as follows:

Dispatches Made Public.

"We received from the Landsend wireless station news of repeated distress calls made by the Lusitania asking for assistance at once. Big list. Position ten miles south of Kinsale. Subsequently received telegram from Queenstown that all available craft in the harbor had been dispatched to assist."

The second message to the local office read: "Queenstown, 4:59 p. m.—About twenty boats of all sorts belonging to our line are in vicinity where Lusitania sunk. About fifteen other boats are making for spot to render assistance."

The third telegram was dated Liverpool and read:

"Following received by admiralty: Galleyhead, 4:25 p. m.—Several boats, apparently survivors, southeast nine miles. Greek steamer proceeding to assistance."

Dispatches received here from London, Liverpool and Queenstown confirm the news.

Will Make Public News.

The Cunard line announced that it would make public as fast as it received all dispatches on the sinking of the Lusitania, including those relating to the fate of the passengers.

The stock market was stunned by the news. A torrent of selling orders poured in from every section of the country. A period of intense excitement followed. Prices in war specialties broke 15 to 30 points within an hour. Stable issues dropped 5 to 10 points.

Strikes Washington Like Bomb.

The news struck official Washington like a bomb. Administration officials, it was said, realized that the incident was probably the most serious faced by the government since the beginning of the war. President Wilson was informed of the sinking of the liner and white house officials, while refraining from comment, were keenly anxious to learn if any American lives had been lost.

Late today the Cunard line officials received a dispatch from Queenstown stating that a large steamer and many small vessels and boats were in the vicinity rendering assistance.

The dispatch follows: "Large steamer just arrived in vicinity. Apparently rendering assistance. Tugs, patrols, etc., now on the spot taking boats in tow. Motor fishing boats, with two Lusitania boats, bearing probably for Kinsale." This information came from Old Head, via Queenstown.

Off Irish Seaport.

Kinsale, off which the Lusitania was torpedoed, is a seaport of Ireland, thirteen miles southwest of Cork. It lies near the entrance of St. George's Channel between Ireland and England, through which trans-Atlantic liners pass on their way to Liverpool.

It was the steamer Lusitania whose flying of the American flag in the month of February on her way from Queenstown to Liverpool in order to protect her against possible attack by a German submarine, caused considerable astonishment by the British foreign office justifying the use of a neutral flag under circumstances such as these.

The Lusitania was one of the largest of the trans-Atlantic liners as well as one of the speediest. She was built in Glasgow in 1906. She was 785 feet long, 88 feet beom and 60 feet deep. Her gross tonnage was 32,500 and her net tonnage 9,145. She was owned by the Cunard Steamship company, Ltd., o f Liverpool. Her captain was W. T. Turner.

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—(7:50 p. m.)—The manager of the Cunard company has informed the Liverpool Evening Express that he received this afternoon the following message from the wireless station at Old Head, off Kinsale:

"The Lusitania was sunk by a submarine at 2:33 o'clock this afternoon, eight miles south by west (off this point)."

BULLETIN.

Liverpool, May 7.—(5:43 p. m.)—The Echo has been informed that a message to the Cunard line reads as follows: "The Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk at 2:33 this afternoon, off Kinsale.

"There is no word of her passengers or crew, who number over 1,900."

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—It is believed that the Lusitania's passengers are safe. No details of how they may have been rescued, however, are at hand. One message received here says: "It is not known how many of the Lusitania's passengers were saved." Relief was immediately sent out from Queenstown. If she floated a reasonable length of time before going down it is possible that some of the rescuing ships got to her side. It is believed the Lusitania's water tight bulkheads would tend to keep her afloat.

BULLETIN.

New York, May 7.—Among the first cabin passengers on the Lusitania were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bliss Thompson, of Indiana.

Queenstown, May 7.—News received here from the Lusitania at 3:25 p. m. said that before sinking her life boats were over her sides.

Presence Was Known.

The presence of German submarines off the southern coast of Ireland and along the line of travel the Lusitania would follow in going to Liverpool, was made known in a dispatch from Glasgow last night which recited that the British steamer Cherbury has been torpedoed in the Atlantic ocean, off the Irish coast. This was on April 29. Two other vessels were sent to the Bottom more recently, the Centurian and the Candidate. Just where the ships were attacked has not been made known but their destinations lead to the belief that one or more German submarines have been operating in the lines of trans-Atlantic travel. It may be that they were waiting for the Lusitania and in the meanwhile attacked such other vessels as came within their range.

The Lusitania was a product of the race for speed which was carried on for years among trans-Atlantic steamship companies, particularly of England and Germany. When the Lusitania was launched she was the wonder of the maritime world. Her mastery of the sea from the standpoint of speed was undisputed.

The progress of the Lusitania on her first voyage to New York was watched by the world.

Warned Before Sailing.

When the Lusitania sailed she had aboard 1,310 passengers. Some nervousness had been caused because of the publication in the morning papers of Saturday of an advertisement warning intending travelers that a state of war existed between Germany and Great

WILL CONCEDE JAP DEMANDS

China Said to Realize Her Situation is a Hopeless One.

Japanese Ultimatum Formally Presented by Eki Hioki.

Peking, May 7.—(6 p. m.)—Eki Hioki, the Japanese minister to China, went to the Chinese foreign office between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon and presented the Japanese ultimatum which insists that China accede to the demands presented by the Tokio government.

There is good reason to believe that China is prepared to concede everything demanded by Japan realizing that the situation is hopeless. This possible outcome to the present tense situation is not generally comprehended in Peking; consequently a number of foreign residents, as well as Chinese themselves, are today packing their personal belongings and otherwise preparing for eventualities.

It was asserted here today that the Japanese government yesterday presented to the Chinese minister at Tokio a note warning him that China must accept the demands of Japan, as otherwise there would be presented to her an ultimatum the expiration of which would be fixed for 6 p. m. of Sunday, May 9.

Japan's policy, says the Peking Gazette, is to extort the entire body of her demands while avoiding the odium

Dr. Carman's Testimony is Identical With That in First Trial.

Mineola, N. Y., May 7.—Dr. Edward Carman described on the witness stand today in his wife's trial on the charge of murder, the shooting of Mrs. Louise Bailey in his office in Freeport, June 30, last. His story was identical with that related by him in the first trial.

Mrs. Carman who had prepared to testify in her own behalf late today, followed his testimony closely. It was dark, Dr. Carman said, when he heard the crash of glass, and looking up saw a hand grasping a revolver thrust through the broken window. The state contends that the shooting occurred while it was yet daylight and opposes the theory of the defense that the assailant escaped in the darkness.

Before Dr. Carman was called to the stand, William R. Smith, engineer of the electric light plant at Freeport, testified that the street lights were turned on at 8:10 o'clock on the night of the shooting.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE GENERALLY OBSERVED

White carnations, symbolic of maternal devotion, will be the national flower on Sunday, May 9. Mother's day is to be observed in the churches and elsewhere on that date. The carnation was selected as the flower by Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, who started the observance.

Not only in thousands of churches, but in penitentiaries where the golden light of maternal affection seldom penetrates, the day will be observed.

Mother's day will be observed in the schools of the county on Monday if the request of D. O. McComb, county superintendent, is complied with.

GERMANS YET CLING TO FAMOUS HILL 60

Berlin, May 7.—(Via London, 4:06 p. m.)—The German general headquarters staff today gave out the following statement: "In the western theater: All attempts today of the English at Ypres to wrest away from us Hill 60, which since April 17 has formed the focus of fighting, failed. We gained further territory there in the direction of Ypres. During the battles there yesterday the enemy lost seven machine guns, one mine thrower and a large number of rifles with ammunition. During a continuation of their attack this morning, the British again suffered further heavy losses.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle we maintained the territory gained in the Meuse hills and southwest and west of the forrest of Ailly.

"At Fliery, a small portion of a trench forming part of our position is still in possession of the French. Otherwise all their attacks were repulsed.

"Attempts of the enemy to make an attack on Steinburick, in the valley of Fecht, was quashed at the start by our fire.

"In the eastern theater: The battles to the south of Szadow and east of Roscinie ended in a decided defeat for the Russians who suffered heavy losses. In prisoners alone, they lost 1,500 men and are in full retreat."

BATTLE STILL RAGING.

Fierce Engagement in Ypres Region Has Not Been Decided.

London, May 7.—The battle to decide the mastery of hill No. 60, and the desolated country around Ypres, has not yet reached its final climax. Neither have the Russians shown signs of accepting the German claim that a crushing defeat has been inflicted upon them in western Galicia.

That the Russians have been pushed back many miles, first across the Dunajec and now across the Wistoka river, which parallels the Dunajec 150 miles to the eastward, the dispatches from German and Austrian sources insist, but the English newspapers still refuse to concede a great victory to the Austro-Germans, although they admit that a great tentative success has been achieved.

ROOSEVELT LAWYERS SEEK TO SHOW WASTE

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7.—Testimony designed to show that there was waste in the execution of orders and contracts for public printing was presented in the supreme court here today by counsel for Theodore Roosevelt. Charmes M. Winchester, general manager of the J. B. Lyon company, testified to talking with Wm. Barnes about billing work ordered by the Journal company to public officials, instead of to the Journal company direct. Mr. Barnes he said, wanted the bills sent to the Journal.

Col. Roosevelt apparently was not much interested in the evidence presented. While the witnesses were testifying, he sat at the table occupied by his counsel and studiously read Greek poetry.

FROST IS PREDICTED.

Much Cooler Weather is Forecasted for Friday Night

There is going to be another frost Friday night, according to the predictions of H. C. Collman, who is temporarily in charge of the local weather bureau. If the skies clear sufficiently there is every reason to believe that the frost will be a heavy one. Warmer weather is predicted for Saturday, but there is to be a drop of several degrees Friday night.

MAKE FIRST ATTACK ON CONSTANTINOPLE

Paris, May 7.—(7:20 a. m.)—The first attack on the war on Constantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs which are believed to have caused extensive damage.

The message says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts on the left bank of the Bosphorus on Wednesday. Several Russian shells fell within about ten miles of Constantinople.

NEW SUBMARINE VICTIM.

British Steamer Candidate Sent Down Off Irish Coast.

London, May 7.—The British steamer Candidate was torpedoed by a German submarine yesterday off Waterford, Ireland. The members of her crew were saved. The Candidate was of 3,826 net register. Built in Glasgow in 1906; she was 398 feet long and owned in Liverpool where she arrived April 9 from New Orleans.

Official announcement is made in a dispatch from Constantinople that severe losses have been inflicted on the French and British troops which have been landed on Gallipoli peninsula. It is said one entire battalion was annihilated in an attack on the allied left wing and that in another engagement lost heavily both in men and war munitions.

Reports reaching London from the Dardanelles while containing no new details of the land fighting say that the bombardment by the allied fleet of the Turkish fortifications is proceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Chanak and Kilid Bahr, and probably others on both sides of the straits up to the narrows are said to have been silenced.

The exact status of affairs in the great battle of western Galicia remains in doubt. German and Austrian reports of a spectacular victory are increasingly optimistic. They state that the resistance of the Russians is being broken down steadily and that the whole Carpathian army of the Russians has been placed in a precarious situation. Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to the Teutonic allies say these claims are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry in the Carpathians further east than the scene of the present main battle.

Reports that Italy would settle peacefully her differences with Austria apparently are passing as speedily as they were developed a few days ago. The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make and Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost confidence in a favorable outcome. A German school in Rome was closed on receipt of a telegram from Berlin and the exodus of Germans from Italy is continuing in increasing numbers.

Austria is making energetic military preparations for a possible attack by Italy.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS SWELL THE CROWDS

Interest in Evangelistic Campaign in Terre Haute Increasing.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 7.—Students in the high school are taking unusual interest in the evangelistic meetings being conducted in this city by Dr. Milford H. Lyon.

The high schools marched to the tabernacle, each accompanied by a band, and immediately upon arrival, the Wiley students presented the evangelist with a beautiful bunch of red roses. Not to be outdone, Garfield students had baked a cake, which was presented by their principal and which was carefully watched throughout the evening by the members of the Lyon party.

Sermon to Young People.

Dr. Lyon's sermon was prepared especially for the young people who were before him and was entitled, "The Power of Choice" in which he pointed out the various ways to choose life's work, life's partners and finally to choose between life and death. The final portion of the sermon was in the form of an urgent appeal for all the young people who had not previously professed themselves to do so at the time.

"I have spoken to a number of high school people and in fact have a 'high school' night wherever I go, but I must say this is one of the liveliest bunches of high school students which ever has been before me," said Rev. Lyon. "I thought to myself while sitting here and listening to your yells and songs, 'There's the power that's going to move old Terre Haute onward and upward. This is indeed the age of young people."

65 HIGH SCHOOLS TO FIGURE IN CONTESTS

State Field and Track Meet May 15 Will Be Big Event.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—Sixty-five high schools with a total of 232 athletes are entered in the state high school field and track meet to be held here Saturday, May 15, according to figures published here today. This is the largest number of schools and also the largest number of athletes ever to participate in the state high school athletic tournament. At the meet at Crawfordsville last year, only 42 schools, with a total number of 208 entrants took part.

With anything like favorable conditions a number of state records are expected to be broken. Every contestant entered in the meet must have made in a fair test a record equal to the following in every event entered: 100 yard dash, 11 seconds; 220 yard dash, 26 seconds; 440 yard dash, 58 seconds; half mile run, 2 minutes 20 seconds; mile run, 5 minutes 15 seconds; 120 yard high hurdle, 19 seconds; 220 yard low hurdle, 29 seconds; running high jump, 5 feet; running broad jump, 19 feet; polevault, 8 feet 9 inches; putting shot, 36 feet; throwing discus, 90 feet.

According to the entry list, Evansville will be represented by seven athletes, Lafayette 9, Gary high school of Terre Haute by 1, Richmond by 5 and South Bend by 8.

ENGLISH PRESS COUNSELS PEACE

Hopes China and Japan May Spare Mankind New Visitation of War.

London, May 7.—The Times in a leading editorial on the Chino-Japanese situation, after expressing the hope that China and Japan may spare mankind the misery of another visitation of war, adds:

"This hope is not encouraged by the latest messages from Tokio and Peking, nevertheless there seems to linger the feeling in both capitals that matters may not go to extremities. This expectation is no longer entirely shared in Washington, where the situation is being closely watched.

"Japan's victorious expulsion of the Germans from Chinese soil and from the far east gave her opportunities which it was manifest she would use. She was not likely to forgo this occasion of impressing upon China once for all that she is a great power. This is a matter on which Japanese feeling is particularly sensitive, and in the past China some times has shown a foolish and arrogant disregard for her sensibilities.

"Whatever may have been Japan's original demands, she has shown a certain readiness to modify them in the later course of the negotiations, owing to more mature consideration and possibly to the accession of strength which the recent elections brought to the Okuma cabinet.

"We believe that Japan would be hardly less ill-advised than China were she to permit matters even now to proceed to extremities. Denial by Washington that anything has been initiated towards actual mediation has a significance in the present state of American feeling, which can scarcely be missed in Tokio.

The high reputation for sagacity and moderation which Japanese statesmen have acquired all over the world, would undoubtedly be impaired were she short-sighted enough now to take the course likely to arouse the jealousy and hostility of the other great powers after the European war. This war will not last forever and in the period of great commercial activity which will follow it, in the far east, the good will and confidence of the others will be of importance to her. Nothing could prejudice them more than the suspicion that while they were involved in a life and death struggle in Europe, she seized the occasion to press her private interests.

"We expect even now at the eleventh hour that she will exert her high abilities to avert a catastrophe and to justify once again British confidence in Japan and British sympathy with all legitimate development and expansion of her interests in the far east."

U. S. MAKES KNOWN ORIENTAL POLICY

Administration in Statement of Attitude Regarding China and Japan.

Washington, D. C., May 7—After having preserved an absolute silence for nearly three months on the Chinese-Japanese negotiations, the administration last night made the following statement of its attitude:

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding of the position of the United States in reference to the negotiations pending between Japan and China, this announcement is made:

"At the beginning of negotiations the Japanese government confidentially informed this government of the matters which were under discussion and accompanied the information by the assurance that Japan had no intention of interfering with either the political independence or terirtorial integrity of China, and that nothing that she proposed would discriminate against other powers having treaties with China, or interfere with the 'open door' policy to which all the leading nations are committed.

"This government has not only had no thought of surrendering any of its treaty rights with China, but it has never been asked by either Japan or China to make any surrender of these rights. There is no abatement of its interest in the welfare and progress of China and its sole interest in the present negotiations is that they may be concluded in a manner satisfactory to both nations and that the terms of the agreement will not only contribute to the prosperity of both of these great oriental empires but maintain that cordial relationship so essential to the future of both and to the peace of the world."

PLOT TO WRECK A TRAIN IS FOILED

Lexington, May 7.—Kentucky authorities are seeking the perpetrators of what was apparently an attempt to wreck a special train carrying Illinois Central Railway officials on an inspection trip of the company's lines from Chicago to New Orleans.

S. G. Hatch, passenger traffic manager; H. J. Phelps, general manager, and George H. Bower, general passenger agent of Chicago, were among the men on the train.

W. R. Lust, a railroad lineman, who was going over his route at O'Rell, heard the special's whistle and stopped his handcar preparatory to removing it from the rails, when he saw a big spike wedged in a space where the rails were spliced. He dug that out and then noticed another spike similarly wedged a few feet away. This he removed a few seconds before the train went by.

21 DEAD IN SOUTH IS TOLL OF STORM

New Orleans, La., May 7.—The death toll of the wind storm which devastated Acadia parish, in southwestern Louisiana and Coahoma county, in northwestern Mississippi yesterday today stood at twenty-one. All but one were negroes.

Fifteen were killed at Egan and Mermentu, in Acadia parish and six near Clarksdale and Jonestown, Miss.

Forty-five more persons are known to have been injured in Acadia parish, some of them seriously.

Early estimates placed the property loss there at $500,000. Many buildings were demolished at Mermentu, twenty were destroyed at Egan and all farm houses in the path of the storm are reported to have been razed.

The storm which visited Mississippi was accompanied by heavy rain and railway tracks in several sections of the state were inundated. Washouts north of Magnolia delayed traffic on the Illinois Central for several hours.

Reports from the stricken districts were delayed today by damage to telegraph and telephone lines.

SAYS WOMAN DOPED CAKE FOR HUSBAND

Racine, Wis., May 7.—George Zabornick has confessed that Mrs. Marie Kasala, the 26-year-old wife of Simon Kasala, killed by eating cake containing strychnine, administered the poison at his insistence, according to the police report. It is charged that this was the third attempt on the husband's life.

Once, Zabornick says, he tried to pick a quarrel with the husband and did hit him on the head with a brick, but was not successful in killing him. Zabornick says he bought arsenic four times, and after refusing to use it three times the wife tried it the fourth time, and only made her husband sick.

Tuesday Kasala ate the poisoned cake and died in five minutes. Zabornick was caught through trying to destroy a letter containing the strychnine not used.

Zabornick told the police that he and the woman had been lovers for two years and wanted to get rid of Kasala so they could marry.

DUSKY MAORI QUEENS SEEK RED-HEADED AMERICAN SOLDIER HUSBANDS.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Wanted—Three Americans for the husbands of Maori girls. Must be soldiers, young and have red hair. Apply at once at Maori Village on the Zone at the Pan-ama-Pacific International Exposition.

This is the appeal sent out from their thatched huts at the fair by three pretty Maori maidens—Rangi, aged 21; Mariet, 18, and Tairia, 17, who have decided that they want Americans for husbands to take back with them when the fair has closed, to their far-away island homes.

Any American will not do, however. He must have red hair. He must always wear a uniform with pretty bright yellow stripes down his pants' legs and a dash or two of the yellow upon his coat sleeves. And of course, he must be reasonably young. No men with whiskers need apply.

MUST PAY JUDGMENT IN KINGSLAND CASE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—The appellate court holds that where railroads exchange passes for the officials of the two companies the administrator of an official of one of the roads who is killed while riding on one of the passes may recover damages for the death, although the pass has printed on it the words: "Not transferable. The person accepting and using this pass thereby assumes all risk of accident and damage to person or property."

The decision was made in affirming the Jay circuit court in giving judgment of $5,000 to Mary J. Justus, administratrix, against the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company for the death of Louis C. Justus, who was killed while riding on a pass with such a condition.

Mrs. Justus is the widow of a Bluffton man who was one of the victims of the trolley horror at Kingsland in September, 1910, when two score of passengers lost life.

OATS SMUT CAMPAIGN.

Indiana Farmers That Treat Seeds Have Much Better Crop Yields.

Washington, May 7.—The agricultural department in a bulletin issued today says: "In the recent Indiana oats smut campaign, more than fifty meetings, with a total attendance of 2,560 farmers, were held in Montgomery, Boone, Delaware, Randolph, Madison, Grant, Allen, Pulaski, Benton, Wells and Steuben counties. A botanist of the extension department and the county agent in each of these counties had charge of the work. Results in a similar campaign last year showed that where the seed was treated less than 1 per cent. of smut was found, while fileds sown with untreated seed had an average of 13 per cent. From 1 to 80 per cent. of smut has been found in Indiana fields, showing that many have at least one-third smutted heads. The formalin treatment of seed oats increased the yield from one to twenty-five bushels an acre. One out of eighty farmers treated their seed oats two years ago, but as a result of these campaigns, five out of eighty treated their seed oats this year."

So pewerful is the jaw of the sword-fish from which the sword projects that it has been known, in attacking vessels, to pierce through oak timbers to the depth of ten inches.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

M. R. writes: "I have suffered with dyspepsia, or nervous indigestion more or less for 8 years, and I want you to prescribe treatment for me; my symptoms are the usual ones, such as pain and distress after eating, sour stomach, headache, heart-burn, and pain in regions of heart, or between shoulders, constipation, or sometimes diarrhea, coated tongue, bad breath and a score more. Am miserable, in a word."

Answer: Your case is chronic, but by careful diet and the regular use of an aid and tonic you should soon recover a normal state. Obtain a packet of "double-four stomach and bowel medicine" of a druggist. With it are directions. This is the newest and best treatment I know of.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed, and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks: "Tell me, please how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be aenemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hyponuclane tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will oust any curable cough or cold promptly: Obtain a 2¼ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

Miss "Stranger" asks: "I am in a weakened condition due a long seige of catarrhal trouble. Briefly I have Pelvic Catarrh (leucorrhea) and catarrh of the nose and throat. What local treatment is good for a cure?"

Answer: I am quite sure that antiseptic Vilane Powder is the most prompt and effective treatment that one can possibly use. Full directions accompany either a two or eight ounce package. Do not neglect catarrhal trouble.

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that it is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If your symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles scant, copious or foul-smelling urine, accompanied by headaches, pains, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of balmwort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur), cleansing treatment in the form of three-Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cases.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as that can be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drugstore the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

CLUE TO MISSING GOLDEN FRANCIS

Roanoke Girl and Her Lover Said to Have Been Seen by Police of Indianapolis This Week.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—A telegram received by Theodore Francis, of Roanoke, father of Golden Francis, the 20-year-old girl of that town who disappeared a week ago today in this city, where she was a student in the business college, states that a young woman answering her description was seen two days ago in Indianapolis with a young man whose appearance tallies with that of Amos ("Red") Mendenhall, her lover, whom she is believed to have run away to meet. The telegram came from the Indianapolis police department. The girl's father is now investigating this clue. John McCaulifin, of Roanoke who was devoting his attention to the girl, had telegraphed from Terre Haute earlier that he had found traces of the girl in that city, but nothing has so far come from that clue. Mrs. Francis, the girl's mother, clings to her belief that her daughter has been drugged and is either in Huntington or Fort Wayne. The Fort Wayne police were enlisted several days ago by the marshal of Roanoke to try to find a trace of the girl in that city, but have been unable to gain any clue to her. Mrs. Francis now tells for the first time since her daughter's disappearance that two weeks before Golden passed from the sight of her friends, an elderly woman, dressed in black and wearing a white collar, engaged her in conversation in a Huntington store. The woman said her name was Miller and Golden commented on her actions and remarks. Mrs. Francis attached no significance to the incident at the time Golden told of it, but it has just come to her mind and she now believes the woman may have figured in the girl's disappearance. John McCaulifin, who boards at the Francis restaurant and is regarded almost as a member of the family, said that last Friday, the day the girl disappeared, Golden called his attention to the woman while he and Golden were in the court house here. He says the woman watched Golden constantly. McCaulifin also says he saw "Red" Mendenhall in Huntington the same day. Some time ago Mendenhall worked in Roanoke and boarded at the Francis restaurant. He paid much attention to the girl at that time. Mr. Francis and McCaulifin have been abroad all this week in their search for the missing girl.

WHY HE WANTED TO DIE.

Fred Fitzgerald Huntington, Had Just Assaulted a Girl.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—Fred Fitzgerald is under arrest here charged with criminal assault on Fern Droud, a 15-year-old orphan girl who is a ward of the orphans' home at Mexico, Ind., and in the shocking story told to the police by his victim is found the motive for Fitzgerald's attempt to commit suicide last Tuesday night by swallowing carbolic acid. It was for a time supposed that Fitzgerald's attempt to end his life was due to dementia brought on by business troubles. He did not succeed in swallowing much of the poison, but he terribly burned his hands and face. He had brought the Droud girl to his restaurant to work Tuesday afternoon in place of Mrs. Fitzgerald, who had been taken ill. Tuesday night he took the girl in an automobile to carry her back to the home of Mrs. C. C. Miller, on the Stults pike, north of Huntington, where she had been staying. According to the girl's story, Fitzgerald drove into the country and outraged her. She later left the car and walked home. She did not tell of her terrible experience for two days. Fearing that he would be exposed by the girl Fitzgerald tried to take his life, according to the police theory. An affidavit charging criminal assault was filed against him.

TO FIGHT BLIND TIGERS.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—Now that Hartford City has voted dry, the temperance people plan an active organization to keep out blind tigers. Following the outcome of the election plans for this organization were taken up at once. Of course, this body will not begin its vigilance until later in the summer, when the saloons go out of business. Rev. E. E. Trippeer, of Grace M. E. church, stated that this organization would do all in its power to keep blind tigers out of the city. He spoke in a way which showed that he believed it would be possible to do so. This organization will be effected in the near future.

PIERCETON RESIDENT DEAD.

Pierceton, Ind., May 7.—Joseph Taylor, a pioneer of Kosciusko county, died at his home in Pierceton Thursday afternoon after an illness of long duration. He was sixty-nine years old. Mr. Taylor was prominent in the earlier history of Kosciusko county. Of late years he was connected with the Reid-Murdock pickle factory at Pierceton. He was elected county clerk in 1878 and served for four years, after which he was re-elected for a second term. For a number of years he was in the lumber business with his brother. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

WERE WED IN MICHIGAN.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—A letter from T. P. Redding, a former Wells county resident, now living at Traverse City, Mich., conveys some news of interest to the many relatives and friends in Wells county. Announcement is made of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Winifred Redding, and Mr. Ivan Lawrence, which took place recently at Traverse City. He says that Mr. Lawrence is a young farmer and he and his bride have moved onto his farm three miles west of Traverse City.

BABE'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—Word was received in this city today of the death of the three-year-old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orel Markins, who formerly lived in this county. The Markins family at the present time are residents of Oklahoma. The child fell into a tub of scalding hot water and was cooked from head to foot.

AT KENDALLVILLE NEXT.

Ben-Hur Congress Elects Officers at Bluffton Session.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—Kendallville was chosen as next year's meeting place for the Northern Indiana Fraternal congress of the Tribe of Ben-Hur at its session which came to a close here yesterday afternoon. Columbia City and Bluffton teams confer the work at next year's congress. Officers elected were: Past chief, Ida Broughman, Marion; chief, W. H. Bertch, South Bend; judge, Joseph Brinsley, Fort Wayne; teacher, Henrietta Hay, Elkhart; scribe, C. M. Hunt, Kokomo; keeper of tribute, A. L. Miller, South Bend; captain, Mary E. Artman, Decatur; guide, Cora Logan, Marion; keeper of the inner gate, Joseph Davis, Wabash; keeper of the outer gate, E. L. Thompson, Bluffton; pianist, Belle Roos, Garrett.

POLICEMAN FINALLY FIRED.

Van Wert, O., May 7.—Patrolman James Gamble has finally been permanently retired from the police force of Van Wert by the findings of the civil service commission, which after a thorough hearing on appeal of the accused officer sustained the action of Safety Director McMillen, who dismissed Gamble some weeks ago. Disobedience of orders, violation of departmental rules, loitering in and about places of amusement and business instead of patrolling his beat and speaking disrespectfully of fellow patrolmen and superiors were some of the charges against him. This was the fourth time Gamble had had charges preferred against him. Political pull is said to have kept his place for him.

SYRACUSE SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Syracuse, Ind., May 7.—Twenty-five students will be graduated from the Syracuse high school at commencement exercises to be held this evening in the opera house. Mrs. Julia F. Walker, editor of the Educators' Journal, will deliver the address. Following are the graduates: Catherine Rothenberger, Georgia Whistler, Melvin Dilleen, Elvah Pearson, Helen Hoy, Gladys Deardorff, Charles Branham, Ina Bushong, Velma Shock, Clela Hoch, Mary Cory, Hugh Kitson, Marion Strieby, Mildred Edgel, Emma Rentfson, Helen Wold, Mildred Akers, Vida Dewart, Phyllis Miles, Hattie Sellers, Bernice Shannon, Dwight Ketring, Clifford Voorhees and Charles Bushong.

MONTPELIER TO FIGHT SALOON.

Montpelier, Ind., May 7.—Will Montpelier, the only wet place in Blackford county, now vote on the liquor question? This is the question which has been asked on all hands now that Hartford City has spoken for the drys. At a meeting of the tabernacle people, held in Montpelier, it was determined to have Evangelist George Stephens, who has been conducting a meeting there for the past five weeks, come back to Montpelier for Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. At that time it is expected that something will be "sprung."

VICIOUS DOG ATTACKS CHILD.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—The little four-year-old daughter of Orville Johnson, of Mayne street, was seriously bitten by a tramp hound that came to the Johnson home several days ago. A number of little children were playing around the dog which had just been fed. The dog seemed friendly, but suddenly turned on the little girl and bit her in the face. A gash about one inch long was inflicted on her upper lip and a cut one-half inch long on the lower lip. One of her upper teeth was knocked out.

OLD BUILDING CONDEMNED.

Kendallville, Ind., May 7.—An old pressed brick building just north of the New York Central tracks, on North Main street was condemned by the city board of health and George Kihm, city fire chief, who made a thorough inspection of the structure. The officials visited the building this morning and found three families residing in the building, which was declared to be unsanitary and a veritable fire trap. The families were ordered to move from the building immediately.

KENDALLVILLE COUPLE WED.

Albion, Ind., May 7.—Herman Remenap and Mrs. Ethel McKee, both of Kendallville, were married at the Lutheran parsonage Thursday by the Rev. C. S. Bream. Only the necessary witnesses were present. The bridegroom is a lumber salesman and has been traveling in Michigan most of his time. The bride lived in Kendallville some years. Mr. and Mrs. Remenap will spend their honeymoon at the San Francisco exposition and other places of interest. They will start for the west this week.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT FILED.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—The damage suit of Adelbert E. Sparrow against the Erie Stone company has been filed in the circuit court here on change of venue from Adams county, having been sent there from the Huntington circuit court. Sparrow demands damages in the sum of $10,000 for personal injuries sustained in an accident at Huntington. The case was tried once at Decatur and a verdict for $3,000 damages given. The court granted a motion for a new trial and then a change of venue was taken.

MOTHER DESERTS HER BABES.

Pierceton, Ind., May 7.—A female fox that has been kept as a pet at the Bresnahan hardware store here for some time, escaped from her cage in the basement of the store and abandoning her young cuba that had scarcely got their eyes open disappeared. The mother fox has not since been seen although the building has been searched for her and tempting food has been placed about. It is believed she has gone back to the woods to seek her mate. The little foxes are thriving well on the bottle.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT.

Decatur, Ind., May 7.—Floyd Enos, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Enos, suffered a severe and painful injury to his hand and was otherwise bruised and hurt in the vicinity of Toscin, as he and Peter Bollinger were returning home from the motorcycle races at Montpelier. The machine turned over, pinioning Floyd's hand as he tumbled over with it. Bollinger was unhurt.

MASONS FOR HALF CENTURY.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—At a banquet in the Masonic hall Clark Stewart, Dr. H. C. Davisson, A. J. Klugh and Joseph H. Rhoades celebrates their fiftieth anniversary in Masonry. The Montpelier lodge were the guests of honor. Attorney A. G. Emshwiller was the toastmaster of the evening and a number of excellent talks were given. Quartet music and other features made the evening a very enjoyable one.

SUFFERS SIXTH FRACTURE.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—Mrs. Amanda Cain, age seventy-nine, fell when in her yard on Wesley street suffering a severe fracture of her left arm. The bones were both broken just above the wrist, and one bone was forced through the flesh. The same arm had been broken twice previously from falls in the last few years. About three years ago she suffered a broken leg. The other arm had been broken twice.

ROBBERS RAID HICKSVILLE.

Hicksville, Ohio, May 7.—Robbers made a raid on Hicksville stores in the early morning hours and before the campaign had ended five places had been burglarized. The Maxwell Brothers' Clothing company, the Bilderbeck harness shop, the S. O. Cromley 10-cent store, the Duncan restaurant and the Warfield restaurant were entered, but the burglars got little. About $30 cash was the total of their haul, so far as can be ascertained. An unlocked safe containing $200 was overlooked in the Maxwell store. In each case entrance was gained through rear windows. Local amateur talent is held responsible for the robberies. Bloodhounds here from Leipsic, Ohio, failed to trail the thieves.

FARMER SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Ossian, Ind., May 7.—Allen Bushet, a widely known farmer of Wells county, was suddenly stricken with heart trouble Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Howard Bushet, near this place, and died almost at once. He was at work in the yard when the stroke came and had apparently been in excellent health. He was 67 years old, a native of this county and had spent his entire life here. His wife died some years ago and his surviving children are Howard, Clark and Alfred Bushet and Mrs. John Confer and Mrs. Charles Kummer, all of this county.

DEATHS AND BIRTHS EQUAL.

Portland, Ind., May 7.—Deaths equalled the births in this city during April, there being eight each, as shown by the report on vital statistics filed today by Dr. J. E. Nixon, health commissioner.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Proverbs 24:1-18.

1 Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart studieth destruction, and their lips talk of mischief.

3 Through wisdom is an house builded, and by understanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong; yea, a man of knowledge increaseth strength.

6 For by wise counsel thou shalt make thy war; and in multitude of counsellers there is safety.

7 Wisdom is too high for a fool; he openeth not his mouth in the gate.

8 He that deviseth to do evil shall be called a michievous person.

9 The thought of foolishness is sin; and the scorner is an abomination to men.

10 If thou faint in a day of adversity, thy strength is small.

11 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain;

12 If thou sayest, Behold, we knew it not; doth not he that pondereth the heart consider it? and he that keepeth thy soul, doth not he know it? and shall not he render to every man according to his words?

13 My son, eat thou honey, because it is good; and the honey-comb, which is sweet to thy taste.

14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom be unto thy soul: when thou hast found it, then there shall be a reward, and thy expectation shall not be cut off.

15 Lay not wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous; spoil not his resting place;

16 For a just man falleth seven times, and riseth up again; but the wicked shall fall into mischief.

17 Rejoice not when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart be glad when he stumbleth;

Legislative Work of Women

Proceeding in systematic and business-like fashion, the Woman's Legislative Council of Indiana has just compiled for permanent record a summary of the results of its efforts during the recent session of the legislature in behalf of better laws. It is interesting as showing not only the high character but the ambitious scope of the first orzanized action taken by Indiana women to have a say-so in general legislative efforts. When it is recalled that this body represented 50,000 women of voting age in the state, its right to be heard in matters of importance, particularly those which directly affect women and children, will scarcely be questioned.

The record shows that during the sixty days twenty-one bills were endorsed, three originated. Besides the suffrage bills, ten bills were indorsed at the request of constituents, five passed both houses, five were passed by the senate and killed in the house, one passed the house and was killed in the senate, one failed of a constitutional majority in the senate, eight were killed in committee after passing one house. Almost twenty-five per cent., then, of the bills directly supported and endorsed by the women were enacted into law, a start that manifestly indicates some tremendous possibilities when the woman's legislative council gets still more thoroughly and more effectively into its task.

As showing the line of effort put forward by the women, a glance at the list of bills given endorsement by that body is interesting. It included the measure for the commission of the adult blind, the Stotzenburg constitutional amendments, the abatement and injunction bill and the better housing bill. It supported the bill prohibiting free lunches in the saloons, endorsed the state-wide prohibition proposition, the mandatory placing of a woman on city school boards, the "lazy husband" bill, workmen's compensation, mothers' pensions, the centennial bill, the full-time health officer bill, the policewoman bill, the bill for women factory inspectors, the bill to limit working hours for women, library codification, the bill to curb immodest dances, the anti-cigarette bill, the partial suffrage bill, the constitutional convention bill, and one or two measures defining statutory offenses and making present laws of this character more effective. In the face of a record like that, who shall deny that Indiana women are on the right track?

The appointment of A. B. Crampton, of Delphi, as governor of the National Military home at Marion, has moved Washington republicans to declare that politics is being introduced into the management of these institutions, and that the situation will be investigated by congress when it meets in December. There is no disposition to question the fitness of Mr. Crampton, who is a veteran soldier and department commander of the G. A. R. in Indiana, but the incident is one which afforded an opportunity for outcry, and that is the chief mission on earth of the Washington partisan, of whatever stripe he may be. If you take his word for it, freedom not only shrieked when Kosciusko fell, but has been at it pretty continuously since that lamentable occasion.

Half a dozen Indiana men who pleaded guilty to having padded bills by which certain townships in the southern part of the state were mulcted in the purchase of school paraphernalia, have escaped with fine of $10 and suspended prison sentences of from two to fourteen years. The basis of clemency appears to have been that they made restitution of the money wrongfully taken from the public treasury. Happily for society not every man who gets caught in crooked business can square things by merely returning what he has stolen. Otherwise the inducement to take a chance would make crooks of that class which is honest not because it is right, but because it is embarrassing to be detected.

Ex-President Taft in an address at the University of Wisconsin, has just reiterated his advocacy of a longer term for presidents—six or seven years being his idea of the proper tenure of the presidential office. Mr. Taft is undoubtedly speaking conscientiously and from no personal motive whatever, for one is unable to conceive that Mr. Taft has any notion that he has another chance at the job. He is in a position from which he can discuss the thing with absolute frankness.

Perhaps his concern over the meagreness of their salaries will move Robert T. Lincoln, managing diretor of the Pullman company, to emunate the example of his distinguished father and emancipate the porters on his cars.

WEATHER AND EFFICIENCY.

(Indiana Daily Times.)

Medical authorities tell us weather variations are good for us and helpful to our efficiency as workers. The storm, followed by cooler or changed weather, is found to increase the output of labor. It is common to look on unvarying temperature as good for health and strength. Investigation shows a dead level of fair days brings slower work and slower thinking.

Fall and spring are the best working periods of the year for all sorts of work. Sudden weather changes are direct stimulants. Cold weather, below freezing point, is not the best time to get work out of humankind, though a certain degree of cold is bracing and helpful. At very low temperatures both mental and physical workers suffer from depression. Inquiry discloses mental workers go best at 38 degrees above zero. At 59 degrees for men and 60 for women, physical efficiency is at its highest. Above 60 degrees both mental and physical efficiency begins to droop.

The lowest wages, at piecework, are earned in January. In February, March, April, May and the early weeks of June there is a rather steady increase in labor's output and earnings. In late June, July and August efficiency is lowered, though much higher than the winter level. Through September and October and up to late November the wage earners work at increasing speed. In December, with the Christmas impulse at work, efficiency attains an improved standard, only to collapse with January's coming and the after-Christmas reaction.

Incidentally, there are more suicides in June than in winter and more suicides on bright, fair days than on dark and dreary days. Thus do preconceived notions fail when facts are known.

TENTING IN WASHINGTON.

(Grand Rapids News.)

President Wilson will not take any summer vacation.

He has no desire to hie himself to New Hampshire or to any of the seaports and establish a summer white house. He will do his work in a tent surrounded by a high hedge on the spacious lawn back of the white house in Washington.

The president believes that the situation in Mexico and the situation in Europe, either of which may call for action on his part at any time, make it necessary for him to be near the machinery of government. It is going to be pretty hot in Washington, but the president is going to stick it through with occasional week-end trips to the sea. However, he will not be so badly off. The white house grounds are spacious and beautiful, even if the president is practically a prisoner to duty, and there are several million people in this country who would just as soon spend the summer there.

The president's devotion to duty commends him to his countrymen and it is altogether likely that he will not suffer with ennui during the summer. He has one of the busiest jobs just at the present time, and there is no sign of a let-up.

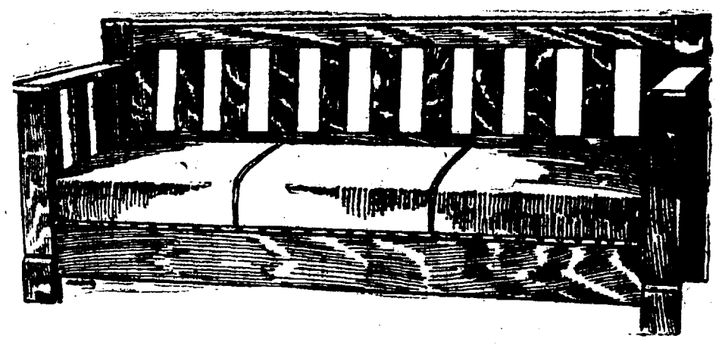
This Kroehler Unifold Only



Easy Payments $22.75 Club Plan

The Double Purpose of this famous Kroehler Bed Davenport makes it a wonderfully practical and useful piece of furniture because you have two articles combined into one. You can make your parlor or living room serve as a bedroom at night without evidence of a bed during the day and get along comfortably in a smaller house or apartment. On the other hand, you can take care of two guests and give them every comfort without having an idle room at other times. This Unifold Davenport is convenient, economical, stylish. It is useful 24 hours every day throughout the year. It saves space and saves furniture expense.

The Luxurious Bed is concealed under the seat. Bed has sanitary, indestructible steel springs. Remember, that you don't sleep on the upholstery. The small illustration above shows the method of construction and clearly depicts the metal frame of the bed, as well as the under construction of the davenport seat. The bed folds and unfolds easily and there is ample room for bedding within the folded bed. It is converted from a davenport into a bed with one motion; by giving it a gentle pull the entire seat, including spring, upholstering, seat frame, etc., turns completely over.

HOW MANY MILES OF ROAD HAVE WE GOT?

Uncle Sam is Now Making Effort to Find Out Accurately.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States and their cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inquiry blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the country to which it is sent. The mileage does not include, of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes, as follows: Brick paved, concrete, macadam with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil, or tar, plain macadam, gravel, shell, other hard surfaced roads, sand and clay mixture properly graded and drained, ordinary earth roads properly constructed, and, finally, unimproved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them.

The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials, and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems.

As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never even been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessively inaccurate reports for the road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public road to every square mile of territory is rare, while in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and a half or three miles. Thus, in France, there is an average for the entire country of 1.76 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .86, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately .80 miles, which, in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled, seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete, it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the durability and economy of the various kinds of highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

Best Thing for a Bilious Attack.

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment, I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man," writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Meyer are quietly celebrating their silver wedding anniversary today at their home, 327 Madison street, and at dinner at 6 o'clock will entertain relatives at a family gathering with cards and music for further pleasure afterwards. Covers will be laid for twenty-two guests. The house is beautifully decorated for the day. Branches of dogwood and jardinieres of lilacs and pink honeysuckle are in the hall and parlor while the living room is fragrant with blossoms of Persian lilacs. In the diningroom a long table trimmed beautifully with large bowls of lilies of the valley and white candles in silver holders presents a most attractive sight. On a side table stands the wedding cake, a genuine German "torte" surrounded by twenty-five small white tapers. The torte is decorated with a lovely wreath of silver and white flowers and leaves and in the center of the top stands a fancy ornament of a bride and groom with a silver wedding bell. The flowers of the table and room are simply lovely. On the buffet are lilacs with vases of bridal wreath on either side and pink honeysuckle mingled with lilies of the valley while on each of the small tables are baskets filled with out door violets and lilies of the valley. The centerpiece of the large dining table was a mound effect of valley lilies reflected in the mirror under them. Dainty favors of handsome crocheted baskets of white with silvered edges were filled with salted nuts. The baskets were made by Mrs. Meyer and her daughters, Misses Olga and Louise Meyer, and their handles are tied with silver and white ribbon. Mrs. Meyer was Miss Matilda Siemon before her marriage and she was the daughter of a pioneer resident, August Siemon, who founded the business of the Siemon bookstore for so many years a prominent business house of the city. The home in which Mr. and Mrs. Meyer live was the Siemon family home and there Mrs. Meyer was born and married. Mrs. Herman Brauer and children, of Ann Arbor, are the only out-of-town relatives who found it possible to be present at the silver wedding. Mrs. Brauer is a niece of Mrs. Meyer. Mr. Meyer was born in Fort Wayne and has always lived here. He has been for many years the local agent for the Standard Oil company. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are prominent members of St. Paul's Lutheran church and they have a long list of friends.

Miss Louise Heiny gave a very pretty pre-nuptial party on Wednesday evening at her home in East Wayne street and at the time announced that the date of her wedding to Edward G. Clemmer would be on June 22. The members of the Sigma Rho club were the guests. When the dessert course of the supper was served the guests found a card accompanying the ice cream molded in cupid form, that bore the names of the hostess and her fiance and the date of the wedding day. Although the engagement was known the time of the wedding had not been anticipated as so early a date, and the young hostess was immediately showered with good wishes. Lilacs formed the decoration of the rooms. Owing to the recent demise of Miss Heiny's father, the wedding will be a quiet one. The members of the Sigma Rho club are Marie and Elizabeth Berghoff, Helen Baker, Isabel Ehrman, Loretta Ankenbruck, Mrs. Hubert Berghoff and Miss Heiny. The elected groom's sister, Miss Stella Clemmer, was an invited guest.

Mrs. Clara Croxton has returned from a visit in Chicago with her son Hugh and his wife.

Miss Mollie Greenfelder has returned from a few days' visit with relatives in Logansport.

Miss Alice E. Hall is in Chicago this week attending a convention of teachers of drawing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conrad, of Grabill, left today for a three months' trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Joseph Gaskins and daughter, Helen, have gone to Terre Haute on a visit to relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Dessauer have as their guest their sister, Miss Jennie Dessauer, of Montrose, Pa.

Mrs. Theodore Wentz has gone to Purdue, where she will visit with her son, Welker, a student at the university, over the week-end.

There will be a meeting of the Lutheran hospital nurses' alumnae association this evening in the hospital parlors. The subject of "Children's Diseases" will be discussed.

The alumnae association of St. Augustine's academy will have a sale of baked goods at Madam Catherine's corset shop, 113 West Wayne street, tomorrow.

Mrs. Ida Eckart and daughter, Mrs. Guy Sprague, of 1204 Delta boulevard, have returned from a few days' outing at Lake Wawasee, where they opened their summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Weise, of Gay street, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Lena Emma Weise, to Adlia Brice Long, of Detroit, Mich. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Nellie Henry left today for Cincinnati, where she will be joined by Mrs. H. L. Askew, who has been attending the state convention of King's Daughters at Madison. Together they will go to Parkersburg, W. Va., for a visit with relatives.

A party of young people gathered at the home of Miss Gladys Yates, of First street, Thursday evening in observance of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in games and an excellent luncheon was served. The feature of the evening was the rendition of musical selections by a boys' quartet.

Miss Marie Zinnser gave a theater party at the Majestic last evening in honor of Miss May Luckey, of Chicago, and Miss Charlotte Drake, of Piqua, O. Others of the party were Miss Bates and Messrs. Albert Racht, Lee Kahoe, James A. Zinnser and Thomas Fay. After the show the company went to the Anthony hotel for supper.

Miss Clara Lukens and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Edgerton, and small son, who had been visiting for a few days with Mrs. Martha B. Hanna, left yesterday for Brewster, N. Y. The ladies joined another sister, Miss Martha Lukens, at the Pennsylvania station as she was passing through on her way from a visit with her brother, Edward, and his family, in Deadwood, S. D. The Lukens family is widely known in Fort Wayne, as this city was their home for many years.

Miss Irma Malone was the honor guest at an evening party given on Wednesday by the Misses Marie and Josephine Kelly, in anticipation of her marriage to Louis Baker. The entertainment was a theater party at the New Palace with refreshments after that at the English tea room. Beautiful decorations at the supper were composed of purple lilacs and pink roses, and there were water color drawings for place cards and a bouquet of flowers for Miss Malone. Mrs. R. E. Kelly and Mrs. James E. Clifford were chaperons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bleke, of Wildwood avenue, entertained a party of friends on Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of the birth anniversary of their small daughter, Elsie. Miss Elsie was four years old. The house was tastefully decorated, and a supper of most tempting things to eat was served at 6 o'clock. A birthday cake received all the attention that was its due. The children present at this happy time were Marie and Dorothy Hegerfeld, Dorothy Troendle, Vera and Esther Brockmeyer, Bessie and Mae Risser, Cornelia Bleke, Frank Walter. Others who enjoyed the party were Grandma Bleke, Mrs. E. Brockmeyer, Mrs. C. Schilling, Mrs. E. Troendel, Mrs. C. Hagerfeld, Miss Bertha Rodenbeck. Little Elsie received some beautiful gifts.

May Music Festival.

Prof. William Miles, supervisor of music in the public schools, has engaged the Majestic theater for the giving of the May music festival by the children of the public schools on May 27 and 28. The teachers of the grade schools are assisting the teachers in teaching the songs to the children and will lend their assistance and chaperonage to the boys and girls when the festival comes off. The scope of work is enlarged to embrace pupils of the fifth and sixth grades, where there are no seventh and eighth grades. Each evening's entertainment will be presented by two divisions of pupils, the two lower and the two higher grades named. The schools have omitted entertainments this year to make it easier to respond to the appeal to take tickets to the festival.

WHY WOMEN WANT A WOMAN ELECTED

Set Forth Arguments for One of Their Sex on School Board.

The concerted effort of many women to have a woman elected a member of the board of school trustees has become a very systematic and sane movement. The usual woman's reason, or that which is often attributed to the sex, "because," is not the reply one hears in asking women why they want representation on the school board.

At a meeting of some twenty women held in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday, with Mrs. A. J. Detzer presiding as chairman, and Mrs. Samuel R. Taylor, as secretary, the consensus of opinion expressed might be summed up in the different viewpoint towards the schools which a woman would bring to the office were she elected. A woman's viewpoint must of necessity be different from that of a man. Aside from the fact that she has a legal right and would sustain a moral principle were she elected a school trustee, a woman would bring a new element into the official business of the schools that would in no wise interfere with the dispatch of routine business nor be less valuable in the consideration of new matters.

There were a number of speakers at the meeting and the subject of circulating petitions for signatures received a fresh impetus. Mrs. S. R. Taylor presented a summing up on the situation in a statement given below. Mrs. Fairbank reported the plan of the nominating committee as bound to be in no sense influenced by personal feeling toward any woman and as having a desire to have names sent in whether as the choice of an organization or as a personal selection from which to select a candidate.

Mrs. Taylor's Summary.

Summarizing the situation, Mrs. Sam R. Taylor said:

1. "In not one of the meetings held previous to today, has there been expressed or implied any criticism of the motives or methods of the present or former organizations of the school board, nor of any of its members. As a committee, we are not responsible for any implications of this nature, which may have been circulated.

2. "No matter what nonsensical report is abroad, we have not authorized, used, nor desired to use coercion in any sort, sense or degree, either to compass the appointment of a woman on the board, or to secure signatures to the petition for such appointment.

3. "We have adopted absolutely no fad with which we intend, by means of a woman member on the board, to saddle the public school system.

4. "We have not contemplated nor approved any disruption nor upheaval of existing methods and policies, supposing them, to the best of our knowledge, to be both honest and, in the main, wise.

5. "We have not 'demanded' the appointment of any certain woman whom we may choose; we merely nominate one in response to the insistent 'demand' of many voters to 'know the name of our candidate' before they will commit themselves one way or the other.

6. "We did not engage in this campaign as a woman suffrage movement, nor as a prohibition movement, nor as a party movement, nor has the movement either political, personal or religious significance.

"Bear in mind, however, that this is not a negative but a positive movement;—or, to state that idea more succinctly, this committee did not conceive a campaign against present conditions, but to establish a principle, summed up in the phase, 'A woman on the school board.'

"There is nothing freakish, nor sentimental in this, but the idea seems new to Fort Wayne voters. It is viewed askance. The public is accustomed to regard the holding of public office of any character as the exclusive prerogative of men. We are expected to prove our case—to give our reasons. What are they?

Well, we argue—

1. "That women, just like men, are citizens, taxpayers, parents, teachers, trainers and supporters of the children for whom the public school system is maintained, hence are equally interested in what pertains to that system.

2. "That women who enter any kind of business are successful to an equal per cent with men, hence they may be regarded as equally capable, with men, of coping with any phase of business which may present itself to a school board.

3. "That the will and capacity of women to learn what they do not already know, are equal to those of men, hence, like men, they can learn by experience that which they need to know as members of the school board.

4. "That women are as moral, honest and faithful as men; hence may be trusted, with equal safety, on the school board.

5. "That the state of Indiana recognizes the reasonableness and justice of women serving on school boards, in a statute admitting women to such service. Other cities in Indiana made haste to take advantage of this statute—Indianapolis has had a woman on its school board for ten years. The wisdom of the statute has been proved, amply, by the service of women. Why then, should Fort Wayne, now second city in the state, march with face turned backward, refusing to avail herself of the goods the legislative gods provide?

"As citizens, we ask for the appointment of a woman on the school board, because we wish Fort Wayne not to lag behind the times, but to show itself to the state untrammeled by narrow prejudices and archaic standards, as women, to be quite frank, we ask it because we have a perfect right to it, in law and equity. And we ask it at this time, because the retiring member of the board does not desire re-election, and we therefore, in advocating the appointment of a woman, are not opposing a candidate whose claim is supported by past honorable service. The present moment is our logical opportunity to push our claim. No better reason is needed.

"A committee has been appointed to receive nominations, and carefully and thoughtfully to chose from among the candidates so presented, one or more names to be in turn presented to the council. In the event of the election of a woman to the board, we will share with her a full understanding of what will be expected of her as a board member. She will be prepared to shoulder the same duties as any other member; be subject to the same rules, routine, and exactions, and sacrifices of personal business and convenience; face the same fire of criticism, misunderstandings, fault-findings, suspicious, accusation and public ingratitude as any other member. Still, we dare to hope that the public will treat her no more harshly than if she were a man. And we believe that Fort Wayne has, and will produce many more than one woman who is sufficiently brave, broad, open-minded, intelligent, capable, faithful, honest, and well-balanced to stand the storm, and to fill, with credit and ultimate satisfaction, a position on the board of school trustees."

PREPARE FOR OPENING.

Germania Park Will Be Thrown Open Week from Sunday.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of Germania park one week from next Sunday for the summer season. The association is preparing to provide more amusements for children this season than ever before.

On Sunday, June 6, will be Turners' day at the park and on June 20 the annual German day celebration will be held.

INVITED TO HUNTINGTON.

Members of Deborah lodge of Rebekahs will go to Huntington on the evening of May 20, where they will be the guests of the Rebekah lodge at that place. A banquet will be served in their honor and it is expected that several candidates will be initiated.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FRIENDSHIP OF DAVID AND JONATHAN.

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 20:32-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times.—Prov. 17:17.

There is perhaps no narrative in all history or literature which so perfectly illustrates the conditions of friendship as this which is before us. Jonathan was every inch a man; affectionate, sweet and tender, deeply pious and withal loyal to both duty and friends. His rights, as the king's son, he gladly set aside for David, whom he "loved as his own soul" (ch. 18:3; 20:17). Jonathan is a great type of the surrendered life (ch. 23:17).

I. David's Danger, vv. 32-35. Three times in the previous chapter (vv. 5, 14, 30) we read that David "behaved himself wisely." "Saul eyed David" (v. 19) and his jealous anger grew as he gave vent to his hate. Jonathan's desires for David drew the anger of Saul (20:30), but it only put him more upon his guard and made him more determined, if possible, to save both David and Saul.

Following David's escape (18:18) he consulted Jonathan regarding his safety (20.1-10). They renewed their covenant and swore fealty to each other and to those of their households (vv. 11-17). It is a standing rebuke that Christians treat so lightly their covenants with the church and with the world. David was safe at Naioth (19:18-24), for each company sent after him, and Saul himself, were hindered by the Spirit of Jehavah from carrying out Saul's foul designs. This seemed for the moment to humble Saul (20:1; Ps. 97:1). Jonathan, though great and mighty, was not strong enough to deliver his friend from the renewed wrath of his father. "Vain is the help of man." "Our help is in the Lord." Jonathan showed his true friendship in that he told the exact state of affairs to David (v. 10).

When Saul became convinced that Jonathan was taking David's part, he tried to kill Jonathan and reviled the mother who bore him (v. 30). In his loss of self-control Saul allowed David to escape. Even so, sin overshoots its mark. The contrast is a dark one to contemplate.

II. David Delivered, vv. 35-42. Jonathan did not revile again (v. 34) when insulted and assailed by his father, and his manifestation of just anger (for his mother was reviled) was quite different from that of his father. Any attempt to reconcile Saul to David (v. 34) was a useless exposure to danger and for Jonathan to be seen with his friend would imperil his own life. This explains the expedient of shooting arrows in the field. Jonathan shot his arrows "beyond," i. e., David must go "beyond" and out of the reach of Saul. David trusted Jonathan's fidelity (v. 23) when the test came, though Jonathan might have good reason for playing him false in order to promote his own interests.

Dismissing the boy, Jonathan drew near to David's hiding place, to the south of the stone Ezel (v. 41 R. V.), where a most touching parting took place between these two friends. First of all David bowed ceremoniously three times, touching his head to the ground, perhaps to show his unshaken loyalty to Jonathan as the king's son. This was but for a moment; as men of the East and friends, they rushed to each other's arms and wept for a long time. These were the manly tears of two brave men not afraid to show their love and emotions. It has been suggested that Jonathan should have accompanied David as God's elect (Heb. 13:13), but we feel that duty bade him to remain by the side of his sin-stricken father.

The Lessons of the Lesson. True friendship costs. God's love gave to the world his Son. Jonathan's friendship for David was costly, but was given gladly, not grudgingly. True friendship neither forgets duty nor neglects its desire towards the object of its love. It is not governed emotionally, yet it disregards all other ties, if they are wrong. Not even a father or mother should lead us to wrong a friend. When David came into power he remembered the everlasting covenant made with Jonathan (II Sam. 9:3). Our "Son of David" has made a similar covenant with us (Acts 16:31; 2:39). True friendship is of slow growth, but is not easily killed, chilled by reverses, nor frozen by adversity (Prov. 18:24). True friendship is unselfish. It gives and does not seek.

True friendship is founded upon religion and the best friend, the ideal friend, is Jesus Christ.

That friendship which is based upon oaths, ritual and dues, is not abiding, nor true friendship, for it excludes all who fail to possess the same password or a sufficient amount of money.

That friendship which is based upon expediency, or a quid pro quo, is by no means true friendship; it is as ephemeral as the morning mist and as frail as a chain of sand.

The friendship which has as its common center God's best boon, the friendship of his Son, will, if it is true and genuine, abide forever.

Today will be observed by many schools as "Mother's day."

You Save Money by Buying Sherman's Clothes

The most modern up-to-date method of doing business at a small expense, is the policy that Sherman's Stores Company adopt. A clothing store that is operated on economical basis—a store that has no great extravagant expenses—a clothing store that has not those beautiful fixtures—a clothing store that is and looks like a place of business—not a palace. That's the store that gives its patrons the most value for their money. Walk into Sherman's Store, 922 Calhoun Street, and all you see is beautiful clothing displayed, not fixtures to look at—we operate our store eliminating all unnecessary expenses, such as high-salaried bookkeepers, automobile deliveries, etc., so we don't have to add onto the price of our clothes, selling you always the same value.

From Factory Direct To You

The man that buys Sherman's Clothes pays for nothing else but good honest clothes value, the price that always remains the same whether you buy your suit in May or August.

You Save the Middleman's Profit of $5 to $8

And have the same suit, same material for $10 as if you paid $15 to $18; the only difference is the price, the value is the same.

Honest Values—Honest Price

That is why Sherman's Store continues to grow larger every day, selling more clothes than ever, for every man that buys Sherman's Clothes recognizes them as the greatest value in the world for his money, for you have your choice of all the newest styles and fabrics. The new white line chalk stripes in blue, black or grey cloth; worsteds in plain colors or self-stripes; cassimeres in pin checks or mixed goods, or plain grey or blue; the all-wool grey clay worsteds; the all-wool Oswego blue serges; some made with patch pocket coats; others in plain sack or double breasted styles. Plenty of the English model styles for the young men; a big assortment of the more conservative styles for the older men. Sizes to fit all, from the boy of 15 years to the man wearing a 52-inch size.

CERTAIN TO GO UP TO CONGRESS AGAIN

(By Frederick M. Kerby.)

Washington, May 7.—A demand for the repeal of the Newlands railroad arbitration act, and a probable congressional investigation of the arbitration board which last week handed down its decision in the arbitration case between the western railroads and their engineers and firemen, are the two developments of national interest which will probably grow out of the case.

The congressional investigation will be aimed at Charles Nagel, former secretary of commerce, who, according to the railroad brotherhoods, had at the time of his service on the arbitration board such close railroad affiliations as to render his sitting on the board improper.

Aside from this investigation, however, a demand will be made for the repeal of the Newlands act in its entirety and the substitution of some permanent, expert, federal railroad wage commission which will do in the field of railroad rates of pay what the federal interstate commerce commission is now doing in the field of railroad rates.

Both sides to the controversy are dissatisfied with the present method of arbitrating wage disputes. For the railroads, Prof. F. H. Dixon, statistician of the bureau of railway economics in Washington, has publicly stated the fundamental objection of the roads to mediation and arbitration as now conducted.

"Under arbitration," said Prof. Dixon in a recent speech on the subject, "the forms of the judicial hearings have been conscientiously observed, attempts have been made to weigh evidence and to reach just conclusions; but the men upon whom the burden of decision has fallen have not been experts. One of the important consequences of this is that the public, whose agents the independent arbitrators are supposed to be, has been at a disadvantage, and has not been adequately represented."

It is an open secret that the recent award, which, like all awards made under similar circumstances, was simply a compromise pleasing neither side, will not last beyond May 10, 1916, the date when the present agreement expires. The railroad brotherhoods will undoubtedly at that time again demand more wages. Should the interstate commerce commission, as now seems likely, grant to the western railroads the freight rate increases which the railroads are demanding, the engineers and firemen would be in a strong position to make another demand for wage increases.

Unless some federal machinery is provided before that time, it is likely there will be the same unsatisfactory compromise—or else, much worse, a big railroad strike. There are evidences, however, that when congress meets next December, efforts will be made to secure some kind of a permanent and expert board for the handling of railroad wage disputes. In view of the fact that the regulation of railroad rates has been in the hands of a permanent, nonpartisan interstate commerce commission for many years, there is strong ground for arguing by analogy that the matter of making and changing railroad rates of pay should be given into similar non-partisan and technical hands.

The present wage case turned upon two or three points capable of fairly exact determination, had the wage arbitrators been disposed to determine them. One of these points was whether or not the revenues of the roads in question had increased, and whether or not such increase was due to increased productive efficiency on the part of the men. The employes, in addition, claimed that if the railroads as an industry showed increased profits, a share of these should go to the men who made them, regardless of whether it had cost them additional labor or not.

These questions are of the utmost importance not only to the roads and employes, but to the public at large, and they might much better be considered by a commission composed of men giving their entire time to such questions, rather than by a board made up of two representatives of each side, and two "independent" representatives of the public.

At any rate this is the way the wage arbitration question will be put up to congress when that body next meets.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HENRY CLARK COE FOUND IN ALASKA

Mysterious Disappearance Results in a Nation-Wide Search.

New York, May 7.—Henry Clark Coe, Jr., the Standard Oil employe who disappeared from his home in Boston January 30, last, after bidding his young wife good-bye, is alive and well in Alaska, according to information in a telegram brought back from Boston by the young man's father, Dr. H. C. Coe.

Doctor Coe is so certain that his son has been found that he authorized the Boston detective agency to send men at once to Fairbanks, Alaska, from where the message came, to complete the identification.

"I cannot disclose the sender of the message, but I am confident our long search is ended," said Doctor Coe last night. "I was told by the detective agency not to say anything, but I am so jubilant at the news and at the joy brought to my son's young wife that I cannot refrain from saying this much."

The telegram is believed to have come to operatives of the agency who had searched the northwest for the strangely missing young man.

Doctor Coe went to Boston after receiving a telegram from the detective firm saying that information of the utmost importance had been received. There he was shown the message from Alaska, which he brought back to New York with him.

Coe was to attend a meeting in the Boston offices of the Standard Oil company the day he disappeared. A little more than a month after he left home a daughter was born to his wife and it was thought that this would bring him back.

There was no explanation for his disappearance except that his mind may have been affected by business worries. The Standard Oil company, through its many subsidiaries, joined in the nation-wide search that was being made, but nearly all of the reports of his appearance in various parts of the United States were found to be cases of mistaken identity.

THE CUBS WALLOP MONROEVILLE NINE

With six feet three inches of the tribe of Vonderhaar in the box and Gard behind the bat, the Fort Wayne Cubs spent a considerable portion of Thursday afternoon walloping Monroeville. The final score was 15 and 0, and if Bade Myers hadn't told his youngsters to go easy the Monroevillevites might have been humiliated. As it was the Cubs gave their semi-pro opponents a terrible case of stage fright, and the Monroevillers simply couldn't play half way up to form.

Vonderhaar was nervous when he went into the game, but before the first inning was half over he had regained his composure and was pitching like a veteran. He is a Fort Wayne boy, and has played remarkable ball with the Alberts Brothers' aggregation. Score:

Last Year's Manager Again in the Fold by the Lake.

(Erie Dispatch).

Johnny Nee, the infielder who managed the Dayton club last season, has been signed by Larry Quinlan and he will place Nee at second base in today's game. Nee knows the game thoroughly and is a pretty fair hitter. Last season with Dayton Nee participated in 58 games and had a batting average of .298. The Sailors need some batting and perhaps Nee will add strength to this department.

Bennie Kauff Better Than Ty Cobb According to the Records.

Bennie Kauff, the "Jumping Fed," making a spectacular catch; below is Ty Cobb, who may be called "the Bennie Kauff" of the American League.

Just as Ty Cobb, of Detroit, was way out in front of the American league players last year, so was Bennie Kauff, of Indianapolis, the topnotcher in the records of the Federal league.

The young Federal league star who jumped from the Brooklyn Feds to the New York Nationals, has caused one of the greatest scandals in baseball, in many respects had it on Cobb, the "greatest player in baseball," according to the figures.

Kauff's batting average of .366 was attained in 154 games, whereas Cobb acquired his percentage of .368 in only 97 games.

Kauff's record in every department proportionately excels that of Cobb. Kauff fielded .958 against Cobb's .949.

Although participating in only about half again as many games as Cobb, Kauff has in several instances accomplished twice as much. His 118 runs stand against Cobb's 69; his earned runs are 98, against 47 for Cobb; his two-baggers are 45 against 22; three-baggers, 12 against 11, and home runs, 8 against 2.

CONCORDIA-PENNSY GAME ON SATURDAY

East Side Event Looks Like Best Saturday Game in the City.

The Pennsylvania company shop team will meet Concordia college at the college grounds in what will probably be the city's best Saturday afternoon game. Both teams are working well. playing fast ball, and will deliver a game that will make it worth while to travel into the east end to see.

The Concordia boys are a good looking pack of youngsters, who have developed into a mighty good ball playing organization, under the direction of Captain Byroade. Harry Hamm's shopmen are old-timers in the game, and most of them starred in the old city shop league several years ago.

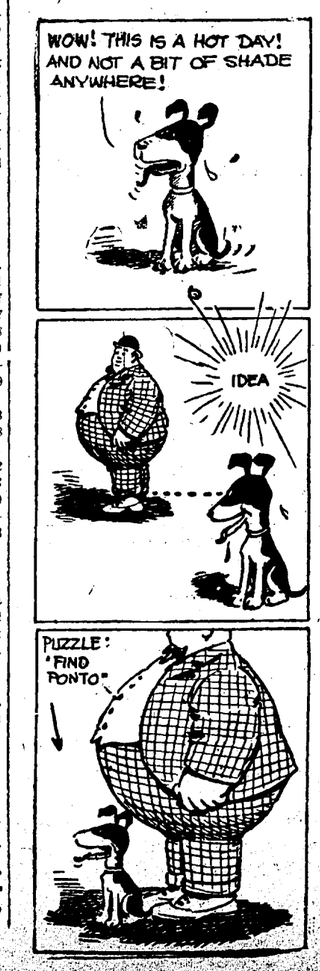
The territory of Terrell and Mexia has been added to the Central Texas league.

The Rio Grande association, embracing the territory of El Paso, Tex.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Las Cruces, N. M.; Douglas, Ariz., Phoenix, Ariz.; Tucson, Ariz., has qualified for membership in class D.

The territory of Hanover, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., has been added to the Blue Ridge league.

PONTO, THE PURP.



LOCALS HAVE HARD TRIP BEFORE THEM

Opening Friday at Wheeling, and going then over the eastern circuit, hitting Dayton, Erie and Youngstown consecutively, the Fort Wayne Cubs will meet teams that will try their skill. The locals will run into some stiff ball playing, and the fans here are intent upon their actions.

As to pitchers, the Cubs are well supplied, with but one uncertainty. Robbins, the southpaw; Ainsworth, the local old-time favorite, and Donley shorn of his wildness, are sure bets. But there is Green, who pitched a game or two early in the season, and who has not performed for several weeks. He is the problem. The management refrained from pitching him in the home series because it was afraid of him, but he probably will hurl the first game on the road at Dayton Friday. Vanderhaar, who appeared over the horizon Thursday, looked a pitcher all through in Monroeville game, and there is a chance he might be added later on.

THE FEDERAL LEAGUE.

Newark, N. J., May 7.—Pittsburg triumphed over Newark in a tenth-inning rally after fighting an uphill game. The score:

										R.	H.	E.
Newark	0	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	3	7	1

Batteries—Allen and Beery; Mullin and Rariden.

Brooklyn, May 7.—A triple play by St. Louis and Don Marion's excellent pitching after the first inning featured the Brooklyn Federals' 3 to 2 victory here. The score:

(Dickerson in Grand Rapids Press).

President Heilbroner's umpiring staff must be doing good work since there has not been a loud wail made of late. Last year scarcely a day passed that some city of the circuit did not express great dissatisfaction. Some years a league president has little trouble picking satisfying umpires and other years it is almost impossible to do so.

President Heilbroner has promised to visit Grand Rapids during the Billberts' next run of games at home. Ever since he managed a team here in the early days of the Central league Heilbroner has been a warm favorite in Grand Rapids. It is said that one of the biggest berths in baseball awaits the Fort Wayne man.

Plans were discussed Thursday evening at a meeting of the Lincoln highway committees of the Commercial and Rotary clubs for the celebration of Allen county's first stretch of concrete on the Lincoln highway. Another meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

LIGHTNING SEASON ON HAND ONCE MORE

State Fire Marshal's Department Issues Warning to Farmers.

Indianapolis, May 7.—Warning to farmers at this time of the year to beware of lightning, is being given by the state fire marshal's department. The spring showers, so welcome to the agriculturalist, often become electrical storms that mean fire and destruction to the exposed farm building. Seventy-five per cent. of all lightning losses are in the country.

Lightning did less damage in 1914 than perhaps in any recent year in Indiana, owing to the few severe electrical disturbances, and also to the generally increased equipment of buildings with lightning rods. There were only 443 lightning losses in the state during last year as compared with 1,006 in the preceding year.

Evidence gleaned from investigations by the state fire marshal's department shows that the lightning rod properly placed is certain protection. Only seven buildings equipped with rods were struck during 1914. In these seven instances, however, investigation by assistants showed the rods had been up a long time without attention or were not properly grounded. In one or two instances lightning entered buildings over telephone wires.

It is interesting to note that during the year two authorities after investigations reported favorably on the use of the lightning rod. They were Prof. W. H. Day, of the department of physics, Agricultural college, Ontario, Canada, and Prof. J. Warren Smith, of the United States weather bureau.

Burned to Death in 1914.

Were mothers and nurses properly watchful of children, the deaths of little ones by fire during 1914 would have been reduced more than 50 per cent. Of twenty children burned fatally during the year, twelve were burned while playing with matches or about hot stoves, according to the fire marshal's report.

Adults fatally burned numbered forty-seven. Of these fifteen were burned in dwelling or lodging house fires. Nine perished as a result of gasoline explosions and six because of kerosene explosions. One hundred and twenty-eight adults and thirty-seven children were badly burned.

Fire From Fireless Cooker.

The fire marshal is grappling with a mystery, introduced into the department by a down-state assistant. Under the form question as to the origin of the fire reported the cause is given as "a fireless cooker." What the fire marshal would like to know is what sort of a fire could be kindled by an agent obviously "fireless" and the modus operandi thereof.

ART SMITH FAR ON PATHWAY TO FAME

Fort Wayne Aviator Now Heralded as Best of Top-Notchers.

Art Smith, the young Fort Wayne airman, who is electrifying visitors at the San Francisco exposition with his marvelous aerial performances, is far on the road to national fame. As an instance of how he is regarded the following from the Dallas (Tex.) News is reproduced:

Art Smith, famous aviator, the only biplane operator in the world who has made thirty consecutive loops, the big star of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and successor to Lincoln Beachey as the exposition flyer, is to be the star attraction at the 1915 state fair of Texas.

J. C. Duke, chairman of the amusement committee of the state fair, announced yesterday that the offer of Mr. Smith to fly at the coming fair had been accepted by wire.

Smith, who has been in the flying game since 1910, is declared to be one of the greatest aviators in the world. San Francisco newspapers are unanimous in their verdict that Smith is the greatest flyer seen in the west, greater even than Beachey, and Beachey was regarded as the great flyer of the country.

When Beachey dove to his death in San Francisco bay the management of the Panama-Pacific exposition sent for Smith, Smith was then in Chicago and he left immediately for the exposition city. In his first flight, before thousands of spectators, Smith made fourteen consecutive loops and then gave an exhibition of what he terms "aerial insanity" that outdid anything ever seen on the coast, it is said.

From the time of his first flight in San Francisco, Smith has been the hero of the coast. He is all boy in looks, talk, manner and disregard for his bones. He uses a biplane exclusively and will come to Dallas from San Francisco.

Director Duke stated that Smith would make several flights each day during the fair and that he would give six night flights. His biplane is illuminated for the night flights and when he makes his loops he throws fireworks from his machine which adds to the startling effect of his wonderful night flights.

ROBERTS' WIFE VISITS PRISONER.

Application for Habeas Corpus Writ Will Soon Be Filed.

Leavenworth, Kan., May 7.—Donn M. Roberts, former mayor of Terre Haute, Ind., his wife and two attorneys, conferred at the United States penitentiary yesterday regarding the bringing of habeas corpus proceedings to secure Roberts' release.

It was said a petition would be filed before Judge John C. Pollock in the federal court at Kansas City, Kan., today or Saturday. The petition will ask the release of Roberts and Judge Eli B. Redman on the ground that the federal law, under which the men were convicted in connection with the Terre Haute election conspiracy cases, interferes with state rights.

Washington, May 7.—Ten thousand dollars has been contributed anonymously for use by the American Red Cross "on the field of action, in the European war wherever the society may find the need most urgent and without regard to the nationality of those whom it may benefit." This is the largest anonymous gift ever received by the Red Cross. The money was deposited with a Philadelphia bank.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Meyer Bros. or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

POLITENESS GOES UNHEEDED IN SOUTH

Yankee Salesmen Brusque in Dealing With South Americans.

Chicago, May 7.—Robert H. Becker, assistant in zoology at the Field Columbian museum, recently returned to Chicago with 500 specimens gathered on an 11,000-mile trip filled with hardships and thrills across the continent of South America.

Becker was the appointee of the Field museum authorities for the expedition, acting with George K. Cherrie, of the Museum of Natural History in New York, a former member of the Roosevelt party which mapped the River of Doubt after traveling through the Amazonian jungle in Brazil.

"The South Americans want American goods, and they are appealing for them," said Mr. Becker. "There is no one there to sell them. The war has affected the business of every country. I was approached by a Dane in Bolivia. He wanted me to take letters to American business firms to get their agencies for goods made in the United States.

"Typewriters, motor cars and canned goods from Chicago and Kansas City packing houses are the only American products which are well known.

"The Germans and British have the system for selling goods to the South Americans. The American salesmen have been men who cannot speak the language of the South American people, and worse yet, who will not conform to the customs of the land. They go in, slap the South American on the back, stick a cigar in his mouth and expect to sell goods. They take no heed of the politeness and courtesy, which is the secret of success in these countries."

Cutting out ½ price sales and giving big reductions on regular prices all the year through, is our present new system.

NEW HONORS FOR EDISON.

Given Gold Medal for Distinguished Public Service.

New York, May 7.—Thomas A. Edison was awarded the Civic Forum gold medal of honor for distinguished public service at a meeting last night of the forum. The medal, which is presented annually, went last year to Major General George W. Goethals. Addresses in recognition of the inventor's achievements were delivered by former Governor John Franklin Fort, of New Jersey; William Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph, and others.

The medal of honor was established to give recognition yearly to one American who in ways of peace performs some signal public service.

Advertising a five dollar gold piece as being worth $10, yet being sold at a wonderful bargain at $5 is like advertising a $5 piece of Furniure as worth $10, yet being sold for $5; but the deception in one case is not so easily detected as in the other. At Foster's they never indulge in that kind of advertising.

Five candidates will be initiated Friday evening by Our Home lodge, No. 881, I. O. O. F.

TUMULTY IN CLASH WITH SUFFRAGISTS

Washington, May 7. Mrs. Lawrence Leads, jr., and Mrs. Harry Lowenburg, two Philadelphia woman suffragists, who have been besieging the white house to personally ask President Wilson to address some of their number in Philadelphia Monday, gave it up today and announced they would renew their efforts when the president goes to Philadelphia. Secretary Tumulty had a wordy exchange with the suffragists, who objected because the president had gone golfing yesterday when they were waiting to see him. Mr. Tumulty replied that golfing was a recreation necessary to keep up the president's health and observed that the suffragists were not advancing their cause by besieging the president.

BULLETIN.

Queenstown, May 7.—The Lusitania was seen from the signal station at Kinsale to be in difficulties at noon. She had completely sunk at 2:33 p. m. This indicates that the liner floated for two hours and a half after what evidently was the beginning of her trouble.

According to a report received here, the first wireless S. O. S. call was sent by the Lusitania at 2:15. This read "Want assistance; listing badly."

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—(5:52 p. m.)—Official announcement was made this evening that the Lusitania had remained afloat at least twenty minutes after being torpedoed and that "twenty boats were on the spot at the time."

DIVER IS PRAISED BY ADMIRAL MOORE

Lauded for His Rescue of Loughman in Honolulu Harbor.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Daniels has received a mail report from Rear Admiral Moore concerning the progress of salvage operations on submarine F-4 between April 14 and April 19. Details of the report, which was dated Pearl Harbor, April 19, have been published in cable dispatches.

Of particular interest, however, is the tribute Admiral Moore pays to Diver Crilly for rescuing Loughman who had been sent down but became fouled and was unable to release himself. He calls the department's special attention to Crilly's feat adding that he showed great self possession and courage. At the time the report was mailed, Loughman, whom it was feared had contracted pneumonia, was reported as improving.

Almiral Moore expressed the hope that the submarine would eventually be raised, but he said that accidents and knowledge already developed by the work, made it impossible to say when the task could be accomplished.

WATKINS CHARGE FALLS.

Articles of Impeachment at Newcastle Dismissed.

Newcastle, Ind., May 7. The articles of impeachment returned against Mayor J. Leb Watkins by the Henry county grand jury were dismissed in the Henry circuit court today on the ground that the law under which they were returned was repealed in 1905, by a decision of the appeliate court given by Judge Joseph Shea. The second article of impeachment did not come up before Judge Gause but will be dismissed by the prosecuting attorney, Walter Myers, it was said.

There are five indictments against Watkins on criminal charges and these have been set for trial June 3.

A GRACEFUL ADMISSION.

"If you do not instantly apologize for that remark," said the judge, "I shall commit you for contempt of court."

"Upon reflection, your honor," instantly replied the young attorney, "I find that your honor was right and I was wrong, as your honor always is."

The judge looked dubious, but finally said he would accept the apology.—Kansas City Times.

HAAG'S COW HAD A FAULTY DELIVERY

Guaranteed to Be a Good Milker, But She Was Three-Fourths Shy.

Lloyd Haag bought a cow last March from Gideon W. Cobbs and paid $58 for her on what he alleges was a guarantee that she was "a good milch cow and all right." She also was warranted to be due to "come in fresh" on or about April 22. This the cow did all right, but according to a complaint filed in the superior court by Haag demanding judgment against Cobb for $73, the cow's delivery system was defective. She could deliver but one stream worth mentioning, while at another place milk has not and never had a chance at all and the other two were so defective as to be of little use. He returned the cow to Cobbs April 30.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court Wolf & Dessauer have begun suit against Minnie F. Morse and Mrs. Reed, as Reed & Morse, for $120 on contract.

Clara Pearl Strasser has brought suit in the superior court against David B. and William Edward Anderson for partition of property.

Armin Paul Meyer, as administrator with the will annexed of the estate of the late Henry Wagner, has brought suit in the circuit court against Ludwig Wagner and others of the estate on a petition to sell real estate to meet claims that have been allowed.

Matilda A. Klossen has filed suit in the superior court against John V. Gandy and others to quiet title to real estate.

The suit of Emma Kelley vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for $15,000 damages and the suit of William Kelley against the same defendant for $200 for damage to his automobile, have been filed in the Huntington circuit court, where they were sent on a change of venue. Mrs. Kelley suffered grave injuries from an accident February 28, 1914, for which the Traction company is blamed.

George Beach, who was arrested Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Witte on a warrant charging him with embezzlement of $38 from the Beyer Brothers' company here, has furnished bond of $500 in the circuit court.

Rose G. Carpenter has brought suit in the superior court against James F. Carpenter for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married January 23, 1913, and have just separated. This is the third suit the plaintiff has filed against her husband for divorce, having dismissed the first two at his behest.

The superior court has granted Dora Shaffer a divorce from Louis Shaffer.

The suit of Albert L. Mains vs. Frank L. Rodabaugh, brought from DeKalb county on change of venue, has been set for trial in the superior court September 7.

KNOW NOTHING OF IT.

County Commissioners Butt, Schwier and Black stated Friday afternoon that they had never been consulted by any of the people of the Fifth ward concerning the wiping out of the Sthair saloon at Main street and Knitters avenue and have not entered into any understanding that when the place attempts to renew its license in July, will turn it down. "When the application comes up, if it does, the board will deal with it as it does others. There will be a hearing and if evidence is furnished against the place it will be refused a license," said one of the commissioners. The members of the board stated that they had been informed remonstrances were in circulation to make the Fifth ward dry.

NEW INCORPORATION.

The Sheldon Tile company has filed articles of incorporation in the county recorder's office. The concern has $20,000 capital stock and will manufacture and sell tile and other clay products. Frank E. Stouder, Fred W. Freese, Andrew J. Neireiter and William Geake are the incorporators and directors.

ROADS ESTABLISHED.

The county commissioners have established the Schlaudroff road in Aboite township and the Chapman road in Marion township. Hearing on the Wilson road in Washington township went over until May 20. Christ Meyers, Joseph Banet and Christ Kramer were appointed viewers for the Guiff road in Cedar Creek township.

MAY DEPORT MURDERER.

It is probable that if Governor Ralston acts on the recommendation of the state board of pardons and releases from the Michigan City prison Durghan Ferris Riszk, who is serving a sentence for the murder of Solomon Senwar in this city several years ago, the federal authorities will seize him promptly upon his emergence from the penitentiary and hurry him to the seaboard for deportation to Syria, from which country he came. Local Syrians who testified against Riszk in his trial here and were threatened with death by him, have appealed to Prosecutor H. H. Hilgemann against the pardon of Riszk, whom they fear.

SAYS HE IS A DEFAULTER.

Taylorville Man Asks Logansport Police to Arrest Him

Longansport, Ind., May 7.—A man who gave his name as Lora C. Wynn, assessor of German township, Bartholomew county, surrendered to Sheriff J. P. Stanley here, saying he was a defaulter in the sum of about $50. He said he could give no reason for taking the township funds.

After getting the money, he says, he bought a ticket to Indianapolis and from there went to Chicago. He says he remembers nothing about what he did in Chicago except that he bought two shirts and a coat. From Chicago he came to Logansport. He says he is anxious to get back and make good his shortage. The sheriff at Columbus has been notified. Wynn, who is thirty-eight years old, has a family in Taylorville. He appears to be mentally deranged.

INDIANA MEN ARE SUED FOR $75,000

Suit for $75,000 alleged to be due on machinery and electrical equipment and for work and labor performed was filed in the federal court Friday afternoon by the Kutzman Foundry and Machine company, a Pennsylvania corporation, against the Indiana Reduction company, James P. Goodrich, Jesse T. Moorman and Henry C. Starr.

According to the complaint the plaintiff company entered into a written contract with the defendants on July 31, 1913, to furnish and deliver to St. Louis Mo., machiner- and electrical equipment for the sum of $158,000 in different installments.

Of this amount $108,000 has been paid leaving $50,000 still due, $25,000 of which was to have been paid on November 1, 1913, and the balance on January 1, 1914, it is alleged. The plaintiff company is also asking for $25,000 alleged to be due for work and labor performed for the defendants.

The defendants are engaged in the garbage refining business in a number of cities throughout the United States. Messrs. Goodrich and Moorman are residents of Winchester, Ind., while Mr. Starr is a well known resident of Richmond, Ind.

Vestee suits from $1.50 to $3.00.

MRS. HARROLD IN COURT.

Wife of Indiana Singer, Accused of Striking Man. Dismissed.

New York, May 7.—Miss Lydia Locke, a singer, who in private life is Mrs. Orville Harrold, the wife of Orville Harrold, the operatic tenor, appeared in a west side court to answer the charges of disorderly conduct brought against her by Moses Small, a chauffeur. The charge was dismissed.

Small came to Mrs. Harrold's apartment at 106 Central Park, West, late Saturday night, to deliver a package of medicine her physician had ordered for her. He demanded 25 cents for the delivery. Mrs. Harrold said in court that she did not have the change, and as the physician had promised to pay the bill she refused to do so.

She was alone at the time, Mr. Harrold being in Chicago, and the maid being out. Mrs. Harrold was in her night dress. She said when she refused to pay, the chauffeur dragged her into the hall and struck her. Small sai dshe struck him with her slipper and cut his face. The judge took her word for it.

URGES SUBMARINES AS PEACE INSURANCE

Says Eight or Ten Could Blockade Our Atlantic Coast Line.

Bridgeport, Conn., May 7.—Did you know that, in the event of war between the United States and a foreign power, our entire Atlantic coast could be successfully blockaded by eight or ten submarines, operating from under-sea supply depots?

Simon Lake, pioneer designer and builder of submarine craft, and for twenty-five years one of the foremost authorities on submarine building and navigation, says that is just what could be done if this country clashed with any power having the necessary submarine equipment!

"Submarines of today can cross the ocean," said Lake. "A modern submarine fighting ship could tow a submarine supply ship across the ocean. The supply ship could carry fuel oil, provisions, ammunition, mines, extra torpedoes. Anchored on the sea-bottom, she would provide supplies from which the fighting submarine could operate for an indefinite length of time—weeks or months."

"Do you mean to say that these stores—provisions, fuel and ammunition—could be transferred from one ship to another, at the bottom of the sea?" Lake was asked.

"Certainly! Each ship has a trap door which can be opened, when the air pressure inside is equalized with the water pressure outside, and no water can enter the ship—just as is the case with a 'diving bell.' By the use of a system of double doors in each ship, a man in a diver's suit can go from one ship to the other, along the sea bottom, carrying provisions or stores of any kind, in water-tight cases.

"Two submarines, with submarine supply bases, would be ample to blockade New York. Half a dozen more, divided among the big harbors of the Atlantic coast, would blockade the entire eastern seaboard. No ship of any kind could approach any port without being 'heard' when many miles away by the detectors used on submarines. Any ship which tried to run such a blockade would almost certainly be torpedoed. The same fate, of course, would menace any warship of ours which tried to leave a harbor.

"The blockading submarines would be in touch with one another through the submarine wireless system which has now come into use. Lying quietly in their hiding places at the bottom of the ocean, hundreds of miles apart, these eight or ten submarines could convert the Atlantic, from Maine to Florida, into a shipless waste of waters."

"But we could do the same thing—build submarine supply ships, and send them abroad, with our submarine fighting ships, to blockade hostile ports and destroy hostile ships?"

"Oh, yes," answered Lake with a smile. "If we had the necessary submarine equipment, and our enemy also had the necessary submarine equipment we could blockade one another's ports until we both starved to death.

"Which means, you see, that submarines are to be the end of war. If the United States wants to be assured of peace, let it bring its submarine equipment to the necessary stage. Nothing more is needed."

COST ST. PAULMAN $1,000 TO TAKE WALK

Attempts to Do 9.8 Miles in Hour and Fifteen Minutes on Wager.

St. Paul, Minn. May 7.—Walter Fadden, restaurateur, took a walk recently that cost him $1,000. With a stream of perspiration trickling off his nose and his hair a matted mass, he arrived at the Minneapolis court house at 9:28 in the morning, exactly eight minutes too late to win a bet of $1,000 that he could walk from St. Paul to Minneapolis in an hour and fifteen minutes.

Chris Andrews and H. K. Harrison are the winners of the wager.

At 8:05 he started from the city hall, with a vision of the $1,000 urging him on. Paddy Sullican, trainer of the Gibbons boys, acted as pacemaker. Paddy himself can make the distance in fifty minutes, it is said, so the two started at such a gait that Mr. Fadden had the $1,000 all spent by the time they reached the Midway.

Three motor loads of retainers made up a cheering retinue, and the walker was kept well supplied with oranges and lemons to suck. When the Washington avenue bridge across the Mississippi river was reached, the $1,000 began to look unattainable, but Mr. Fadden never faltered and reached the Minneapolis court house at very nearly his initial pace.

His time limit had expired eight minutes before, however, and his natural jollity had diminished considerably when he started the return trip in a motor car. The odometers of the accompanying cars showed a distance of 9.8 miles.

Pennsylvania will establish at Muncy, a prison for women.

BILL TO MAKE FRANCE "DRY."

Drastic Temperance Measure During War to Be Introduced.

Paris May 7.—9:45 a. m.—The Petit Parisien says it has been informed the government will introduce a bill prohibiting absolutely the manufacture, sale and transport of all alcoholic drinks during the progress of the war. Even beverages containing a slight proportion of alcohol it is understood, will be prohibited.

The ten countries with the largest populations are, in the order named, China, India, Russia, the United States, Germany, Japan, the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Austria.

TIGHT LITTLE LAIR OF TIGER IS RAIDED

Plucked Railroader's Wife Gets Pete Beckes a Heavy Fine.

When Pete Beckes and his school of poker sharks got a Pennsylvania railroad man into the tiger lair last Tuesday, kept him all night in their tight little den on the third floor at 822 Calhoun street and plucked him of $100 wages he had just drawn from the pay car and after letting him have $10 on his watch to take home to his wife they were brewing trouble they wist not of. Mrs. Railroader is a woman of parts and has determined character. She combed Mr. Railroader out when she found she would have to default her bills at butcher's and grocer's and made him "come clean" on the fate of his wages. Then she went down to police headquarters and related her story to Chief Lenz. The chief on Thursday sent Lieutenant Harry Grimme, Police Bailiff George Eisenhut and Motorcycle Officer Dan Kintz to investigate the place. The officers were not sure of the precise room in which the gambling place was located and hesitated to use force to enter the locked doors and spent twenty minutes getting in. Inside they found Beckes and two or three men playing rhum with nothing in sight to indicate gambling. No arrests were made. Later Chief Lenz was informed by the complaining woman that everything had been fixed up and that she would not file an affidavit. The chief was not so easily satisfied and Friday morning filed an affidavit on information. Beckes was arrested and brought in while the city court was in session, through an attorney waived arraignment, entered a plea of guilty and took a fine of $25 and costs. He promised to quit business. Without having been put on the stand, Beckes denied that the railroad man had been fleeced in the poker game upstairs at 822 Calhoun street and said he could show the police where the plucking took place.

Stole Employer's Lawnmower.

Jacob Taylor, a young man who has been hanging around the city for several months doing odd jobs, pleaded guilty to stealing a lawnmower from the home of Frank Ray, on Broadway, where he had been employed to cut the grass, and pawned it. He was arrested by Detectives Junk and Spillner, pleaded guilty and drew $1 and costs with thirty days added.

Other City Court Cases.

John Haggerty was too drunk to be arraigned and his case was continued until Saturday.

BUILDERS WILL PROSECUTE.

The Fort Wayne Builders' association has adopted a resolution calling for the vigorous prosecution of all persons detected in the stealing of lumber and other property at the scene of building operations. Judge Kerr has given assurance that severe penalty will attach to all convictions. The builders say that the losses from petty thefts of this character amount to an enormous sum in the course of a year, both by reason of the value of property stolen and the loss of time due to thefts.

JOINS AVIATOR HUSBAND.

Mrs. Art Smith Goes to San Francisco to Meet Birdboy.

Mrs. Art Smith, wife of Fort Wayne's famous aviator, has gone to San Francisco to be with her husband while he finishes his engagement there. Art Smith still thrills the crowds daily with his remarkable exhibition of "aerial insanity."

Architect Charles R. Weatherhogg will let the contract Monday, for the new high school building to be erected at Kendallville.

FRANK'S LOYAL WIFE IN PLEA TO PUBLIC

Begs American People to Believe Condemned Husband Innocent.

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—"I beg the American people to save my husband's life, because he is innocent.

This is Mrs. Leo M. Frank's plea to the people of this country to help her in her fight to save her husband from the gallows, to which he has been sentenced, charged with the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan.

Leo M. Frank.

"I love and honor my husband today more than ever before," declares Mrs. Frank, "because I am sublimely confident of his innocence."

She asks that the American people back up her plea to the governor with petitions, urging that Frank be given a fairer chance to prove his claim of innocence—urging not a pardon, but a commutation of his sentence to one of life imprisonment.

"Every bit of evidence produced at the trial," says Mrs. Frank, "and that which has developed since the trial, shows completely that my husband is not guilty. In the end I know his name will be cleared."

Mrs. Frank is a member of one of the best Jewish families in Atlanta. A woman of refinement and pride—and despite untold sufferings in the two years since Mary Phagan was murdered she has kept her faith in her husband and worked and suffered to save him from death.

During the trial, when vile stories regarding Frank were spread broadcast over the country, she countered them with frank recitals of the clean and pure home life which she asserts her husband loved and always had led.

Never did she let one bit of doubt concerning her husband creep into her mind and she worked untiringly to erase such suspicions from the minds of others.

Every day since the day of her husband's arrest she has visited him in his cell and has done everything in her power to comfort him and keep him buoyed up.

During the trial, when mobs, packed outside of the court room, howled for his life, she sat by his side and gave him courage.

Frank is fighting as much for his wife as for himself.

"If I had been what I am charged with being, if I was low and vile, would a woman with her traditions, her fine sensibilities, continue to live with me as my wife?" declares Frank.

And Mrs. Frank has proved his contention by her suffering, her loyalty and her fight for her husband.

She believes his vindication will come—she won't give up hope—and so she asks the American people to see that justice is done—to petition the governor of Georgia for clemency.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhages of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

FRIENDS, THOUGH DIVORCED.

Gary Attorney Sees His Former Wife Off for Europe.

Gary, Ind., May 7.—Shidmir von Foerster, a Gary attorney and realty broker, and his wife, Emily Elvira von Foerster, who still retains his name, were divorced recently at Hammond. She applied for the decree, which he did not contest. Some days ago von Foerster went to his Pittsburg office. On April 29 Mrs. von Foerster said goodby to friends here and left for New York, where she was to sail on the Canopic for Naples last Saturday.

Von Foerster was to meet Mrs. von Foerster in New York and see her aboard the liner. Before leaving here he said: "I will escort her to the steamer pier and we will say good-by, parting as friends. Should we ever meet again in later years there will simply be the greeting of friends.

AMERICAN CORPS WINNING LAURELS

Motor Ambulance Workers in Fighting Region in France.

London, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) No ambulance corps at the front is attracting more attention than the American Volunteer Motor Ambulance corps, under the leadership of Fichard Norton. Recently the British Red Cross, with which the corps is affiliated, ordered it to return for service with the British forces from the second French army with which it had been operating since it reached French soil. But in the meantime the whole ambulance organization of the second French army had been based on the American corps and the French medical department objected strongly to giving it up. The result has been a compromise whereby the corps will be enlarged to work with both armies.

The corps consists entirely of volunteer workers, who not only give their own services but provide automobiles as well. Both have distinctly made good, the French authorities having paid the warmest tributes to the efficiency of the workers and their cars. The squadron of motor cars represents many types, with American cars proving the favorites as their clearance gives them a distinct advantage in traversing the rough battle fields and wrecked roads. Among these cars the small American types have rendered extremely useful service by providing what might be termed the light cavalry of the ambulance service. While not being able to carry a heavy load these small cars bring the wounded from fields where the big ambulances cannot venture.

One ambulance of the corps carries a steam heating plant and tubs for supplying the wounded with hot baths. The corps has placed this work in charge of A. E. Kemp of Paris and it has proven so successful that he is appealing for funds to increase the number of cars equipped with the apparatus. Inspector General Dziewonski, of the scanitary department of the second army, has written to Mr. Kemp thinging him for the tubs which have been successfully tested, one tub giving from 25 to 30 baths daily.

FIREWORKS EXPLODE.

Chicago Man Fatally Injured—Scream Heard for Two Blocks.

Hammond, Ind., May 7.—A giant aerial bomb exploded prematurely at the celebration at the opening of the Roby roadhouse. Rafael Consposapa, of Chicago, was badly injured and is not expected to live. The lower part of his body was torn away by the explosion.

Several women had narrowly escaped injury when a big fire wheel tore loose from its fastenings. Shortly afterward Consposapa touched a match to the bomb. It was set in the ground and instead of rising in the air, exploded before he could escape. Consposapa's screams were heard two blocks away.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

TWO DEAD; ONE DYING IN TRAGEDY OF LOVE

Williamsport, Pa., May 7.—Two men are dead and a girl fatally injured in a tragedy of love and jealousy at Jersey Shore, near here, early today.

Lester Poust, 28, a machinist employed by the New York Central railroad at Avis, shot and killed Charles Holes, 32, a bar tender, and wounded Cecelia Sowers, 22, a dining room girl, when he found them together in a rooming house.

Poust shot both through the head and then shot himself through the mouth, dying instantly. Holes had a wife and two daughters.

FARNUM IN "THE NIGGER."

Cliff Noyes, battered, bruised—contrasted Georgiana Byrd, sweetheart of youthful Governor Morrow, just as she was entering the executive office from whence he had bten hurled by the maddened official after a desperate battle in which the two men had clinched and fought with tigerish ferocity. Noyes, in a last brutish effort to have Morrow veto the prohibition bill which would close the Noyes distilleries, has displayed before Morrow material proof that he—Morrow, was the illegitimate child of a "yaller gal" on his grandfather's plantation.

"The Nigger" is a play that will fairly lift you out of your seat with its dramatic intensity. Never has William Farnum been assigned a bigger role than that of Governor Morrow in this Sheldon "shocker."

AT THE COLONIAL

"THE AVENGING CONSCIENCE."

Mighty Photodramatic Epic Makes Deep Impression at Colonial.

This tremendous protodramatic subject is Griffith's personal conception of the Poe classic's "Annabel Lee" and "The Tell-Tale Heart." Inspired by the alternately weird and beautiful lines of these poems, Griffith has taken the characters and the basic circumstances and successfully interpreted on the screen the moods and mind workings of these characters and the significance of these incidents. As can be easily imagined this resolves itself into a gigantic task, but the Griffith genius for the interpretation of the physiological has overcome all obstacles, and this marvelous depiction of Poe's subjects can be placed in the small category of really great film triumphs. Henry B. Walthall, Blanche Sweet, Robert Harron, Mae Marsh and Spottiswoode Aiken enact the story in gripping style.

AT THE NEW PALACE

SPECIAL MATINEE SATURDAY.

Afternoon Performance for the Kiddies at New Palace.

A special matinee for the kiddies with a general admission of but five cents for youngsters, is the arrangement made by the New Palace management to afford every school child in Fort Wayne an opportunity of enjoying the great roller skating and wrestling bear, Alice Teddy, one of the most interesting nature studies on the stage today. Miss Teddy will be the center of attraction at a reception to be held on the New Palace stage immediately after the matinee performance.

The week-end bill is a laughing specialty from start to finish with a world of amusing features in the various acts. Arthur Stone and Marian Hayes' skit, "Green Goods," in which a young country bumpkin of the story book variety visits a circus grounds where he encounters the blonde vision in charge of the cane booth and gets himself trimmed for his bank roll. "The Bogus Nobles," a skit in which the trio of comedians, Cole, Davis and Russell are appearing is another big scream, while Dotson and Gordon's dancing and comedy singing are exceptionally good.

AT THE LYRIC.

Lillian Gish at Lyric Theater.

The multitude of fans who follow the activities of Lillian Gish say they never saw her golden hair so lovely as when it floats out behind her in the final part of the four-part Mutual masterpicture by Richard Harding Davis, "The Lost House." In this scene the little star leaps from the fourth story of a burning house into the fire net stretched below.

Lillian Gish's Realism.

Lillian Gish's acting in "The Lost House" is so realistic as she is rushed into helpless captivity that men have been known to jump from their seats with the evident intention of helping her.

LUCK IS WITH JACKSTED.

American Sailor Twice Escapes Death in Torpedoed Vessels.

Reading, Pa., May 7.—It was the good fortune of Conrad Jacksted, a sailor of Mount Penn, near here, to escape death twice when ships on which he was employed were blown up by torpedoes or mines in the war zone. He was on the Gulflight, struck near the Scilly islands on May 1, as third engineer. Earlier he was on the Evelyn, sunk in the North sea. After a rest at home following his first experience Jacksted took a berth on the Gulflight.

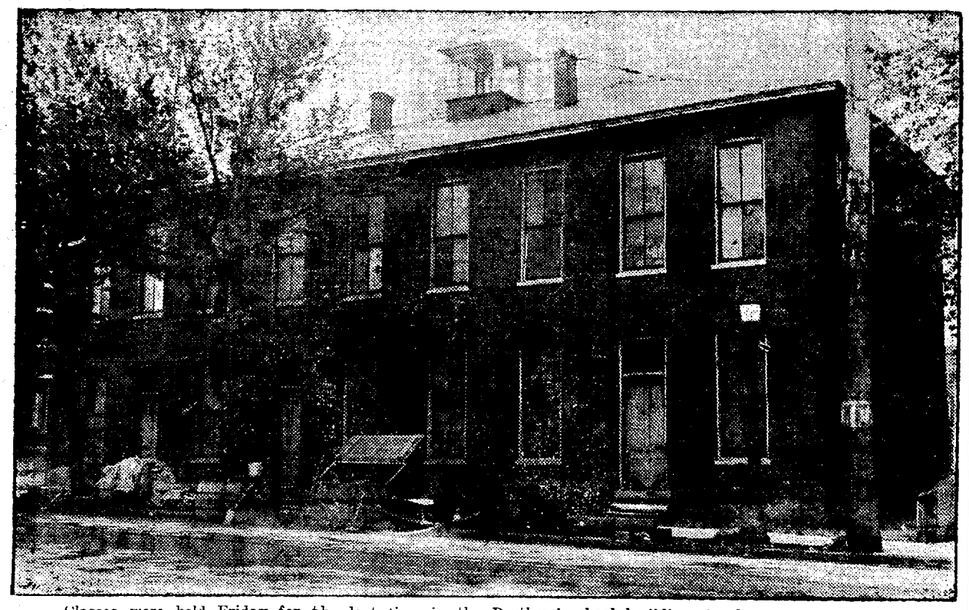
HISTORIC OLD BROTHERS' SCHOOL BUILDING IN FORT WAYNE SEES LAST CLASS PERIOD.



Classes were held Friday for the last time in the Brothers' school building, for half a century a landmark at Clinton and Jefferson streets. It will be torn down at once to make way for a handsome modern structure.

DEATH CALL COMES TO JOHN C. PAYNE

mained until thirty-five years ago, when he began work with the Seavey Hardware company. He remained in their employ until his late sickness forced him to retire.

The deceased was well known throughout the county and his many acquaintances will be grieved to learn of his death as many did not even known that he was dangerously ill. He was an active worker and member of the Summit City lodge, F. and A. M. He was a 32nd degree Mason and also a member of the Shriners. The wife, Mrs. Emma Payne, survives.

Britain and her allies; that the zone of war includes the waters adjacent to the British isle; that in accordance with notice given by the German government vessels flying the flag of Great Britain are liable to destruction in those waters and that travelers sailing in the war zone on ships of Great Britain or the allies do so at their own risk. The advertisement was signed "Imperial German Embassy."

This warning apparently did not cause many cancellations for the ship sailed with a very full passenger list. Just before the steamer's departure a number of passengers received telegrams at the pier signed by names unknown to them and presumed to be fictitious, advising them not to sail as the liner was to be torpedoed by submarines. Alfred G. Vanderbilt was one of the passengers who received such a message. He destroyed the message without comment.

No Risk, Declared Agent.

Charles H. Sumner, general agent of the Cunard line, was at the pier, and in a statement made then said that the voyage of the Lusitania would not be attended by any risk whatever as the liner had a speed of twenty-five and one-half knots and was provided with unusual watertight bulkheads.

In commenting on the report of the torpedoing of the Lusitania today, marine men pointed out that in their opinion the Lusitania could not be sunk by a single torpedo.

The Lusitania was delayed for more than two and a half hours in sailing for Liverpool last Saturday on account of having to take over the 163 passengers from the Anchor liner Comeronia, which was chartered at the last minute by the British admiralty.

T. S. Bowering, head of the firm of Bowering Bros., and president of the St. Georg's society, sailed on the Lusitania. He commented on the advertisement appearing in the morning papers, characterizing it as a silly performance and below the dignity of a diplomatic representative of any government. Alexander Campbell, general manager for John De War & Sons, London, who also sailed, referred to the advertisement as "Tommy rot." Other passengers on the Lusitania included Elbert Hubbard, publisher of The Philistine; D. A. Thomas, the wealthy Welsh coal operator, and his daughter, Lady Mackworth, the English suffragette.

All these persons took occasion to say that they saw nothing to worry at in the advertisement.

It was said at the Cunard offices today, previous to the receipt of the report of the torpedoing of the Lusitania, that they did not expect the steamer to arrive at Liverpool until Saturday as recently she had taken seven days to make the trip.

WHEN FIRST NEWS CAME.

Unconfirmed Rumor From English Agents of Line Given Out.

New York, May 7.—The Cunard Steamship company announced today that it had received from its agents in England an unofficial report that the Lusitania had been torpedoed off the coast of Ireland. Officials of the line here announced that they would promptly make public any confirmation or denial of the report. The Lusitania sailed last Saturday from New York and is due in Liverpool today.

A dispatch from London printed on the Jones News ticker says that a report to the Lloyds says the Lusitania had been sunk off Kinsale, Ireland. It was torpedoed at 2 o'clock this morning off Kinsale and had sunk thirty minutes later.

Life Story of Lusitania.

The magnificence of the Lusitania, the most famous leviathan of the deep ever constructed, with the probable exception of the ill-fated Titanic, was only rivalled by her sister ship, the Mauretania.

In 1907 the gigantic trans-Atlantic liner made her maiden trip to New York and she soon established the record for the run across the ocean, doing it practically in five days flat, quite a startling achievement at the time. The sister ship, Mauretania, now holds the record from Queenstown to New York of 4 days, 10 hours and 41 minutes.

Her turbine engines, a daring but successful experiment of the Cunard line, produced 70,000 horse power and drove the 45,000-ton ship 25 knots, or approximately 30 statute miles per hour. The boat was 787 feet long, a few feet shorter than the later Mauretania, and 87 1-2 feet in beam. When carrying a full load she drew 37 1-2 feet of water. She burned 1,000 tons of coal a day.

The Lusitania was constructed at the yards of John Brown & Co., Ltd., of Clydebank, England.

On her nine decks she could carry 3,000 persons, passengers and crew, and when afloat was a small city in itself.

With travelers the Lusitania was perhaps the most popular of the trans-Atlantic steamers, and a glance into her interior throughly explained why. No hotel, no palace, surpassed this superb ocean grayhound for appointments.

The 550 first class passengers were provided for in most sumptuous fashion; two elevators ran from deck E, on which was the main entrance, to deck A, where were the lounge, music, writing rooms, smoking room and a cafe veranda open only to the stern of the boat, which was an ideal spot in any weather.

For the more wealthy regal suites were provided. These were practically flats—apartments. They were made up of two bed rooms, dining and drawing rooms, pantry and bath room, so that perfect seclusion could be enjoyed.

The Lusitania established a new mark in stability and even when going at top speed articles on dressing tables and dining tables would not slide from their position. Sea-sickness was almost impossible aboard her. This was the result of the turbine engines and the bilge keels, huge steel strips which ran along either side of the ship beneath the water to steady her.

The Lusitania and Mauretania were built at the instigation of the British government, which desired a pair of royal mail and express steamers greater than anything afloat. They were built with the co-operation of the British admiralty and could mount, if desired, 12 six-inch guns.

SHOCK TO WASHINGTON.

News Strikes National Capital Like a Bomb.

Washington, May 7.—News of the torpedoing of the Lusitania struck official Washington like a bomb. While disposed to await full details before expressing opinions, all administration officials realized that the incident was probably the most serious Washington has faced since the beginning of the war.

President Wilson was informed of the sinking of the Lusitania and white house officials showed keen anxiety to learn whether any American lives were lost. No comment was made.

COMMITTEE SUCCEEDS IN RAISING $800

After securing contracts for $800 worth of advertising for the programs for "The House That Jack Built," to be given for the benefit of the Hope hospital, the advertising committee ceased work at noon Friday and has handed in all copy to the printer. Because of the limited time, the committee had to quit before reaching the $1,000 mark.

Those who assisted the advertising committee were the following: Mesdames Fred McCulloch, H. O. Bruggeman, Walter Shepard, Ben Levy, Fred H. George, H. C. Heisler, Jules Simon, Dan Milligan, Frank Walter, Louis Steifel and Gaston Bailhe and the Misses Ethel Doud, Mary Evans, Nellie Wilt, Julia Kelsey, Verne Bowser, Ignota White, Lucile Vail, Marian Puckett and Marjorie Dailey.

WESTERN POLAND IN DESPERATE PLIGHT

Rockefeller Commission Gets Reports of Much Suffering There.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, May 7.—Via London, 11:25 a. m.—A detailed report of the desperate situation prevailing today in the mining district of Western Poland, now in possession of the Germans, has been received by the Rockefeller commission which was organized to assist the suffering population of this region.

A comparison of food prices before the war with those which prevailed in January of this year, show the following contrasts: Rye flour increased from $40 to $90 per ton; wheat flour from $60 to $102; buckwheat, from $60 to $125, and peas from $60 to $250. Before the war a ton of straw cost $210; in January it brought $612 and the price of oats has increased 500 per cent. Out of a population of 135,000 in the district of Sosnovitz, 12,650 persons are now dependent upon charity. In Bendin there are 5,000 charity subjects out of a population of 50,000 and in Dombrov, 5,000 out of a population of 60,000. These figures do not include the unemployed who are receiving assistance from their former employers. The unemployed so situated number about 45,000, or counting their families, about 100,000 persons. Continuing this report says that during the last five months the population of this region suffered serious epidemics of typhus, scarlet fever, dysentery and cholera. Of cholera there have been 35 authenticated cases and the death rate among non-combatants has increased from 10 per cent. to 12 per cent.

Two chief causes of the misery in this region have been the cutting off of imports, upon which Poland always has depended, and the closing of the coal mines, which in normal times, give employment to 50,000 men.

LAST CLASSES HELD IN OLD STRUCTURE

Demolition of the Brothers' School Building Begins on Monday.

On Monday morning the Fort Wayne House Wrecking company will put a large force of men to work demolishing the Brothers school in Cathedral square, one of the oldest school buildings in the county. Erected nearly fifty years ago, thousands of Fort Wayne citizens have attended classes in the old building.

The last classes were held in the building Friday, and Saturday the seats and all furniture will be taken out. The work of tearing down the ancient structure will require some ten days. The building is substantially constructed of brick, but it is badly out of repair and is not capable of accomplishing great results as a modern school.

A feature that is looked upon with regret is that when the new building is erected it will cover much of the school yard that for so many years has been as full of life and noise as a crowd of enthusiastic boys can make it.

The new building will be modern, fireproof and three times as large as the present structure. It will be completed before the first of next year if everything goes smoothly and there are no unforseen delays.

TWO FOUND SLAIN IN CHICAGO HOME

Chicago, May 7.—Mrs. Ella Coppersmith, 27, wife of John L. Coppersmith, a commission merchant, and her son, John, two years old, were found murdered in their homes on the south side yesterday. Their throats had been cut and their skulls crushed. A blood stained hammer was found near the bodies and in an adjoining room the police discovered a blood stained butcher knife. Diamonds belonging to Mrs. Coppersmith are missing and robbery is believed to have been the motive. The bodies were found by Mrs. John Adamson, Mrs. Coppersmith's sister.

The murderer remained long enough to wash his hands and ransack the apartment for valuables. He took a diamond ring and her wedding ring from Mrs. Coppersmith's hand, but overlooked $800 in bonds and about $50 in currency.

What the police consider their most tangible clew was the bloody imprint of the murderer's hand on a table in the kitchen. Two suspects were arrested last night.

SHOPGIRLS MAKE BEST DOMESTICS

Albany, N. Y., May 7.—Girls who worked in shops and became domestics at the solicitation of the state labor department, have proven more satisfactory than girls who have worked only as domestics, Commissioner of Labor Lynch said today in a report of the operation of the new state employment bureau. He declared these girls carried their shop training into the homes, increasing their efficiency.

In the five offices conducted by the bureau there have been 21,515 applications for positions. Of these 4,366 were women or girls. Reports show that 1,141 women and 1,739 men received positions. The greatest number of applications for help were from metal and machinery trades, with farm hands second and wholesale and retail trade next. In the woman's department the majority of calls were for domestics.

ANXIOUS TO SETTLE.

China Will Make Concessions to Avoid a Rupture.

Tokio, May 7.—A dispatch to the Nichi-Nichi from its Peking correspondent says China last night informed Japanese Minister Hioki that it desired to arrange a settlement of the demands in such a way as to avoid a rupture.

The press generally deprecates the necessity of further concessions to China. Some newspapers express the fear that the impression will go abroad that the elder statesmen are still the power behind the throne.

More than forty warships, including the battleship Hizen, and the battle cruiser Kongo are preparing at Sazbo for possible operations against China. A second squadron under Admiral Nawa has arrived and is hastily embarking supplies. Rear Admiral Kamimura's fleet, including the battleships Sagami and Suwo, has been ordered to the gulf of Pechili to be in readiness to take aboard Minister Hioki in case of necessity.

The police are protecting Professor Ariga, Japanese adviser to President Yuan Shi-Kai, whom speakers have denounced as a Chinese spy and are arranging ample protection for Chinese residents of Japan.

Baron Kato, foreign minister, is understood to have informed the ambassadors of other powers that the ultimatum to China, which expires at 6 p. m. Sunday, was accompanied by additional modifications of Japan's demands, notably the questions relating to munitions and advisers which interested the United States.

It is the general opinion in diplomatic circles tonight that China will submit. Meanwhile Japan is making extensive preparations for a possible rupture. Warships and transports are held in readiness for instant movement. The impression prevails that the influence of the elder statesmen resulted in further concessions being made to China in the belief that the lasting interests of the empire could be served by convincing the powers that Japan is guided by a spirit of justice and a desire for the preservation of peace in the Orient.

GUTHRIE MAKES NO COMMENT.

Chicago, May 7.—George Guthrie, American ambassador to Japan, passed through Chicago today en route to Pittsburg, on leave of absence. He read with interest the latest news bulletins from the Orient, but offered no comment. "When I left Japan the feeling there was one of great pleasure at the cordial manner in which Admiral Dewa had been received in this country," he said.

ELECTRICIANS NAME EXCURSION DATE

Big Event Will Take Place Saturday, June 26—Voting on Place.

The Mutual Benefit association of the Fort Wayne Electric works will run its annual excursion on Saturday, June 26. This was the decision reached by the committee yesterday, and immediately following the decision Chairman Robert Bartel issued a bulletin announcing that fact and submitting to the employes of the company a result of the committee inquiry into the rates to several points. The report bearing on the latter feature is as follows:

To Michigan City, $1.95, running time three hours; to Lake Maxinkuckee, $2.80, running time three hours; to Cedar Point, $1.50, running time four and a half hours, and to Cincinnati, $2, running time five hours. The price quoted for Cincinnati includes entrance to Coney Island and the fare on the river steamer to and from that point.

Mr. Bartel says that the agent of each of the lines mentioned guarantees ample equipment for handling the crowd, even if it is necessary to have four or five trains. The selection of an excursion point has been submitted to the members of the association and the employes at the works in general and the following committee appointed to receive votes: F. G. Fleming, William Bierbaum, F. Walburn, Joseph Schwartzkopf, C. J. Lopshire, J. H. Pulver, Charles Brenner, S. J. Stocks, Harry Baals, R. R. Bartel, W. H. Schultz, William Wehrs, J. Miller, Howard Miller and O. B. Rinehart.

INSTRUCTING CHICAGO DIVISION.

Nickel Plate Superintendent Williams Out on Special Mission.

This morning a special train carrying the officials of the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate left the city on an educational mission. On the train were W. A. Collie, superintendent of car service; Division Superintendent H. N. Williams, Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, Division Engineer George E. Potter, Bridge and Building Superintendent James Rogers and Fred Smith, chief clerk to Superintendent Williams. Master Mechanic W. G. Black, of Chicago, met the party at some point west of the city, and Dr. J. M. Dinnen accompanied them from this city. The object is to instruct agents how to manage the continuous home route card system, which is being inaugurated on all of the big railways of the country. The train is in charge of Conductor W. C. Bell, with Engineer William C. Happle and Fireman W. O. Chaney in the cab. A similar duty was performed by Superintendent W. F. Watterson on the Fort Wayne division yesterday, starting from Bellevue at 8 o'clock a. m. and reaching Fort Wayne at 1:15 p. m.

COMPLETE EXAMINATION TONIGHT

Trainmaster E. S. Kirby is Holding Last Book of Rules Class.

Trainmaster E. S. Kirby, of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, assisted by D. H. Caldwell, will complete the annual examination of the trainmen and enginemen in the book of rules tonight, when he will conduct a class at the public library. Mr. Kirby and Mr. Caldwell held classes at Bellevue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and opened up at the library Thursday morning. At the latter place the employes of both the Fort Wayne and the Chicago division met at the same time and the classes were held under the joint direction of Trainmaster Kirby and Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, the latter of the Chicago division. Next Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14, Trainmaster Pierce, assisted by D. H. Caldwell, will hold classes in Stony Island, which will wind up the business on the line west of Bellevue for this year.

G. R. & I. BOOK OF RULES.

Trainmaster Casey Will Start Examinations Next Week.

Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, assisted by Division Operator J. F. Betts, is making arrangements to inaugurate the annual examination of trainmen, enginemen and other employes connected with the train service on that line. Classes will be held in Fort Wayne, Kalamazoo and Richmond and they will commence as soon as the Pennsylvania, which is now holding classes in the committee room in the passenger station in this city completes its examination and vacates the room. That will be, it is thought, early next week.

GIVING LAST TEA OF SEASON.

A jolly crowd is enjoying the hospitality of Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the Bortherhood of Locomotive Engineers, at the B. L. E. hall, corner of West Main and Cherry streets, this afternoon. This will be the last of the regular afternoon teas given by Division 513 this season and it will probably be the most successful in a numerical and social way, but an ice cream social will be held the afternoon and evening of May 28 in the hall. The committee in charge of the affair this afternoon are Mrs. Mabel Hood, Mrs. M. F. McCarthy, Mrs. Dennis McCarthy, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Robert Johns.

WILL SEND OUT DEMONSTRATING CAR.

The demonstrating car operated last summer by the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company in advertising its pumps, will be sent upon a more extensive trip this summer. The car will make the trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, driven by O. P. Canady, who had charge of it last year. Experience has demonstrated the value of this method of bringing the products of the company before the public. Many orders which it is believed would never have reached the Wayne company had it not been for the car, were received last fall and winter and many are still coming in as a result of the trip.

MANY ATTEND AIR BRAKE MEETING.

The convention of the Air Brake Men's association, now being held in Chicago, is attracting many railroad men. The increase in size and capacity of engines and cars has necessitated corresponding improvement in the efficiency of the air brake and "live wire" railway men are keeping in touch with this feature and to them the meeting in Chicago is especially interesting. Pennsylvania men who attended the meeting are Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, Assistant Master Mechanic F. T. Huston, Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, Assistant Road Foreman O. E. Maxwell and others.

SLEEPER FOR INDIANAPOLIS.

Fort Wayne people who attend the automobile races at Indianapolis Saturday, May 29, will have three routes to chose from, the G. R. & I., the L. E. & W. and the interurban. The G. R. & I. yesterday announced that it would have a special sleeping car for this business, which will be attached to the train leaving at 1:30 o'clock and arriving at Indianapolis at 6:45 o'clock Saturday morning, and returning will leave Indianapolis at 10:45 Saturday night. The Lake Erie and Western will have a similar service.

COUNTS VOTES MAY 21.

The votes for members of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association's advisory board will be counted Friday, May 21. This was the news received from the head of the department by Samuel M. Taylor, member of the Western division and candidate for re-election, this morning. The Western division will not have a representative on the canvassing board this time. The votes are counted by three men and there are six districts. This division was represented last year.

BROTHER DIES AT VAN WERT.

Joseph C. Brake, clerk at the Pennsylvania road foreman of engines' office, and Mrs. Brake are at Van Wert, where her brother, Mr. Hutchins, died Wednesday night. The deceased made frequent visits to his sister in this city and has a number of acquaintenances here who will be pained to learn of his death. Besides Mrs. Brake, there are other surviving relatives in Van Wert and Chicago.

USING THE RESERVE FUEL.

The big pile of coal at the Nickel Plate coal docks, deposited there a year ago and held in reserve for emergency use, is to be cleaned up now and the ground upon which it rested to be prepared for another lot of emergency fuel. Locomotives commenced drawing supplies from the big pile today and when the clam shell is not 'coaling" engines it will be busy picking up the coal and putting it in cars.

TOLEDO BOOSTERS COMING HERE.

Agent Fred C. Eggers, of the Wabash, is in receipt of the itinerary of the special train which will bear members of the Toledo Commercial club on its "boosting" trip. The "boosters" will be here the night of May 18, leaving the following morning for Peru. Their special train will consist of two Pullman cars, a coach and a baggage car.

RETURNS TO THE THROTTLE.

Thomas J. Burgess, for over a year on his farm in Michigan on account of poor health, will resume his place at the throttle of the Valparaiso and Plymouth local freight, on the Pennsylvania, next Monday. Mr. Burgess, health has improved and he expects to be able to continue at work. He is one of the old employes of the road in point of service.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Employes of the Wabash company will receive their semi-monthly pay Monday.

E. O. Wagner, commercial agent of the G. R. & I., is in Indianapolis on business for the company.

Boiler Inspector Frank Eisle, of the Wabash railroad, was in Peru yesterday on company business.

Nickel Plate Brakeman William Wolf has returned from Claypool, where he spent two or three days fishing.

Roadmaster T. W. Dempsey, of the New York Central, was here yesterday from Hillsdale on company business.

Engineer W. O. Granger, who had been off duty a few days, reported for work on the Nickel Plate this morning.

Chief Lineman G. A. Dornberg, of the Pennsylvania, inspected the telephone system the G. R. & I. is installing, yesterday.

Cash Lutz, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, went to Decatur last evening to attend the wedding of his neice Miss Jean Lutz.

Conductor D. W. Watterson, of the Knox local freight on the Nickel Plate, is taking a lay off to attend to some private matters.

Brakeman A. I. Burns, of the Nickel Plate, resumed duty yesterday, after a lay off of two weeks, spent at his home in Bucyrus, O.

Pennsylvania Yard Engineer A. C. McMillan reported for duty this morning. He has been attending the Ben Hur meeting at Bluffton.

Nickel Plate Conductors F. H. Davis and C. Compton are taking a lay off, Mr. Compton to do some painting and other repairs on his house.

Fred Gassert, machinists' helper in the Wabash shops, is off duty because of a cut in the palm of the hand, which he sustained Wednesday evening.

Engineer C. A. Boyce and Fireman B. R. Carver, of the Nickel Plate, are taking a two or three days lay off to look after some private matters.

Fred J. Thieme, of the Wayne Knitting mills, is in Philadelphia to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Hosiery manufacturers.

Conductor C. G. Baxter, who was engaged a few days in making improvements at his home on Boone street, reported for work on the Nickel Plate yesterday.

Brakemen A. I. Burns and D. L. Crance resumed work on the Nickel Plate this morning. Mr. Burns had been spending ten days with his folks at the old home in the east.

O. M. French, operator at the tower in the Lake Shore yards, says some one pried open one of the tower windows while he was temporarily absent and took a valuable telescope.

The Cushing, Okla., land car, which has been on the Nickel Plate tracks at the Calhoun street crossing the last ten days, was taken to Muncie yesterday afternoon via the L. E. & W.

Engineer W. E. Mungovan and Fireman R. M. Cline, of the G. R. & I., will spend the remaining days of the week at Howe, Ind., fishing. On a similar trip there some time ago they had excellent luck.

Vast quantities of fish are being shipped over the Nickel Plate lately. Today No. 2 carried a car load which came from Oregon and are going to New York, and this evening No. 4 will have a car load consigned to parties at Boston.

William Glusenkamp, who has worked at the plant of the old Indiana, now the American Road Machine works, more than twenty years, is recovering from an attack of pleurisy, which has kept him confined to his home three weeks.

D. C. Robinson resumed work this morning after a week's vacation and A. J. Axt left yesterday on a week's vacation, which he will spend in Chicago. Mr. Robinson spent his vacation at Winchester. They are clerks in the Pennsylvania freight office.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania, and Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the G. R. & I., have returned from Indianapolis, where they attended a hearing upon a railway matter before the Indiana railway commission.

A Fort Wayne industry that is not suffering from want of orders is the American Road Machine company. This establishment is working all its employes full time and reports that the sales so far this year are 15 per cent. heavier than for the corresponding period of last year.

Henry Gage, Wabash passenger conductor, was visiting Fort Wayne friends yesterday. He has been employed on the Wabash for nearly forty-five years and previous to taking employment with that company he worked as a newsboy on Pennsylvania trains running in and out of Fort Wayne six years.

Ralph F. Markey, clerk for Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, of the Pennsylvania, will enter upon a vacation tomorrow, which he will spend at Lafayette and Indianapolis. At the latter place the young man will attend the Knights Templar conclave, which will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The Fort Wayne Printing company's employes will have another excursion this summer and it will probably be to Cedar Point on Saturday, July 17. A committee on arrangement is composed of Harry Wilding, Kemp Baker, C. O. Wheatley, Jacob Agne and Robert Schwier. This excursion, while for the employes and their families, will be open to the public also.

CONGRESSMAN CLINE WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Congressman Cyrus Cline, of the Twelfth district, will speak Friday evening before the members of Company D, Third regiment and other military bodies in this section, in the local company's armory on West Berry street. He will talk on "The Military Policies of Our Government," at which time he will discuss questions pertaining to the national defense of the country and the need and value of the national guard. The public is cordially invited to the meeting.

Why Do We Yawn?

The satisfaction we feel after a wholesome yawn is due to the fact that having replied to nature's demand that we bring in more air, our blood secures the oxygen which it needs and we feel the effect of better blood in our arteries at once.

A peculiar thing about the process of yawning is that one person in a room yawning will quite likely set all or nearly all the others to yawning also. There seems to be no explanation of this excepting that when a number of people are in one room and one of them begins to yawn, the others do so, not because they perceive the first yawn so much as the probable fact that the air in the room has become so poor that all the people in it, breathing normally, and many of them are forced to yawn at about the same time.

When you yawn, you do so because you have not been breathing quite properly and for some reason or other your blood supply has not been getting sufficient oxygen through the air which has been taken into your lungs. Nature's way, in this instance, is to call for a big intake of air all at one time, and since it is important at such times that a large quantity of air should be supplied to the lungs at once, nature has so arranged matters that certain muscles shall cause you to open your mouth wide and take in as much air as you can at one time, and also has arranged so that it is almost impossible to keep from yawning when the demand for it is once made. The yawn is controlled by a part of our nerve structure which looks after the breathing apparatus.

What to Do to Get Fat and Increase Weight

The Real Cause of Thinness.

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't nature's way at all.

Tin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold Meyer Bros. Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

EFFICIENCY CRY IN UNITED STATES NOW

Striking Example of German Army Awakens the American Employers.

New York, May 7.—The war has given the world a watchword—it is efficiency.

The German army in action—the gray wave that rolled over Belgium—gave people a stupendous demonstration of what efficiency is and does.

Time means money—to successful firms. A big Cleveland oil firm found that many of the employes were slack in getting to work and in returning from lunch. Clerks came to work five or six minutes late in the morning, some took a little more than their allotted hour for lunch at noon. No one man took much extra time, but when a wide-awake efficiency expert sat down and figured out the amount of time lost by the firm the resulting figures astounded him and his superiors.

Time clocks were put in. Everybody, from the president of the concern down, punched them. Nobody was discharged or reprimanded for being late, but the whole force worked full time, tardiness disappeared and it was soon noticed that at the end of the month fewer men had to work overtime to close up their books or reports.

Another firm with a larger force than they had used the season before found the production falling off. It was an exceptionally hot summer and an observant foreman noted the frequency with which the "hands" dropped work to go to the lone drinking fountain located at one end of the long building. At once he had half a dozen more sanitary water tanks scattered about the big work room, and to get the needed drink an employe only had to take a few steps and a moment's time.

In a big mail order house boys and girls are employed to go from bin to bin in a huge room, filling orders. An enterprising manager fitted them out with roller skates. It was an experiment, but it worked. Now the "order fillers" glide from bin to bin in half the time and with less effort and more will in their work than before. Never have orders been sent out so promptly.

In the general offices of a big automobile manufacturing concern nobody needs leave his desk to speak to another. A note is written and a "carrier clip" operating on the endless chain system whirls it to a "distributing bureau." A second or two more and another "traveler" deposits it on the desk of the person to whom it is addressed.

Firms throughout the country are now showing men how to do one piece of work well instead of trying to do two different kinds and only half doing either. Experts show employes how to do a piece of work with two or three motions where formerly five or six or even seven had been used.

One firm found machines it used were not turning out their full capacity. The men operating these machines were working ten hours a day. This was shortened to eight and the production jumped to machine capacity at once. Before this the men tired by the long hours were unable to operate the machines to their full extent.

Big firms are putting in physicians and nurses to look after the employes' health and are ready in case of accident, with first aid treatment.

In a big pencil factory fifteen girls wrap pencils in packages of a dozen. They must be able to pick up twelve pencils—no more, no less—with one motion of the hand. Some proved faster than the others from the very start.

The foreman investigated and found that the girls who worked the fastest had hands of nearly a certain size and length of finger. From the other girls in the factory he finally found half a dozen more who had similar sized hands. These he put to work wrapping in place of the slow girls and got better results immediately.

In another factory certain men were required to do delicate filing and finishing on locks. Suddenly their production dropped off. The problem presented difficulties until the foreman had a happy inspiration. The walls across the court in front of the work benches, once white, had not been cleaned for several years. A few coats of whitewash and the men's output was soon normal again. They themselves had not noticed the gradual lessening of the light and increased difficulty of their work.

Then there is the results Frank B. Gilbreth got from bricklayers. He found most of the workmen used eighteen motions in brick laying and could lay about 120 bricks an hour. He studied the problem, reduced the motions to five and at the same time increased the number of bricks laid to 360 an hour and the workmen were not as fatigued.

DOPE FIEND FINALLY TURNS ON THE GANG

Police Were Informed That School Children Were Getting Cocaine.

New York, May 7.—Charged with selling cocaine to Harlem school children, four young men were arrested recently. They are Philip Lewis, the alleged leader of the gang; Abraham Levy, Elias Weibogardow and Pasquale Grecco. Levy and Weibogardow were once inmates of the city reformatory, the latter being out on suspended sentence charged with selling narcotics.

The arrest of the four was brought about by a dope fiend. This man dropped in at the first branch detective bureau and admitted to Captain Devy that he was a habitual user of drugs. He said that while he didn't mind "the gang" selling the stuff to him, he did not like the idea of them peddling it to the school children. He promised to help the police round up the gang if they would protect him.

Detectives gave the man a marked $2 bill and told him to make arrangements to meet the drug sellers. This man then met Philip Lewis, the alleged leader, at One Hundred and Tenth street and Lexington avenue. Lewis walked with him to Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, where they met Levy, Weibogardow and Grecco. The man gave one of the drug sellers the marked $2 bill and received in exchange a small quantity of cocaine.

MILLIONAIRE KID IS GOING TO FARM

Young Man Who Inherits an $800,000 Legacy Tells Plans.

San Francisco, May 7.—"If you are going to say anything in the papers about me, please go easy. The boys are 'guying' me—calling me 'Millionaire Kid' and such names."

The speaker was seventeen-year-old Robert M. Bandini, who has just come

into a fortune estimated at $800,000, as his share as one of the heirs of the estate of the late Arcadia de Baker, who died in Los Angeles in 1912.

Records of many European states were searched by his attorney, A. M. Free, former district attorney of Santa Clara county, to prove the relationship of the Bandini boy to Mrs. de Baker.

"Robert," Mrs. Ruth McMahon, the boy's mother, warned, "is the greatest mixture of boy and man you ever saw."

The son showed this in his conversation. He was worried lest the interview put him "in Dutch" with his play fellows and the members of the baseball team to which he belongs.

Then, forgetting his playfellows, he talked like a man about his future. "I am going to study agriculture and become a farmer. I will buy a ranch as soon as I am through with my college work. I have always been interested in farming and mechanics. I have a workshop in the basement where I am experimenting and building little aeroplanes and automobiles. I have also made a cabinet and bookcase which could pass for the work of an expert mechanic.

"I don't like to sit in the house. That's why I want to become a farmer. I want to live in the open, to go fishing, boating. The money that I get does not really make much difference in my plans, except that they will be carried out more easily," the boy continued.

"Yet, people seem to think that by falling into this fortune I have changed over night and become—I don't know what. All sorts of queer letters came in the last few days. One man asked me for money with which to go back to the old country to fight. Another wants me to subscribe to a worthy cause—and I don't begin to understand his letter. A third wants me as a partner in business. He thinks I am just the man he has been looking for.

"Say," he suddenly announced. "I am expert at pruning grape vines. I'll bet I could go out and work beside any man in an orchard pruning trees and get a man's wages."

"Bob," came a call from the basement.

"You'll excuse me," said Bandini, with a twinkle. "My chum is calling; I must keep him on my side.

"If you keep on writing about my inheritance all my chums will turn against me for fear that I am getting swelled up. I am not a bit. I do not see why I should be."

Wanted: One Million Women to Enlist in the World-Wide Fight for Peace

HOW PEACE PARTY HOPES TO ABOLISH WAR.

1. The immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of early peace.
2. Limitation of armaments and the nationalization of their manufacture.
3. Organized opposition to militarism in our own country.
4. Education of youth in the ideals of peace.
5. Democratic control of foreign policies.
6. The further humanizing of governments by the extension of the franchise to women.
7. "Concert of Nations" to supersede "Balance of Power."
8. Action toward the gradual organization of the world to substitute law for war.
9. The substitution of an international police for rival armies and navies.
10. Removal of the economic causes of war.
11. The appointment by our government of a commission of men and women, with an adequate appropriation, to promote international peace.

Mrs. Amos Pinchot, leader of the woman's peace party which aims to stop this war and prevent wars in the future.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

New York, May 7.—"We want an army of a million women to fight for peace!"

So Mrs. Amos Pinchot formulated for me the purpose of the newly established woman's peace party in which she is the leading spirit in New York.

"War," continued the slender, vivid crusader for peace on earth, "is stupidity. We deny individuals recourse to violence to settle their difficulties. Why should we permit it to nations which are merely groups of individuals?

"The present war has already mortgaged the future of Europe for ten generations to come. The future is woman's business. We women make the future by giving birth to children.

"If we are to continue to rear children for what Tolstoi termed properly food for cannon, women in war-harassed countries may adopt the birthstrike, when it becomes necessary, as a protest against war. In every war, woman is the greatest, the ultimate sufferer.

"The women of Europe have seen their children fed to cannon. Many of those who survive will be crippled—not only physically, but economically, and in their whole development because when peace finally comes the contending nations will be so weakened and burdened with debt that it will take long years to restore them to the standard of life that existed before the outbreak of hostilities.

"The time has come for mothers to band together to protect the race from this wholesale slaughter. Do you know that in the South African war five noncombatants died for every combatant? Women supply the materials of war—human flesh—yet they have nothing to say on the question whether their country shall be plunged into it or not.

"In this country women are a power. They can and must work against the spread of militarism. They must protest against the formation of the American legion because increased armament by the United States is equivalent to the admission that force is the only way of dealing with international difficulties.

"If, in the face of the European catastrophe, we proceed to arm ourselves, it is as much as to say, 'We expect attack, and mean to fight like the rest of you.'

"The women's peace party does not admit the necessity of future wars," Mrs. Pinchot continued. "And we think that every mother who knows the cost and the precious value of human life will want to join us in our crusade for constructive peace."

I talked with Mrs. Pinchot in the very charming apartment at 960 Park avenue, New York city, which the Pinchots took after leasing their town house to Vincent Astor. The room in which we sat was hung with pieces of old brocade. And against its soft and mellowed beauty clamored the loveliness of many spring flowers, rose-colored tulips, deep red hyacinths which contrasting with the time-toned beauty of the hangings seemed almost shrill.

In this exquisite setting the world-war seemed many worlds away.

And it was hard to realize that there was need to discuss the organization of mothers against the destruction of their sons.

But Mrs. Pinchot soon brought me back to the peace crusade into which she has thrown herself with ardor tempered by intelligence—the spirit that rules the world.

MRS. BURKHAM HIS DAUGHTER.

St. Louis Jury Gives Woman Half of $16,000,000 Campbell Estate.

St. Louis, May 7.—A unanimous verdict in favor of the defendants in the Campbell will case was returned by the jury here last night. The verdict declares Lois Campbell, now Mrs. Elsey Burkham, to be the daughter of James Campbell and therefore entitled to half of his $16,000,000 estate willed her by Campbell.

The Book of Wonders

Is Offered To You By

THE SENTINEL

Things You Ought to Know

How can a ship sail under the water? Why doesn't the crew suffocate? Where is the eye of the submarine? Why do they keep white mice on board a submarine? How did the water get into the ocean? Why doesn't the water in the ocean sink in? How does the sand get on the seashore? What makes the sea roar?

The reading matter tells you in the most fascinating way how the things you want to know about are done and the illustrations show you how they are accomplished.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, May 7.—Wheat eased off today, influenced by predictions that the government report would be in favor of the bears. After opening at the same as last night to 1c lower, prices rallied, but again showed a disposition to sag.

Corn hardened as a result of a little buying on account of wet weather damage in Argetina. Wheat weakness, however, prevented any material upturn. The opening, which varied from ¼c to ¼c off, was followed by advances to above last night's level.

Export clearances of oats helped make oats firm. Pit offerings were light.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, May 7.—Price changes at the outset of today's market operations reflected further irregularity and confusion, due in part to London, where Americans were heavy. War specialties were not especially prominent, except Bethlehem Steel, which soon rose six points to 154, one point under its record price. Reading was heaviest of the leading shares. U. S. Steel was barely steady, while other prominent issues moved variably.

The morning session was almost the dullest of any day for a fortnight, with a continuance of the uncertain undertone. Standard stocks denoted further selling, Reading, Union Pacific and Coppers yielding to mild pressure. Mexican Petroleum rose four points. Bonds were irregular.

Confirmation of the sinking of the Lusitania was followed by enormous selling orders. Losses ranged from six to twelve points in standard stocks and fifteen to thirty in war specialties, with a few substantial recoveries in the final dealings. The closing was weak.

THE WEATHER

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair and cooler tonight, with probably frost if weather clears; Saturday fair.

For Indiana: Fair and cooler tonight, probably frost north portion; Saturday fair.

For Ohio: Cooler and generally fair tonight and Saturday.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

The low pressure area which was central over western Texas yesterday morning has moved rapidly northeastward, and is central over upper Michigan this morning. In connection with this storm general and quite heavy precipitation has occurred over the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the lake region. Fair weather prevailed over the Atlantic coast sections and the districts west of the Rockies.

The weather is somewhat warmer this morning over the eastern states but it continues cool over the eastern Rocky mountain region, the Dakotas and Nebraska.

In this section conditions favor fair and cooler weather, with probable frost tonight if the weather clears. Saturday will be fair.

SMALL CHANCE FOR BERRY ST. OPENING

Nickel Plate Road Owns Land Necessary and Would Keep It.

That there is an unpromising prospect for the opening and extension of East Berry street from Monroe street to join the western terminus of Erie street and so give that thoroughfare and the region of which it is the artery a straight outlet to the downtown district was brought out Friday morning during a conference of Mayor Hosey and the board of works with W. F. Watterson, division superintendent of the Nickel Plate railroad.

The railroad owns and includes in its right of way the crescent strip of land that sweeps around the curvature of the Maumee river and is necessary to the opening of Berry street. Superintendent Watterson said the Nickel Plate undoubtedly would refuse to yield this strip for a street. It is wanted, he said, for the site of a temporary passenger station at such time as the city compels track elevation through the city, and might be made the site of a permanent passenger station at some future time. Mayor Hosey is of the opinion that so long as the Nickel Plate uses this ground as a part of its right of way for railway purposes the city cannot condemn it for a street. If it should be condemned it would impose enormous assessments on the abutting property. People of Erie street and that region have been clamoring for the Berry street extension for a long time, and recently the movement was revived.

GRADE SEPARATION ORDERED.

Board of Works Adopts Resolution for Osage Street.

The board of works at Thursday night's meeting adopted a resolution ordering the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railroads to begin track elevation work at Osage street, not later than June 1 and to complete operations at a time the board will fix later. The resolution was introduced by Member Henry Hilgemann. Mayor Hosey and the board are resolved to get the openings for subways through at Osage and Coombs streets this year and have been given satisfactory assurance by General Manager A. W. Johnston, of the Nickel Plate, that his road will co-operate in this purpose.

The board fixed May 24 as the date for hearings on the new franchise to be given the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for its tracks on State street. The purpose of the new franchise is to get the tracks removed from the sides to the center of the street, which is to be paved.

Orders were given the engineering department for plans for ornamental lighting systems on Hoagland avenue, from Creighton avenue to Pontiac street, and on Brackenridge street from Calhoun street to Harrison street. The type of standards and lamps are left to the selection of the property owners.

The board recinded action on a resolution adopted in 1912 for ornamental lighting on Lawton place because the improvement must now be made under the new law. Plans were ordered for these improvements: Paving the alley between Washington and Wayne streets, Nelson to Garden; sidewalks on the east side of Hoagland avenue, from Cour to Organ; on both sides of Reed street, from Colerick to Pontiac; on the east side of Holton avenue, from Colerick to Pontiac, and on both sides of Lewis street, from Hanna to Anthony.

NOBLE SUIT IS SET FOR TRIAL.

Matter Affecting Osage Street Opening to Be Tried May 13.

The circuit court has fixed May 13 for trial of the suit of William K. Noble against the city on appeal from the board of works in the matter of opening Osage street across the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railway tracks and if no further delays arise the cause will be determined within a few days. The board awarded Noble $2,500 damages for the portion of his property north of the Lake Shore tracks necessary to the street opening. He refused to accept the award and appealed to the circuit court, demanding $20,000 damages. The suit has been pending for a year or two. It has not been pressed because the city wished to have it tried under a new law that gives the city the option to rescind all action and pay back to property owners the assessments they have paid in and also to make a reassessment to cover any excess of damages the courts may award, thus protecting the general fund of the city. There is a prospect that the suit may be compromised before the day set for trial. The board of works and the city's legal department will consider reasonable proposals for settlement. If no settlement is reached and the court awards more than the city officials believes should be paid, the street will be opened across the Nickel Plate to Burgess street and the Lake Shore opening will be made probably at DeGroff street.

WAR ON A CLEANING PLANT.

The board of works and Building Inspector Philip Wyss have under consideration a remonstrance filed by a committee of property owners in the square bound by Calhoun, Williams, Harrison and Butler streets protesting against the establishment of the plant of the Princess Dry Cleaning company at 2004-6-8 Calhoun street. The remonstrants say the odors produced by chemicals that will be used in the plant will create a nuisance in the neighborhood.

WEIGHTS LAW APPLIES.

City Sealer C. B. Tolan has been advised by H. E. Barnard, state commissioner of weights and measures that the regulations enforced by the state bureau of weights and measures apply to sand, gravel and rock and that the capacity of wagons used for hauling these should be determined in cubic feet instead of cubic yards. Commissioner Barnard says that the use of a wagon for hauling these materials, when it does not hold the stated amount, is just as fraudulent as the use of a short half-bushel measure or a short-weight scale. The sealer and other officers are instructed to see that the law requiring honest measures is obeyed in respect of the materials mentioned.

TO EXAMINE FLUSHERS.

Mayor W. J. Hosey and Street Superintendent Herman Strodel went to Peru, Ind., Friday afternoon to inspect a street flusher, recently purchased there, that has a small gasoline rotary pump equipment. If it is found to work well two horse-drawn flushers owned by this city will be equipped with similar pumps and made modern and more useful. They are compressed air flushers and have serious drawbacks that it is believed pump equipments will correct.

The engineering department of the Pennsylvania railroad will receive bids on Saturday, May 15, for construction of the subway at the Wayne trace grade separation. The contract will include all the work to be done both for the railroad and the county.

ST. JOSEPH CLASSIS AT GRACE REFORMED

Forty-third Annual Meeting of This Body Begins Here Tuesday, May 11.

The forty-third annual meeting of the St. Joseph Classis of the Reformed churches will be held at the Grace Reformed church, Rev. A. K. Zartman pastor, next week, beginning Tuesday evening, May 11. This classis is composed of nearly fifty churches of northern Indiana and southern Michigan and it is expected that over 75 delegates will be present. The officers of this body are Rev. C. E. Albright, of Detroit, president; Rev. Freeman Ware, of White Pigeon, Mich., clerk, and Rev. W. H. Hand, of Culver, treasurer.

The opening session will be held Tuesday evening when the retiring president, Rev. Albright, will deliver a sermon on the subject, "The Imperative Need of Constructive Preaching." The business session will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the Woman's Missionary society of the classis will also be held next week at Grace Reformed beginning Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when the annual reports will be submitted and the committees appointed. The officers of this body are: President, Mrs. H. B. Diefenbach, and secretary, Mrs. Jesse Zehner.

The fortieth annual meeting of the Sunday schools of the same classis opens Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. A. K. Zartman will deliver the address of welcome and Prof. E. O. Sellers of Moody Bible institute, Chicago, will deliver the address on the subject, "Teaching of Missions in the Sunday Schools." The various officers will read the annual reports Tuesday afternoon at the session beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

ROANOKE NEWS.

Roanoke, Ind., May 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Humoner and children motored to Wabash Sunday, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Roy Tudor.

The commencement exercises were held at the United Brethren church Tuesday evening. James H. Shaw, of Bloomington, Ill., delivered the address, the subject being "Horace Man and the Public Schools." Music was furnished by the Stag orchestra. The seniors are Misses Clella Wygant, Frieda Broxon, Minnie Crawford, Louis Van Arsdol and Clouey Goff and Messrs. John Schwab, Russel Wake, Paul Hatfield, Fredric Wade, Burwell Crow, Frank Goings, Allen Van Arsdol and Eldon Wygant. The girls were all dressed in white voile. Their class motto was, "To Succeed Is to Excel." Colors, red and white; flowers, lilies of the valley. After the commencement exercises they marched in a body to the Masonic hall, where they were given a reception by the juniors. The juniors were dressed in white middy suits with lavender ties, lavender and white being their class colors. The room was beautifully decorated with red carnations and purple hyacinths. A three course luncheon was served and music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Balar Carter. Little Virginia Biggs and Ellen Wasmuth acted as flower girls.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Blum and son, Hillferd, were Sunday guests at the Milton Dennis home, near Homestead.

Rev. Gillispie and daughter, of Saturn, took Sunday dinner at the Harvey Jackson home.

GEORGE W. LINDEMUTH.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of George W. Lindemuth, 525 Wildwood avenue, as captain of deputies of the fish and game department of northern Indiana, succeeding Rodney D. Fleming.

Mr. Lindemuth has always been an ardent sportsman and is fully qualified for the position to which he has been appointed. He is a former auditor of Allen county, completing his term on January 1, 1911, and for two years after retiring from office was engaged in the manufacture of cement blocks at Wolcottville. Returning to Fort Wayne about a year and a half ago he engaged in the real estate and insurance business with David C. Stout.

Mr. Fleming retires after sixteen years of service in the fish and game department of the state. Six years ago he was appointed head of the deputies in the northern half of the state.

TO HEAR MRS. WOODBURY.

Noted Missionary at Plymouth Church Next Tuesday—State Delegates.

The Young Ladies' Missionary society of Plymouth Congregational church, in conjunction with the Ladies' Missionary society of the same church, will bring to Fort Wayne next Tuesday for two addresses Mrs. Ida Woodbury, a noted missionary.

A general invitation to the public, especially the members of other local missionary societies, is extended on the occasion of Mrs. Woodbury's address at Plymouth church at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when she will speak on Alaskan missions, and also in the evening, when the speaker will tell of the work among the mountain whites.

At a meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary society of Plymouth church Miss Evelyn Archibald was chosen as the delegate of the society to the state conference at Marion, which will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Indiana conference of Congregational churches and ministers.

BASEBALL POOLS UNDER POLICE BAN

The selling of baseball pools, a species of gambling that has had extensive patronage here for several years, has been put under the ban of the police in Fort Wayne. Chief Lenz on Thursday instructed Captain Kelly, night commandant, to notify all cigar store proprietors and other persons who have been engaged in pool selling on baseball games that these violations of the law must cease at once. While this variety of gambling does not take much from any one of the patrons of the "sport," the number who play the pools is large and in the aggregate much money goes into the play every week. Prosecution will be alternative to obedience to the order of Chief Lenz.

LUSITANIA IS TORPEDOED

SUBMARINE SENDS GREAT LINER DOWN

Officials Yet Without Definite News Regarding More Than 1,200 Passengers Aboard

Great Cunarder Meets Fate Off Coast of Ireland--Impressive Warnings on Leaving New York Recalled

New York, May 7.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, one of the fastest ships afloat, was torpedoed and sunk this afternoon off the coast of Ireland, ten miles south of Kinsale.

She had aboard 1,253 passengers. She sailed from this port last Saturday, May 1, and carried, in addition to her own large passenger list, 163 passengers transferred to her from the Anchor liner Cameronia.

One of the messages announcing the fate of the vessel said it was believed all the pasengers of the big liner had ben saved.

No definite news as to the fate of the passengers had been received by the Cunard line here early this afternoon.

The news of her sinking was announced by the local office of the Cunard line and was based on cable advices received from the home office of the company in Liverpool.

Three dispatches received in the order named were made publis by the line and read as follows:

Dispatches Made Public.

"We received from the Landsend wireless station news of repeated distress calls made by the Lusitania asking for assistance at once. Big list. Position ten miles south of Kinsale. Subsequently received telegram from Queenstown that all available craft in the harbor had been dispatched to assist."

The second message to the local office read: "Queenstown, 4:59 p. m.—About twenty boats of all sorts belonging to our line are in vicinity where Lusitania sunk. About fifteen other boats are making for spot to render assistance."

The third telegram was dated Liverpool and read:

"Following received by admiralty: Galleyhead, 4:25 p. m.—Several boats, apparently survivors, southeast nine miles. Greek steamer proceeding to assistance."

Dispatches received here from London, Liverpool and Queenstown confirm the news.

Will Make Public News.

The Cunard line announced that it would make public as fast as it received all dispatches on the sinking of the Lusitania, including those relating to the fate of the passengers.

The stock market was stunned by the news. A torrent of selling orders poured in from every section of the country. A period of intense excitement followed. Prices in war specialties broke 15 to 30 points within an hour. Stable issues dropped 5 to 10 points.

Strikes Washington Like Bomb.

The news struck official Washington like a bomb. Administration officials, it was said, realized that the incident was probably the most serious faced by the government since the beginning of the war. President Wilson was informed of the sinking of the liner and white house officials, while refraining from comment, were keenly anxious to learn if any American lives had been lost.

Late today the Cunard line officials received a dispatch from Queenstown stating that a large steamer and many small vessels and boats were in the vicinity rendering assistance.

The dispatch follows: "Large steamer just arrived in vicinity. Apparently rendering assistance. Tugs, patrols, etc., now on the spot taking boats in tow. Motor fishing boats, with two Lusitania boats, bearing probably for Kinsale." This information came from Old Head, via Queenstown.

Off Irish Seaport.

Kinsale, off which the Lusitania was torpedoed, is a seaport of Ireland, thirteen miles southwest of Cork. It lies near the entrance of St. George's Channel between Ireland and England, through which trans-Atlantic liners pass on their way to Liverpool.

It was the steamer Lusitania whose flying of the American flag in the month of February on her way from Queenstown to Liverpool in order to protect her against possible attack by a German submarine, caused considerable astonishment by the British foreign office justifying the use of a neutral flag under circumstances such as these.

The Lusitania was one of the largest of the trans-Atlantic liners as well as one of the speediest. She was built in Glasgow in 1906. She was 785 feet long, 88 feet beam and 60 feet deep. Her gross tonnage was 32,500 and her net tonnage 9,145. She was owned by the Cunard Steamship company, Ltd., of Liverpool. Her captain was W. T. Turner.

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—(7:50 p. m.)—The manager of the Cunard company has informed the Liverpool Evening Express that he received this afternoon the following message from the wireless station at Old Head, off Kinsale:

"The Lusitania was sunk by a submarine at 2:33 o'clock this afternoon, eight miles south by west (off this point)."

BULLETIN.

Liverpool, May 7.—(5:43 p. m.)—The Echo has been informed that a message to the Cunard line reads as follows: "The Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk at 2:33 this afternoon, off Kinsale.

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—It is believed that the Lusitania's passengers are safe. No details of how they may have been rescued, however, are at hand. One message received here says: "It is not known how many of the Lusitania's passengers were saved." Relief was immediately sent out from Queenstown. If she floated a reasonable length of time before going down it is possible that some of the rescuing ships got to her side. It is believed the Lusitania's water tight bulkheads would tend to keep her afloat.

BULLETIN.

New York, May 7.—Among the first cabin passengers on the Lusitania were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bliss Thompson, of Indiana.

Queenstown, May 7.—News received here from the Lusitania at 3:25 p. m. said that before sinking her life boats were over her sides.

Presence Was Known.

The presence of German submarines off the southern coast of Ireland and along the line of travel the Lusitania would follow in going to Liverpool, was made known in a dispatch from Glasgow last night which recited that the British steamer Cherbury has been torpedoed in the Atlantic ocean, off the Irish coast. This was on April 29. Two other vessels were sent to the Bottom more recently, the Centurian and the Candidate. Just where the ships were attacked has not been made known but their destinations lead to the belief that one or more German submarines have been operating in the lines of trans-Atlantic travel. It may be that they were waiting for the Lusitania and in the meanwhile attacked such other vessels as came within their range.

The Lusitania was a product of the race for speed which was carried on for years among trans-Atlantic steamship companies, particularly of England and Germany. When the Lusitania was launched she was the wonder of the maritime world. Her mastery of the sea from the standpoint of speed was undisputed.

The progress of the Lusitania on her first voyage to New York was watched by the world.

Warned Before Sailing.

When the Lusitania sailed she had aboard 1,310 passengers. Some nervousness had been caused because of the publication in the morning papers of Saturday of an advertisement warning intending travelers that a state of war existed between Germany and Great

WILL CONCEDE JAP DEMANDS

Japanese Ultimatum Formally Presented by Eki Hioki.

Peking, May 7.—(6 p. m.)—Eki Hioki, the Japanese minister to China, went to the Chinese foreign office between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon and presented the Japanese ultimatum which insists that China accede to the demands presented by the Tokio government.

There is good reason to believe that China is prepared to concede everything demanded by Japan realizing that the situation is hopeless. This possible outcome to the present tense situation is not generally comprehended in Peking; consequently a number of foreign residents, as well as Chinese themselves, are today packing their personal belongings and otherwise preparing for eventualities.

It was asserted here today that the Japanese government yesterday presented to the Chinese minister at Tokio a note warning him that China must accept the demands of Japan, as otherwise there would be presented to her an ultimatum the expiration of which would be fixed for 6 p. m. of Sunday, May 9.

Dr. Carman's Testimony is Identical With That in First Trial.

Mineola, N. Y., May 7.—Dr. Edward Carman described on the witness stand today in his wife's trial on the charge of murder, the shooting of Mrs. Louise Bailey in his office in Freeport, June 30, last. His story was identical with that related by him in the first trial.

Mrs. Carman who had prepared to testify in her own behalf late today, followed his testimony closely. It was dark, Dr. Carman said, when he heard the crash of glass, and looking up saw a hand grasping a revolver thrust through the broken window. The state contends that the shooting occurred while it was yet daylight and opposes the theory of the defense that the assailant escaped in the darkness.

Before Dr. Carman was called to the stand, William R. Smith, engineer of the electric light plant at Freeport, testified that the street lights were turned on at 8:16 o'clock on the night of the shooting.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE GENERALLY OBSERVED

White carnations, symbolic of maternal devotion, will be the national flower on Sunday, May 9. Mother's day is to be observed in the churches and elsewhere on that date. The carnation was selected as the flower by Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, who started the observance.

Not only in thousands of churches, but in penitentiaries where the golden light of maternal affection seldom penetrates, the day will be observed.

Mother's day will be observed in the schools of the county on Monday if the request of D. O. McComb, county superintendent, is complied with.

GERMANS YET CLING TO FAMOUS HILL 60

Berlin, May 7.—(Via London, 4:06 p. m.)—The German general headquarters staff today gave out the following statement: "In the western theater: All attempts today of the English at Ypres to wrest away from us Hill 60, which since April 17 has formed the focus of fighting, failed. We gained further territory there in the direction of Ypres. During the battles there yesterday the enemy lost seven machine guns, one mine thrower and a large number of rifles with ammunition. During a continuation of their attack this morning, the British again suffered further heavy losses.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle we maintained the territory gained in the Meuse hills and southwest and west of the forrest of Ailly.

"At Fliery, a small portion of a trench forming part of our position is still in possession of the French. Otherwise all their attacks were repulsed.

"Attempts of the enemy to make an attack on Steinburick, in the valley of Fecht, was quashed at the start by our fire.

"In the eastern theater: The battles to the south of Szadow and east of Roscinie ended in a decided defeat for the Russians who suffered heavy losses. In prisoners alone, they lost 1,500 men and are in full retreat."

BATTLE STILL RAGING.

Fierce Engagement in Ypres Region Has Not Been Decided.

London, May 7.—The battle to decide the mastery of hill No. 60, and the desolated country around Ypres, has not yet reached its final climax. Neither have the Russians shown signs of accepting the German claim that a crushing defeat has been inflicted upon them in western Galicia.

That the Russians have been pushed back many miles, first across the Dunajec and now across the Wistoka river, which parallels the Dunajec 150 miles to the eastward, the dispatches from German and Austrian sources insist, but the English newspapers still refuse to concede a great victory to the Austro-Germans, although they admit that a great tentative success has been achieved.

ROOSEVELT LAWYERS SEEK TO SHOW WASTE

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7.—Testimony designed to show that there was waste in the execution of orders and contracts for public printing was presented in the supreme court here today by counsel for Theodore Roosevelt. Charmes M. Winchester, general manager of the J. B. Lyon company, testified to talking with Wm. Barnes about billing work ordered by the Journal company to public officials, instead of to the Journal company direct. Mr. Barnes he said, wanted the bills sent to the Journal.

Col. Roosevelt apparently was not much interested in the evidence presented. While the witnesses were testifying, he sat at the table occupied by his counsel and studiously read Greek poetry.

FROST IS PREDICTED.

There is going to be another frost Friday night, according to the predictions of H. C. Collman, who is temporarily in charge of the local weather bureau. If the skies clear sufficiently there is every reason to believe that the frost will be a heavy one. Warmer weather is predicted for Saturday, but there is to be a drop of several degrees Friday night

MAKE FIRST ATTACK ON CONSTANTINOPLE

Paris, May 7.—(7:20 a. m.)—The first attack on the war on Constantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs which are believed to have caused extensive damage.

The message says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts on the left bank of the Bosphorus on Wednesday. Several Russian shells fell within about ten miles of Constantinople.

NEW SUBMARINE VICTIM.

British Steamer Candidate Sent Down Off Irish Coast.

London, May 7.—The British steamer Candidate was torpedoed by a German submarine yesterday off Waterford, Ireland. The members of her crew were saved. The Candidate was of 3,826 net register. Built in Glasgow in 1906; she was 398 feet long and owned in Liverpool where she arrived April 9 from New Orleans.

Official announcement is made in a dispatch from Constantinople that severe losses have been inflicted on the French and British troops which have been landed on Gallipoli peninsula. It is said one entire battalion was annihilated in an attack on the allied left wing and that in another engagement lost heavily both in men and war munitions.

Reports reaching London from the Dardanelles while containing no new details of the land fighting say that the bombardment by the allied fleet of the Turkish fortifications is proceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Chanak and Kilid Bahr, and probably others on both sides of the straits up to the narrows are said to have been silenced.

The exact status of affairs in the great battle of western Galicia remains in doubt. German and Austrian reports of a spectacular victory are increasingly optimistic. They state that the resistance of the Russians is being broken down steadily and that the whole Carpathian army of the Russians has been placed in a precarious situation. Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to the Teutonic allies say these claims are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry in the Carpathians further east than the scene of the present main battle.

Reports that Italy would settle peacefully her differences with Austria apparently are passing as speedily as they were developed a few days ago. The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make and Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost confidence in a favorable outcome. A German school in Rome was closed on receipt of a telegram from Berlin and the exodus of Germans from Italy is continuing in increasing numbers.

Austria is making energetic military preparations for a possible attack by Italy.

Mr. G. G. Richmond, Popular Wabash Brakeman Endorses Herbal Lax-a-Tone for Stomach Troubles.

MR. G. G. RICHMOND.

Mr. Richmond, who is a well known and popular Wabash brakeman, and belongs to D. of R. T. No. 133, and has run from Toledo to Fort Wayne for a long time, says: "I have suffered with stomach trouble a great many years and could find no relief and as a last resort tried Herbal Lax-a-Tone, and its effects have been wonderful, and I can heartily endorse it for stomach and kidney trouble to any one needing a good spring tonic that will make you feel like new."

If you have sour acid stomach, constipation, gas, bloat, sick headaches, bilious spells, sluggish liver, weak kidneys, feel tired out and languid, this remedy will convince you.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS SWELL THE CROWDS

Interest in Evangelistic Campaign in Terre Haute Increasing.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 7.—Students in the high school are taking unusual interest in the evangelistic meetings being conducted in this city by Dr. Milford H. Lyon.

The high schools marched to the tabernacle, each accompanied by a band, and immediately upon arrival, the Wiley students presented the evangelist with a beautiful bunch of red roses. Not to be outdone, Garfield students had baked a cake, which was presented by their principal and which was carefully watched throughout the evening by the members of the Lyon party.

Sermon to Young People.

Dr. Lyon's sermon was prepared especially for the young people who were before him and was entitled, "The Power of Choice" in which he pointed out the various ways to choose life's work, life's partners and finally to choose between life and death. The final portion of the sermon was in the form of an urgent appeal for all the young people who had not previously professed themselves to do so at the time.

"I have spoken to a number of high school people and in fact have a 'high school' night wherever I go, but I must say this is one of the liveliest bunches of high school students which ever has been before me," said Rev. Lyon. "I thought to myself while sitting here and listening to your yells and songs, 'There's the power that's going to move old Terre Haute onward and upward. This is indeed the age of young people."

65 HIGH SCHOOLS TO FIGURE IN CONTESTS

State Field and Track Meet May 15 Will Be Big Event.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—Sixty-five high schools with a total of 232 athletes are entered in the state high school field and track meet to be held here Saturday, May 15, according to figures published here today. This is the largest number of schools and also the largest number of athletes ever to participate in the state high school athletic tournament. At the meet at Crawfordsville last year, only 42 schools, with a total number of 208 entrants took part.

With anything like favorable conditions a number of state records are expected to be broken. Every contestant entered in the meet must have made in a fair test a record equal to the following in every event entered: 100 yard dash, 11 seconds; 220 yard dash, 26 seconds; 440 yard dash, 58 seconds; half mile run, 2 minutes 20 seconds; mile run, 5 minutes 15 seconds; 120 yard high hurdle, 19 seconds; 220 yard low hurdle, 29 seconds; running high jump, 5 feet; running broad jump, 19 feet; polevault, 8 feet 9 inches; putting shot, 36 feet; throwing discus, 90 feet.

According to the entry list, Evansville will be represented by seven athletes, Lafayette 9, Gary high school of Terre Haute by 1, Richmond by 5 and South Bend by 8.

ENGLISH PRESS COUNSELS PEACE

Hopes China and Japan May Spare Mankind New Visitation of War.

London, May 7.—The Times in a leading editorial on the Chino-Japanese situation, after expressing the hope that China and Japan may spare mankind the misery of another visitation of war, adds:

"This hope is not encouraged by the latest messages from Tokio and Peking, nevertheless there seems to linger the feeling in both capitals that matters may not go to extremities. This expectation is no longer entirely shared in Washington, where the situation is being closely watched.

"Japan's victorious expulsion of the Germans from Chinese soil and from the far east gave her opportunities which it was manifest she would use. She was not likely to forgo this occasion of impressing upon China once for all that she is a great power. This is a matter on which Japanese feeling is particularly sensitive, and in the past China some times has shown a foolish and arrogant disregard for her sensibilities.

"Whatever may have been Japan's original demands, she has shown a certain readiness to modify them in the later course of the negotiations, owing to more mature consideration and possibly to the accession of strength which the recent elections brought to the Okuma cabinet.

"We believe that Japan would be hardly less ill-advised than China were she to permit matters even now to proceed to extremities. Denial by Washington that anything has been initiated towards actual mediation has a significance in the present state of American feeling, which can scarcely be missed in Tokio.

The high reputation for sagacity and moderation which Japanese statesmen have acquired all over the world, would undoubtedly be impaired were she short-sighted enough now to take the course likely to arouse the jealousy and hostility of the other great powers after the European war. This war will not last forever and in the period of great commercial activity which will follow it, in the far east, the good will and confidence of the others will be of importance to her. Nothing could prejudice them more than the suspicion that while they were involved in a life and death struggle in Europe, she seized the occasion to press her private interests.

"We expect even now at the eleventh hour that she will exert her high abilities to avert a catastrophe and to justify once again British confidence in Japan and British sympathy with all legitimate development and expansion of her interests in the far east."

U. S. MAKES KNOWN ORIENTAL POLICY

Administration in Statement of Attitude Regarding China and Japan.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—After having preserved an absolute silence for nearly three months on the Chinese-Japanese negotiations, the administration last night made the following statement of its attitude:

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding of the position of the United States in reference to the negotiations pending between Japan and China, this announcement is made:

"At the beginning of negotiations the Japanese government confidentially informed this government of the matters which were under discussion and accompanied the information by the assurance that Japan had no intention of interfering with either the political independence or terirtorial integrity of China, and that nothing that she proposed would discriminate against other powers having treaties with China, or interfere with the 'open door' policy to which all the leading nations are committed.

"This government has not only had no thought of surrendering any of its treaty rights with China, but it has never been asked by either Japan or China to make any surrender of these rights. There is no abatement of its interest in the welfare and progress of China and its sole interest in the present negotiations is that they may be concluded in a manner satisfactory to both nations and that the terms of the agreement will not only contribute to the prosperity of both of these great oriental empires but maintain that cordial relationship so essential to the future of both and to the peace of the world."

PLOT TO WRECK A TRAIN IS FOILED

Lexington, May 7.—Kentucky authorities are seeking the perpetrators of what was apparently an attempt to wreck a special train carrying Illinois Central Railway officials on an inspection trip of the company's lines from Chicago to New Orleans.

S. G. Hatch, passenger traffic manager; H. J. Phelps, general manager, and George H. Bower, general passenger agent of Chicago, were among the men on the train.

W. R. Lust, a railroad lineman, who was going over his route at O'Rell, heard the special's whistle and stopped his handcar preparatory to removing it from the rails, when he saw a big spike wedged in a space where the rails were spliced. He dug that out and then noticed another spike similarly wedged a few feet away. This he removed a few seconds before the train went by.

21 DEAD IN SOUTH IS TOLL OF STORM

New Orleans, La., May 7.—The death toll of the wind storm which devastated Acadia parish, in southwestern Louisiana and Conhoma county, in northwestern Mississippi yesterday today stood at twenty-one. All but one were negroes.

Fifteen were killed at Egan and Mermentu, in Acadia parish and six near Clarksdale and Jonestown, Miss.

Forty-five more persons are known to have been injured in Acadia parish, some of them seriously.

Early estimates placed the property loss there at $500,000. Many buildings were demolished at Mermentu, twenty were destroyed at Egan and all farm houses in the path of the storm are reported to have been razed.

The storm which visited Mississippi was accompanied by heavy rain and railway tracks in several sections of the state were inundated. Washouts north of Magnolia delayed traffic on the Illinois Central for several hours.

SAYS WOMAN DOPED CAKE FOR HUSBAND

Racine, Wis., May 7.—George Zabornick has confessed that Mrs. Marie Kasala, the 26-year-old wife of Simon Kasala, killed by eating cake containing strychnine, administered the poison at his insistence, according to the police report. It is charged that this was the third attempt on the husband's life.

Once, Zabornick says, he tried to pick a quarrel with the husband and did hit him on the head with a brick, but was not successful in killing him. Zabornick says he bought arsenic four times, and after refusing to use it three times the wife tried it the fourth time, and only made her husband sick.

Tuesday Kasala ate the poisoned cake and died in five minutes. Zabornick was caught through trying to destroy a letter containing the strychnine not used.

Zabornick told the police that he and the woman had been lovers for two years and wanted to get rid of Kasala so they could marry.

FIRST WEBB-KENYON LAW TEST IS ARGUED

Washington, May 7.—The first case involving the constitutionality and construction of the Webb-Kenyon liquor law by which congress sought to divest liquor intended for use in violation of state laws of its inter-state character, was up for argument today before the supreme court.

The case concerned the carrying of liquor by express into dry counties in Kentucky. Similar transportation of liquor into West Virginia was concerned in another case which had been advanced to be heard with the Kentucky case.

Officials of the Lafayette Place company entertained all the agents and dealers interested in the sale of the addition at a banquet Thursday evening at the Commercial club.

C. Henry, county agent, spoke Thursday evening at a meeting of the Scipio Township Farmers' club at the Scipio Center school.

One of the most delightful events of the season was the annual May party given Thursday evening by the local council, Knights of Columbus. The party was given for the members of the order and their ladies. More than three hundred were in attendance.

Many local Knights are contemplating going to South Bend next Tuesday to attend the state convention. The next regular meeting of the order will be held Monday evening. There will be a rhum party on the evening of May 19.

Several local members of the order are going to Garrett Sunday, where a large class of candidates is to be initiated.

COMMANDED LIGHT BRIGADE.

General Who Led Charge at Balaklava is Dead at 89 Years

London, May 7.—Lieut. Gen. William Henry Beaumont de Horsey, who commanded the famous Light brigade in its charge at Balaklava, died last night at the age of 89 years. He entered the army in 1844, became a major general in 1878 and retired in 1883. He was decorated for gallantry in the Crimean war.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—The appellate court holds that where railroads exchange passes for the officials of the two companies the administrator of an official of one of the roads who is killed while riding on one of the passes may recover damages for the death, although the pass has printed on it the words: "Not transferable. The person accepting and using this pass thereby assumes all risk of accident and damage to person or property."

The decision was made in affirming the Jay circuit court in giving judgment of $5,000 to Mary J. Justus, administratrix, against the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company for the death of Louis C. Justus, who was killed while riding on a pass with such a condition.

Mrs. Justus is the widow of a Bluffton man who was one of the victims of the trolley horror at Kingsland in September, 1910, when two score of passengers lost life.

DUSKY MAORI QUEENS SEEK RED-HEADED AMERICAN SOLDIER HUSBANDS.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Wanted—Three Americans for the husbands of Maori girls. Must be soldiers, young and have red hair. Apply at once at Maori Village on the Zone at the Pan-ama-Pacific International Exposition.

This is the appeal sent out from their thatched huts at the fair by three pretty Maori maidens—Rangi, aged 21; Mariet, 18, and Tairia, 17, who have decided that they want Americans for husbands to take back with them when the fair has closed, to their far-away island homes.

Any American will not do, however. He must have red hair. He must always wear a uniform with pretty bright yellow stripes down his pants' legs and a dash or two of the yellow upon his coat sleeves. And of course, he must be reasonably young. No men with whiskers need apply.

WHY Does red make a bull angry? Is a horseshoe said to bring good luck?
HOW Can the telephone carry our voice? Does a telegram get there?

CLUE TO MISSING GOLDEN FRANCIS

Roanoke Girl and Her Lover Said to Have Been Seen by Police of Indianapolis This Week.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—A telegram received by Theodore Francis, of Roanoke, father of Golden Francis, the 20-year-old girl of that town who disappeared a week ago today in this city, where she was a student in the business college, states that a young woman answering her description was seen two days ago in Indianapolis with a young man whose appearance tallies with that of Amos ("Red") Mendenhall, her lover, whom she is believed to have run away to meet. The telegram came from the Indianapolis police department. The girl's father is now investigating this clue. John McCaulifin, of Roanoke who was devoting his attention to the girl, had telegraphed from Terre Haute earlier that he had found traces of the girl in that city, but nothing has so far come from that clue. Mrs. Francis, the girl's mother, clings to her belief that her daughter has been drugged and is either in Huntington or Fort Wayne. The Fort Wayne police were enlisted several days ago by the marshal of Roanoke to try to find a trace of the girl in that city, but have been unable to gain any clue to her. Mrs. Francis now tells for the first time since her daughter's disappearance that two weeks before Golden passed from the sight of her friends, an elderly woman, dressed in black and wearing a white collar, engaged her in conversation in a Huntington store. The woman said her name was Miller and Golden commented on her actions and remarks. Mrs. Francis attached no significance to the incident at the time Golden told of it, but it has just come to her mind and she now believes the woman may have figured in the girl's disappearance. John McCaulifin, who boards at the Francis restaurant and is regarded almost as a member of the family, said that last Friday, the day the girl disappeared, Golden called his attention to the woman while he and Golden were in the court house here. He says the woman watched Golden constantly. McCaulifin also says he saw "Red" Mendenhall in Huntington the same day. Some time ago Mendenhall worked in Roanoke and boarded at the Francis restaurant. He paid much attention to the girl at that time. Mr. Francis and McCaulifin have been abroad all this week in their search for the missing girl.

WHY HE WANTED TO DIE.

Fred Fitzgerald Huntington, Had Just Assaulted a Girl.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—Fred Fitzgerald is under arrest here charged with criminal assault on Fern Droud, a 15-year-old orphan girl who is a ward of the orphans' home at Mexico, Ind., and in the shocking story told to the police by his victim is found the motive for Fitzgerald's attempt to commit suicide last Tuesday night by swallowing carbolic acid. It was for a time supposed that Fitzgerald's attempt to end his life was due to dementia brought on by business troubles. He did not succeed in swallowing much of the poison, but he terribly burned his hands and face. He had brought the Droud girl to his restaurant to work Tuesday afternoon in place of Mrs. Fitzgerald, who had been taken ill. Tuesday night he took the girl in an automobile to carry her back to the home of Mrs. C. C. Miller, on the Stults pike, north of Huntington, where she had been staying. According to the girl's story, Fitzgerald drove into the country and outraged her. She later left the car and walked home. She did not tell of her terrible experience for two days. Fearing that he would be exposed by the girl Fitzgerald tried to take his life, according to the police theory. An affidavit charging criminal assault was filed against him.

TO FIGHT BLIND TIGERS.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—Now that Hartford City has voted dry, the temperance people plan an active organization to keep out blind tigers. Following the outcome of the election plans for this organization were taken up at once. Of course, this body will not begin its vigilance until later in the summer, when the saloons go out of business. Rev. E. E. Trippeer, of Grace M. E. church, stated that this organization would do all in its power to keep blind tigers out of the city. He spoke in a way which showed that he believed it would be possible to do so. This organization will be effected in the near future.

PIERCETON RESIDENT DEAD.

Pierceton, Ind., May 7.—Joseph Taylor, a pioneer of Kosciusko county, died at his home in Pierceton Thursday afternoon after an illness of long duration. He was sixty-nine years old. Mr. Taylor was prominent in the earlier history of Kosciusko county. Of late years he was connected with the Reid-Murdock pickle factory at Pierceton. He was elected county clerk in 1878 and served for four years, after which he was re-elected for a second term. For a number of years he was in the lumber business with his brother. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

WERE WED IN MICHIGAN.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—A letter from T. P. Redding, a former Wells county resident, now living at Traverse City, Mich., conveys some news of interest to the many relatives and friends in Wells county. Announcement is made of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Winifred Redding, and Mr. Ivan Lawrence, which took place recently at Traverse City. He says that Mr. Lawrence is a young farmer and he and his bride have moved onto his farm three miles west of Traverse City.

BABE'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—Word was received in this city today of the death of the three-year-old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orel Markins, who formerly lived in this county. The Markins family at the present time are residents of Oklahoma. The child fell into a tub of scalding hot water and was scalded from head to foot.

AT KENDALLVILLE NEXT.

Ben-Hur Congress Elects Officers at Bluffton Session.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—Kendallville was chosen as next year's meeting place for the Northern Indiana Fraternal congress of the Tribe of Ben-Hur at its session which came to a close here yesterday afternoon. Columbia City and Bluffton teams confer the work at next year's congress. Officers elected were: Past chief, Ida Broughman, Marion; chief, W. H. Bertch, South Bend; judge, Joseph Brinsley, Fort Wayne; teacher, Henrietta Hay, Elkhart; scribe, C. M. Hunt, Kokomo; keeper of tribute, A. L. Miller, South Bend; captain, Mary E. Artman, Decatur; guide, Cora Logan, Marion; keeper of the inner gate, Joseph Davis, Wabash; keeper of the outer gate, E. L. Thompson, Bluffton; pianist, Belle Roos, Garrett.

POLICEMAN FINALLY FIRED.

Van Wert, O., May 7.—Patrolman James Gamble has finally been permanently retired from the police force of Van Wert by the findings of the civil service commission, which after a thorough hearing on appeal of the accused officer sustained the action of Safety Director McMillen, who dismissed Gamble some weeks ago. Disobedience of orders, violation of departmental rules, loitering in and about places of amusement and business instead of patrolling his beat and speaking disrespectfully of fellow patrolmen and superiors were some of the charges against him. This was the fourth time Gamble had had charges preferred against him. Political pull is said to have kept his place for him.

SYRACUSE SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Syracuse, Ind., May 7.—Twenty-five students will be graduated from the Syracuse high school at commencement exercises to be held this evening in the opera house. Mrs. Julia F. Walker, editor of the Educators' Journal, will deliver the address. Following are the graduates: Catherine Rothenberger, Georgia Whistler, Melvin Dilleen, Elvah Pearson, Helen Hoy, Gladys Deardorff, Charles Branham, Ina Bushong, Velma Shock, Clela Hoch, Mary Cory, Hugh Kitson, Marion Stricby, Mildred Edgel, Emma Rentfson, Helen Wold, Mildred Akers, Vida Dewart, Phyllis Miles, Hattie Sellers, Bernice Shannon, Dwight Ketring, Clifford Voorhees and Charles Bushong.

MONTPELIER TO FIGHT SALOON.

Montpelier, Ind., May 7.—Will Montpelier, the only wet place in Blackford county, now vote on the liquor question? This is the question which has been asked on all hands now that Hartford City has spoken for the drys. At a meeting of the tabernacle people, held in Montpelier, it was determined to have Evangelist George Stephens, who has been conducting a meeting there for the past five weeks, come back to Montpelier for Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. At that time it is expected that something will be "sprung."

VICIOUS DOG ATTACKS CHILD.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—The little four-year-old daughter of Orville Johnson, of Mayne street, was seriously bitten by a tramp hound that came to the Johnson home several days ago. A number of little children were playing around the dog which had just been fed. The dog seemed friendly, but suddenly turned on the little girl and bit her in the face. A gash about one inch long was inflicted on her upper lip and a cut one-half inch long on the lower lip. One of her upper teeth was knocked out.

OLD BUILDING CONDEMNED.

Kendallville, Ind., May 7.—An old pressed brick building just north of the New York Central tracks, on North Main street was condemned by the city board of health and George Kihm, city fire chief, who made a thorough inspection of the structure. The officials visited the building this morning and found three families residing in the building, which was declared to be unsanitary and a veritable fire trap. The families were ordered to move from the building immediately.

KENDALLVILLE COUPLE WED.

Albion, Ind., May 7.—Herman Remenap and Mrs. Ethel McKee, both of Kendallville, were married at the Lutheran parsonage Thursday by the Rev. C. S. Bream. Only the necessary witnesses were present. The bridegroom is a lumber salesman and has been traveling in Michigan most of his time. The bride lived in Kendallville some years. Mr. and Mrs. Remenap will spend their honeymoon at the San Francisco exposition and other places of interest. They will start for the west this week.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT FILED.

Bluffton, Ind., May 7.—The damage suit of Adelbert E. Sparrow against the Erie Stone company has been filed in the circuit court here on change of venue from Adams county, having been sent there from the Huntington circuit court. Sparrow demands damages in the sum of $10,000 for personal injuries sustained in an accident at Huntington. The case was tried once at Decatur and a verdict for $3,000 damages given. The court granted a motion for a new trial and then a change of venue was taken.

MOTHER DESERTS HER BABES.

Pierceton, Ind., May 7.—A female fox that has been kept as a pet at the Bresnahan hardware store here for some time, escaped from her cage in the basement of the store and abandoning her young cubs that had scarcely got their eyes open disappeared. The mother fox has not since been seen although the building has been searched for her and tempting food has been placed about. It is believed she has gone back to the woods to seek her mate. The little foxes are thriving well on the bottle.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT.

Decatur, Ind., May 7.—Floyd Enos, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Enos, suffered a severe and painful injury in his hand and was otherwise bruised and hurt in the vicinity of Toscin, as he and Peter Bollinger were returning home from the motorcycle races at Montpelier. The machine turned over, pinioning Floyd's hand as he tumbled over with it. Bollinger was unhurt.

MASONS FOR HALF CENTURY.

Hartford City, Ind., May 7.—At a banquet in the Masonic hall Clark Stewart, Dr. H. C. Davisson, A. J. Klugh and Joseph H. Rhoades celebrates their fiftieth anniversary in Masonry. The Montpelier lodge were the guests of honor. Attorney A. G. Emshwiller was the toastmaster of the evening and a number of excellent talks were given. Quartet music and other features made the evening a very enjoyable one.

SUFFERS SIXTH FRACTURE.

Huntington, Ind., May 7.—Mrs. Amanda Cain, age seventy-nine, fell when in her yard on Wesley street suffering a severe fracture of her left arm. The bones were both broken just above the wrist, and one bone was forced through the flesh. The same arm had been broken twice previously from falls in the last few years. About three years ago she suffered a broken leg. The other arm had been broken twice.

ROBBERS RAID HICKSVILLE.

Hicksville, Ohio, May 7.—Robbers made a raid on Hicksville stores in the early morning hours and before the campaign had ended five places had been burglarized. The Maxwell Brothers' Clothing company, the Bilderbeck harness shop, the S. O. Crowley 10-cent store, the Duncan restaurant and the Warfield restaurant were entered, but the burglars got little. About $30 cash was the total of their haul, so far as can be ascertained. An unlocked safe containing $200 was overlooked in the Maxwell store. In each case entrance was gained through rear windows. Local amateur talent is held responsible for the robberies. Bloodhounds here from Leipsic, Ohio, failed to trail the thieves.

FARMER SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Ossian, Ind., May 7.—Allen Bushet, a widely known farmer of Wells county, was suddenly stricken with heart trouble Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Howard Bushet, near this place, and died almost at once. He was at work in the yard when the stroke came and had apparently been in excellent health. He was 67 years old, a native of this county and had spent his entire life here. His wife died some years ago and his surviving children are Howard, Clark and Alfred Bushet and Mrs. John Confer and Mrs. Charles Kummer, all of this county.

DEATHS AND BIRTHS EQUAL.

Portland, Ind., May 7.—Deaths equalled the births in this city during April, there being eight each, as shown by the report on vital statistics filed today by Dr. J. E. Nixon, health commissioner.

OATS SMUT CAMPAIGN.

Indiana Farmers That Treat Seeds Have Much Better Crop Yields.

Washington, May 7.—The agricultural department in a bulletin issued today says: "In the recent Indiana oats smut campaign, more than fifty meetings, with a total attendance of 2,500 farmers, were held in Montgomery, Boone, Delaware, Randolph, Madison, Grant, Allen, Pulaski, Benton, Wells and Steuben counties. A botanist of the extension department and the county agent in each of these counties had charge of the work. Results in a similar campaign last year showed that where the seed was treated less than 1 per cent. of smut was found, while fileds sown with untreated seed had an average of 13 per cent. From 1 to 80 per cent. of smut has been found in Indiana fields, showing that many have at least one-third smutted heads. The formalin treatment of seed oats increased the yield from one to twenty-five bushels an acre. One out of eighty farmers treated their seed oats two years ago, but as a result of these campaigns, five out of eighty treated their seed oats this year."

So pewerful is the jaw of the swordfish from which the sword projects that it has been known, in attacking vessels, to pierce through oak timbers to the depth of ten inches.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

M. R. writes: "I have suffered with dyspepsia, or nervous indigestion more or less for 8 years, and I want you to prescribe treatment for me; my symptoms are the usual ones, such as pain and distress after eating, sour stomach, headache, heart-burn, and pain in regions of heart, or between shoulders, constipation, or sometimes diarrhea, coated tongue, bad breath and a score more. Am miserable, in a word.

Answer: Your case is chronic, but by careful diet and the regular use of an aid and tonic you should soon recover a normal state. Obtain a packet of "double-four stomach and bowel medicine" of a druggist. With it are directions. This is the newest and best treatment I know of.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed, and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks: "Tell me, please how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be aenemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hyponuclane tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will oust any curable cough or cold promptly: Obtain a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

Miss "Stranger" asks: "I am in a weakened condition due a long seige of catarrhal trouble. Briefly I have Pelvic Catarrh (leucorrhea) and catarrh of the nose and throat. What local treatment is good for a cure?"

Answer: I am quite sure that antiseptic Vilane Powder is the most prompt and effective treatment that one can possibly use. Full directions accompany either a two or eight ounce package. Do not neglect catarrhal trouble.

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that it is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If your symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles scant, copious or foul-smelling urine, accompanied by headaches, pains, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of balmwort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur), cleansing treatment in the form of three. Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cases.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as that can be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drugstore the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Proverbs 24:1-18.

1 Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart studieth destruction, and their lips talk of mischief.

3 Through wisdom is an house builded, and by understanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong; yea, a man of knowledge increaseth strength.

6 For by wise counsel thou shalt make thy war; and in multitude of counsellers there is safety.

7 Wisdom is too high for a fool; he openeth not his mouth in the gate.

8 He that deviseth to do evil shall be called a michievous person.

9 The thought of foolishness is sin; and the scorner is an abomination to men.

10 If thou faint in a day of adversity, thy strength is small.

11 If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain;

12 If thou sayest, Behold, we knew it not; doth not he that pondereth the heart consider it? and he that keepeth thy soul, doth not he know it? and shall not he render to every man according to his words?

13 My son, eat thou honey, because it is good; and the honey-comb, which is sweet to thy taste.

14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom be unto thy soul: when thou hast found it, then there shall be a reward, and thy expectation shall not be cut off.

15 Lay not wait, O wicked man, against the dwelling of the righteous; spoil not his resting place;

16 For a just man falleth seven times, and riseth up again; but the wicked shall fall into mischief.

17 Rejoice not when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart be glad when he stumbleth;

Legislative Work of Women

Proceeding in systematic and business-like fashion, the Woman's Legislative Council of Indiana has just compiled for permanent record a summary of the results of its efforts during the recent session of the legislature in behalf of better laws. It is interesting as showing not only the high character but the ambitious scope of the first organized action taken by Indiana women to have a say-so in general legislative efforts. When it is recalled that this body represented 50,000 women of voting age in the state, its right to be heard in matters of importance, particularly those which directly affect women and children, will scarcely be questioned.

The record shows that during the sixty days twenty-one bills were endorsed, three originated. Besides the suffrage bills, ten bills were indorsed at the request of constituents, five passed both houses, five were passed by the senate and killed in the house, one passed the house and was killed in the senate, one failed of a constitutional majority in the senate, eight were killed in committee after passing one house. Almost twenty-five per cent., then, of the bills directly supported and endorsed by the women were enacted into law, a start that manifestly indicates some tremendous possibilities when the woman's legislative council gets still more thoroughly and more effectively into its task.

As showing the line of effort put forward by the women, a glance at the list of bills given endorsement by that body is interesting. It included the measure for the commission of the adult blind, the Stotzenburg constitutional amendments, the abatement and injunction bill and the better housing bill. It supported the bill prohibiting free lunches in the saloons, endorsed the state-wide prohibition proposition, the mandatory placing of a woman on city school boards, the "lazy husband" bill, workmen's compensation, mothers' pensions, the centennial bill, the full-time health officer bill, the policewoman bill, the bill for women factory inspectors, the bill to limit working hours for women, library codification, the bill to curb immodest dances, the anti-cigarette bill, the partial suffrage bill, the constitutional convention bill, and one or two measures defining statutory offenses and making present laws of this character more effective. In the face of a record like that, who shall deny that Indiana women are on the right track?

The appointment of A. B. Crampton, of Delphi, as governor of the National Military home at Marion, has moved Washington republicans to declare that politics is being introduced into the management of these institutions, and that the situation will be investigated by congress when it meets in December. There is no disposition to question the fitness of Mr. Crampton, who is a veteran soldier and department commander of the G. A. R. in Indiana, but the incident is one which afforded an opportunity for outcry, and that is the chief mission on earth of the Washington partisan, of whatever stripe he may be. If you take his word for it, freedom not only shrieked when Kosciusko fell, but has been at it pretty continuously since that lamentable occasion.

Half a dozen Indiana men who pleaded guilty to having padded bills by which certain townships in the southern part of the state were mulcted in the purchase of school paraphernalia, have escaped with fine of $10 and suspended prison sentences of from two to fourteen years. The basis of clemency appears to have been that they made restitution of the money wrongfully taken from the public treasury. Happily for society not every man who gets caught in crooked business can square things by merely returning what he has stolen. Otherwise the inducement to take a chance would make crooks of that class which is honest not because it is right, but because it is embarrassing to be detected.

Ex-President Taft in an address at the University of Wisconsin, has just reiterated his advocacy of a longer term for presidents—six or seven years being his idea of the proper tenure of the presidential office. Mr. Taft is undoubtedly speaking conscientiously and from no personal motive whatever, for one is unable to conceive that Mr. Taft has any notion that he has another chance at the job. He is in a position from which he can discuss the thing with absolute frankness.

Perhaps his concern over the meagreness of their salaries will move Robert T. Lincoln, managing diretor of the Pullman company, to emunate the example of his distinguished father and emancipate the porters on his cars.

WEATHER AND EFFICIENCY.

Medical authorities tell us weather variations are good for us and helpful to our efficiency as workers. The storm, followed by cooler or changed weather, is found to increase the output of labor. It is common to look on unvarying temperature as good for health and strength. Investigation shows a dead level of fair days brings slower work and slower thinking.

Fall and spring are the best working periods of the year for all sorts of work. Sudden weather changes are direct stimulants. Cold weather, below freezing point, is not the best time to get work out of humankind, though a certain degree of cold is bracing and helpful. At very low temperatures both mental and physical workers suffer from depression. Inquiry discloses mental workers go best at 38 degrees above zero. At 50 degrees for men and 60 for women, physical efficiency is at its highest. Above 60 degrees both mental and physical efficiency begins to droop.

The lowest wages, at piecework, are earned in January. In February, March, April, May and the early weeks of June there is a rather steady increase in labor's output and earnings. In late June, July and August efficiency is lowered, though much higher than the winter level. Through September and October and up to late November the wage earners work at increasing speed. In December, with the Christmas impulse at work, efficiency attains an improved standard, only to collapse with January's coming and the after-Christmas reaction.

Incidentally, there are more suicides in June than in winter and more suicides on bright, fair days than on dark and dreary days. Thus do preconceived notions fail when facts are known.

TENTING IN WASHINGTON.

(Grand Rapids News.)

President Wilson will not take any summer vacation.

He has no desire to hie himself to New Hampshire or to any of the seaports and establish a summer white house. He will do his work in a tent surrounded by a high hedge on the spacious lawn back of the white house in Washington.

The president believes that the situation in Mexico and the situation in Europe, either of which may call for action on his part at any time, make it necessary for him to be near the machinery of government. It is going to be pretty hot in Washington, but the president is going to stick it through with occasional week-end trips to the sea. However, he will not be so badly off. The white house grounds are spacious and beautiful, even if the president is practically a prisoner to duty, and there are several million people in this country who would just as soon spend the summer there.

The president's devotion to duty commends him to his countrymen and it is altogether likely that he will not suffer with ennui during the summer. He has one of the busiest jobs just at the present time, and there is no sign of a let-up.

The Double Purpose of this famous Kroehler Bed Davenport makes it a wonderfully practical and useful piece of furniture because you have two articles combined into one. You can make your parlor or living room serve as a bedroom at night without evidence of a bed during the day and get along comfortably in a smaller house or apartment. On the other hand, you can take care of two guests and give them every comfort without having an idle room at other times. This Unifold Davenport is convenient, economical, stylish. It is useful 24 hours every day throughout the year. It saves space and saves furniture expense.

The Luxurious Bed is concealed under the seat. Bed has sanitary, indestructible steel springs. Remember, that you don't sleep on the upholstery. The small illustration above shows the method of construction and clearly depicts the metal frame of the bed, as well as the under construction of the davenport seat. The bed folds and unfolds easily and there is ample room for bedding within the folded bed. It is converted from a davenport into a bed with one motion; by giving it a gentle pull the entire seat, including spring, upholstering, seat frame, etc., turns completely over.

HOW MANY MILES OF ROAD HAVE WE GOT?

Uncle Sam is Now Making Effort to Find Out Accurately.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States and their cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inquiry blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the country to which it is sent. The mileage does not include, of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes, as follows: Brick paved, concrete, macadam with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil, or tar, plain macadam, gravel, shell, other hard surfaced roads, sand and clay mixture properly graded and drained, ordinary earth roads properly constructed, and, finally, unimproved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them.

The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials, and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems.

As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never even been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessively inaccurate reports for the road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public road to every square mile of territory is rare, while in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and a half or three miles. Thus, in France, there is an average for the entire country of 1.76 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .86, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately .80 miles, which, in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled, seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete, it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the durability and economy of the various kinds of highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

Best Thing for a Bilious Attack.

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment, I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man," writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Meyer are quietly celebrating their silver wedding anniversary today at their home, 327 Madison street, and at dinner at 6 o'clock will entertain relatives at a family gathering with cards and music for further pleasure afterwards. Covers will be laid for twenty-two guests. The house is beautifully decorated for the day. Branches of dogwood and jardinieres of lilacs and pink honeysuckle are in the hall and parlor while the living room is fragrant with blossoms of Persian lilacs. In the dining room a long table trimmed beautifully with large bowls of lilies of the valley and white candles in silver holders presents a most attractive sight. On a side table stands the wedding cake, a genuine German "torte" surrounded by twenty-five small white tapers. The torte is decorated with a lovely wreath of silver and white flowers and leaves and in the center of the top stands a fancy ornament of a bride and groom with a silver wedding bell. The flowers of the table and room are simply lovely. On the buffet are lilacs with vases of bridal wreath on either side and pink honeysuckle mingled with lilies of the valley while on each of the small tables are baskets filled with out door violets and lilies of the valley. The centerpiece of the large dining table was a mound effect of valley lilies reflected in the mirror under them. Dainty favors of handsome crocheted baskets of white with silvered edges were filled with salted nuts. The baskets were made by Mrs. Meyer and her daughters, Misses Olga and Louise Meyer, and their handles are tied with silver and white ribbon. Mrs. Meyer was Miss Matilda Siemon before her marriage and she was the daughter of a pioneer resident, August Siemon, who founded the business of the Siemon bookstore for so many years a prominent business house of the city. The home in which Mr. and Mrs. Meyer live was the Siemon family home and there Mrs. Meyer was born and married. Mrs. Herman Brauer and children, of Ann Arbor, are the only out-of-town relatives who found it possible to be present at the silver wedding. Mrs. Brauer is a niece of Mrs. Meyer. Mr. Meyer was born in Fort Wayne and has always lived here. He has been for many years the local agent for the Standard Oil company. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are prominent members of St. Paul's Lutheran church and they have a long list of friends.

Miss Louise Heiny gave a very pretty pre-nuptial party on Wednesday evening at her home in East Wayne street and at the time announced that the date of her wedding to Edward G. Clemmer would be on June 22. The members of the Sigma Rho club were the guests. When the dessert course of the supper was served the guests found a card accompanying the ice cream molded in cupid form, that bore the names of the hostess and her fiance and the date of the wedding day. Although the engagement was known the time of the wedding had not been anticipated as so early a date, and the young hostess was immediately showered with good wishes. Lilacs formed the decoration of the rooms. Owing to the recent demise of Miss Heiny's father, the wedding will be a quiet one. The members of the Sigma Rho club are Marie and Elizabeth Berghoff, Helen Baker, Isabel Ehrman, Loretta Ankenbruck, Mrs. Hubert Berghoff and Miss Heiny. The elected groom's sister, Miss Stella Clemmer, was an invited guest.

Mrs. Max B. Fisher and Mrs. Hal Rehrer are spending a few days in Chicago.

Mrs. Clara Croxton has returned from a visit in Chicago with her son, Hugh and his wife.

Miss Mollie Greenfelder has returned from a few days' visit with relatives in Logansport.

Miss Alice E. Hall is in Chicago this week attending a convention of teachers of drawing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conrad, of Grabill, left today for a three months' trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Joseph Gaskins and daughter, Helen, have gone to Terre Haute on a visit to relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Dessauer have as their guest their sister, Miss Jennie Dessauer, of Montrose, Pa.

Mrs. Theodore Wentz has gone to Purdue, where she will visit with her son, Welker, a student at the university, over the week-end.

There will be a meeting of the Lutheran hospital nurses' alumnae association this evening in the hospital parlors. The subject of "Children's Diseases" will be discussed.

The alumnae association of St. Augustine's academy will have a sale of baked goods at Madam Catherine's corset shop, 113 West Wayne street, tomorrow.

Mrs. Ida Eckart and daughter, Mrs. Guy Sprague, of 1204 Delta boulevard, have returned from a few days' outing at Lake Wawasee, where they opened their summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Weise, of Gay street, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Lena Emma Weise, to Adlia Brice Long, of Detroit, Mich. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Nellie Henry left today for Cincinnati, where she will be joined by Mrs. H. L. Askew, who has been attending the state convention of King's Daughters at Madison. Together they will go to Parkersburg, W. Va., for a visit with relatives.

A party of young people gathered at the home of Miss Gladys Yates, of First street, Thursday evening in observance of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in games and an excellent luncheon was served. The feature of the evening was the rendition of musical selections by a boys' quartet.

Miss Marie Zinnser gave a theater party at the Majestic last evening in honor of Miss May Luckey, of Chicago, and Miss Charlotte Drake, of Piqua, O. Others of the party were Miss Bates and Messrs. Albert Rachi, Lee Kahoe, James A. Zinnser and Thomas Fay. After the show the company went to the Anthony hotel for supper.

Miss Clara Lukens and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Edgerton, and small son, who had been visiting for a few days with Mrs. Martha B. Hanna, left yesterday for Brewster, N. Y. The ladies joined another sister, Miss Martha Lukens, at the Pennsylvania station as she was passing through on her way from a visit with her brother, Edward and his family, in Deadwood, S. D. The Lukens family is widely known in Fort Wayne, as this city was their home for many years.

Miss Irma Malone was the honor guest at an evening party given on Wednesday by the Misses Marie and Josephine Kelly, in anticipation of her marriage to Louis Baker. The entertainment was a theater party at the New Palace with refreshments after that at the English tea room. Beautiful decorations at the supper were composed of purple lilacs and pink roses, and there were water color drawings for place cards and a bouquet of flowers for Miss Malone. Mrs. R. E. Kelly and Mrs. James E. Clifford were chaperons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bleke, of Wildwood avenue, entertained a party of friends on Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of the birth anniversary of their small daughter, Elsie. Miss Elsie was four years old. The house was tastefully decorated and a supper of most tempting things to eat was served at 6 o'clock. A birthday cake received all the attention that was its due. The children present at this happy time were Marie and Dorothy Hegerfeld, Dorothy Troendle, Vera and Esther Brockmeyer, Bessie and Mae Risser, Cornelia Bleke, Frank Walter. Others who enjoyed the party were Grandma Bleke, Mrs. E. Brockmeyer, Mrs. C. Schilling, Mrs. E. Troendel, Mrs. C. Hagerfeld, Miss Bertha Rodenbeck. Little Elsie received some beautiful gifts.

May Music Festival.

Prof. William Miles, supervisor of music in the public schools, has engaged the Majestic theater for the giving of the May music festival by the children of the public schools on May 27 and 28. The teachers of the grade schools are assisting the teachers in teaching the songs to the children and will lend their assistance and chaperonage to the boys and girls when the festival comes off. The scope of work is enlarged to embrace pupils of the fifth and sixth grades, where there are no seventh and eighth grades. Each evening's entertainment will be presented by two divisions of pupils, the two lower and the two higher grades named. The schools have omitted entertainments this year to make it easier to respond to the appeal to take tickets to the festival.

Lakeside Normal P.-T. Club.

Set Forth Arguments for One of Their Sex on School Board.

The concerted effort of many women to have a woman elected a member of the board of school trustees has become a very systematic and sane movement. The usual woman's reason, or that which is often attributed to the sex, "because," is not the reply one hears in asking women why they want representation on the school board.

At a meeting of some twenty women held in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday, with Mrs. A. J. Detzer presiding as chairman, and Mrs. Samuel R. Taylor, as secretary, the consensus of opinion expressed might be summed up in the different viewpoint towards the schools which a woman would bring to the office were she elected. A woman's viewpoint must of necessity be different from that of a man. Aside from the fact that she has a legal right and would sustain a moral principle were she elected a school trustee, a woman would bring a new element into the official business of the schools that would in no wise interfere with the dispatch of routine business nor be less valuable in the consideration of new matters.

There were a number of speakers at the meeting and the subject of circulating petitions for signatures received a fresh impetus. Mrs. S. R. Taylor presented a summing up on the situation in a statement given below. Mrs. Fairbank reported the plan of the nominating committee as bound to be in no sense influenced by personal feeling toward any woman and as having a desire to have names sent in whether as the choice of an organization or as a personal selection from which to select a candidate.

Mrs. Taylor's Summary.

Summarizing the situation, Mrs. Sam R. Taylor said:

1. "In not one of the meetings held previous to today, has there been expressed or implied any criticism of the motives or methods of the present or former organizations of the school board, nor of any of its members. As a committee, we are not responsible for any implications of this nature, which may have been circulated.

2. "No matter what nonsensical report is abroad, we have not authorized, used, nor desired to use coercion in any sort, sense or degree, either to compass the appointment of a woman on the board, or to secure signatures to the petition for such appointment.

3. "We have adopted absolutely no fad with which we intend, by means of a woman member on the board, to saddle the public school system.

4. "We have not contemplated nor approved any disruption nor upheaval of existing methods and policies, supposing them, to the best of our knowledge, to be both honest and, in the main, wise.

5. "We have not 'demanded' the appointment of any certain woman whom we may choose; we merely nominate one in response to the insistent 'demand' of many voters to 'know the name of our candidate' before they will commit themselves one way or the other.

6. "We did not engage in this campaign as a woman suffrage movement, nor as a prohibition movement, nor as a party movement, nor has the movement either political, personal or religious significance.

"Bear in mind, however, that this is not a negative but a positive movement;—or, to state that idea more succinctly, this committee did not conceive a campaign against present conditions, but to establish a principle, summed up in the phase, 'A woman on the school board.'

"There is nothing freakish, nor sentimental in this, but the idea seems new to Fort Wayne voters. It is viewed askance. The public is accustomed to regard the holding of public office of any character as the exclusive prerogative of men. We are expected to prove our case—to give our reasons. What are they?

Well, we argue—

1. "That women, just like men, are citizens, taxpayers, parents, teachers, trainers and supporters of the children for whom the public school system is maintained, hence are equally interested in what pertains to that system.

2. "That women who enter any kind of business are successful to an equal per cent with men, hence they may be regarded as equally capable, with men, of coping with any phase of business which may present itself to a school board.

3. "That the will and capacity of women to learn what they do not already know, are equal to those of men, hence, like men, they can learn by experience that which they need to know as members of the school board.

4. "That women are as moral, honest and faithful as men; hence may be trusted, with equal safety, on the school board.

5. "That the state of Indiana recognizes the reasonableness and justice of women serving on school boards, in a statute admitting women to such service. Other cities in Indiana made haste to take advantage of this statute—Indianapolis has had a woman on its school board for ten years. The wisdom of the statute has been proved, amply, by the service of women. Why then, should Fort Wayne, now second city in the state, march with face turned backward, refusing to avail herself of the goods the legislative gods provide?

"As citizens, we ask for the appointment of a woman on the school board, because we wish Fort Wayne not to lag behind the times, but to show itself to the state untrammeled by narrow prejudices and archaic standards, as women, to be quite frank, we ask it because we have a perfect right to it, in law and equity. And we ask it at this time, because the retiring member of the board does not desire re-election, and we therefore, in advocating the appointment of a woman, are not opposing a candidate whose claim is supported by past honorable service. The present moment is our logical opportunity to push our claim. No better reason is needed.

"A committee has been appointed to receive nominations, and carefully and thoughtfully to chose from among the candidates so presented, one or more names to be in turn presented to the council. In the event of the election of a woman to the board, we will share with her a full understanding of what will be expected of her as a board member. She will be prepared to shoulder the same duties as any other member; be subject to the same rules, routine, and exactions, and sacrifices of personal business and convenience; face the same fire of criticism, misunderstandings, fault-findings, suspicious, accusation and public ingratitude as any other member. Still, we dare to hope that the public will treat her no more harshly than if she were a man. And we believe that Fort Wayne has, and will produce many more than one woman who is sufficiently brave, broad, open-minded, intelligent, capable, faithful, honest, and well-balanced to stand the storm, and to fill, with credit and ultimate satisfaction, a position on the board of school trustees."

PREPARE FOR OPENING.

Germania Park Will Be Thrown Open Week from Sunday.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of Germania park one week from next Sunday for the summer season. The association is preparing to provide more amusements for children this season than ever before.

On Sunday, June 6, will be Turners' day at the park and on June 20 the annual German day celebration will be held.

INVITED TO HUNTINGTON.

Members of Deborah lodge of Rebekahs will go to Huntington on the evening of May 20, where they will be the guests of the Rebekah lodge at that place. A banquet will be served in their honor and it is expected that several candidates will be initiated.

FRIENDSHIP OF DAVID AND JONATHAN.

GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times.—Prov. 17:17.

There is perhaps no narrative in all history or literature which so perfectly illustrates the conditions of friendship as this which is before us. Jonathan was every inch a man; affectionate, sweet and tender, deeply pious and withal loyal to both duty and friends. His rights, as the king's son, he gladly set aside for David, whom he "loved as his own soul" (ch. 18:3; 20:17). Jonathan is a great type of the surrendered life (ch. 23:17).

I. David's Danger, vv. 32-35. Three times in the previous chapter (vv. 5, 14, 30) we read that David "behaved himself wisely." "Saul eyed David" (v. 19) and his jealous anger grew as he gave vent to his hate. Jonathan's desires for David drew the anger of Saul (20:30), but it only put him more upon his guard and made him more determined, if possible, to save both David and Saul.

Following David's escape (18:18) he consulted Jonathan regarding his safety (20.1-10). They renewed their covenant and swore fealty to each other and to those of their households (vv. 11-17). It is a standing rebuke that Christians treat so lightly their covenants with the church and with the world. David was safe at Naioth (18:18-24), for each company sent after him, and Saul himself, were hindered by the Spirit of Jehavah from carrying out Saul's foul designs. This seemed for the moment to humble Saul (20:1; Ps. 97:1). Jonathan, though great and mighty, was not strong enough to deliver his friend from the renewed wrath of his father. "Vain is the help of man." "Our help is in the Lord." Jonathan showed his true friendship in that he told the exact state of affairs to David (v. 10).

When Saul became convinced that Jonathan was taking David's part, he tried to kill Jonathan and reviled the mother who bore him (v. 30). In his loss of self-control Saul allowed David to escape. Even so, sin overshoots its mark. The contrast is a dark one to contemplate.

II. David Delivered, vv. 35-42. Jonathan did not revile again (v. 34) when insulted and assailed by his father, and his manifestation of just anger (for his mother was reviled) was quite different from that of his father. Any attempt to reconcile Saul to David (v. 34) was a useless exposure to danger and for Jonathan to be seen with his friend would imperil his own life. This explains the expedient of shooting arrows in the field. Jonathan shot his arrows "beyond," i. e., David must go "beyond" and out of the reach of Saul. David trusted Jonathan's fidelity (v. 23) when the test came, though Jonathan might have good reason for playing him false in order to promote his own interests.

Dismissing the boy, Jonathan drew near to David's hiding place, to the south of the stone Ezel (v. 41 R. V.), where a most touching parting took place between these two friends. First of all David bowed ceremoniously three times, touching his head to the ground, perhaps to show his unshaken loyalty to Jonathan as the king's son. This was but for a moment; as men of the East and friends, they rushed to each other's arms and wept for a long time. These were the manly tears of two brave men not afraid to show their love and emotions. It has been suggested that Jonathan should have accompanied David as God's elect (Heb. 13:13), but we feel that duty bade him to remain by the side of his sin-stricken father.

The Lessons of the Lesson. True friendship costs. God's love gave to the world his Son. Jonathan's friendship for David was costly, but was given gladly, not grudgingly. True friendship neither forgets duty nor neglects its desire towards the object of its love. It is not governed emotionally, yet it disregards all other ties, if they are wrong. Not even a father or mother should lead us to wrong a friend. When David came into power he remembered the everlasting covenant made with Jonathan (II Sam. 9:3). Our "Son of David" has made a similar covenant with us (Acts 16:31; 2:39). True friendship is of slow growth, but is not easily killed, chilled by reverses, nor frozen by adversity (Prov. 18:24). True friendship is unselfish. It gives and does not seek.

True friendship is founded upon religion and the best friend, the ideal friend, is Jesus Christ.

That friendship which is based upon oaths, ritual and dues, is not abiding, nor true friendship, for it excludes all who fail to possess the same password or a sufficient amount of money.

That friendship which is based upon expediency, or a quid pro quo, is by no means true friendship; it is as ephemeral as the morning mist and as frail as a chain of sand.

The friendship which has as its common center God's best boon, the friendship of his Son, will, if it is true and genuine, abide forever.

Today will be observed by many schools as "Mother's day."

You Save Money by Buying Sherman's Clothes

The most modern up-to-date method of doing business at a small expense, is the policy that Sherman's Stores Company adopt. A clothing store that is operated on economical basis—a store that has no great extravagant expenses—a clothing store that has not those beautiful fixtures—a clothing store that is and looks like a place of business—not a palace. That's the store that gives its patrons the most value for their money. Walk into Sherman's Store, 922 Calhoun Street, and all you see is beautiful clothing displayed, not fixtures to look at—we operate our store eliminating all unnecessary expenses, such as high-salaried bookkeepers, automobile deliveries, etc., so we don't have to add onto the price of our clothes, selling you always the same value.

From Factory Direct To You

The man that buys Sherman's Clothes pays for nothing else but good honest clothes value, the price that always remains the same whether you buy your suit in May or August.

You Save the Middleman's Profit of $5 to $8

And have the same suit, same material for $10 as if you paid $15 to $18; the only difference is the price, the value is the same.

Honest Values—Honest Price

That is why Sherman's Store continues to grow larger every day, selling more clothes than ever, for every man that buys Sherman's Clothes recognizes them as the greatest value in the world for his money, for you have your choice of all the newest styles and fabrics. The new white line chalk stripes in blue, black or grey cloth; worsteds in plain colors or self-stripes; cassimeres in pin checks or mixed goods, or plain grey or blue; the all-wool grey clay worsteds; the all-wool Oswego blue serges; some made with patch pocket coats; others in plain sack or double breasted styles. Plenty of the English model styles for the young men; a big assortment of the more conservative styles for the older men. Sizes to fit all, from the boy of 15 years to the man wearing a 52-inch size.

CERTAIN TO GO UP TO CONGRESS AGAIN

(By Frederick M. Kerby.)

Washington, May 7.—A demand for the repeal of the Newlands railroad arbitration act, and a probable congressional investigation of the arbitration board which last week handed down its decision in the arbitration case between the western railroads and their engineers and firemen, are the two developments of national interest which will probably grow out of the case.

The congressional investigation will be aimed at Charles Nagel, former secretary of commerce, who, according to the railroad brotherhoods, had at the time of his service on the arbitration board such close railroad affiliations as to render his sitting on the board improper.

Aside from this investigation, however, a demand will be made for the repeal of the Newlands act in its entirety and the substitution of some permanent, expert, federal railroad wage commission which will do in the field of railroad rates of pay what the federal interstate commerce commission is now doing in the field of railroad rates.

Both sides to the controversy are dissatisfied with the present method of arbitrating wage disputes. For the railroads, Prof. F. H. Dixon, statistician of the bureau of railway economics in Washington, has publicly stated the fundamental objection of the roads to mediation and arbitration as now conducted.

"Under arbitration," said Prof. Dixon in a recent speech on the subject, "the forms of the judicial hearings have been conscientiously observed, attempts have been made to weigh evidence and to reach just conclusions; but the men upon whom the burden of decision has fallen have not been experts. One of the important consequences of this is that the public, whose agents the independent arbitrators are supposed to be, has been at a disadvantage, and has not been adequately represented."

It is an open secret that the recent award, which, like all awards made under similar circumstances, was simply a compromise pleasing neither side, will not last beyond May 10, 1916, the date when the present agreement expires. The railroad brotherhoods will undoubtedly at that time again demand more wages. Should the interstate commerce commission, as now seems likely, grant to the western railroads the freight rate increases which the railroads are demanding, the engineers and firemen would be in a strong position to make another demand for wage increases.

Unless some federal machinery is provided before that time, it is likely there will be the same unsatisfactory compromise—or else, much worse, a big railroad strike. There are evidences, however, that when congress meets next December, efforts will be made to secure some kind of a permanent and expert board for the handling of railroad wage disputes. In view of the fact that the regulation of railroad rates has been in the hands of a permanent, non-partisan interstate commerce commission for many years, there is strong ground for arguing by analogy that the matter of making and changing railroad rates of pay should be given into similar non-partisan and technical hands.

The present wage case turned upon two or three points capable of fairly exact determination, had the wage arbitrators been disposed to determine them. One of these points was whether or not the revenues of the roads in question had increased, and whether or not such increase was due to increased productive efficiency on the part of the men. The employes, in addition, claimed that if the railroads as an industry showed increased profits, a share of these should go to the men who made them, regardless of whether it had cost them additional labor or not.

These questions are of the utmost importance not only to the roads and employes, but to the public at large, and they might much better be considered by a commission composed of men giving their entire time to such questions, rather than by a board made up of two representatives of each side, and two "independent" representatives of the public.

At any rate this is the way the wage arbitration question will be put up to congress when that body next meets.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HENRY CLARK COE FOUND IN ALASKA

Mysterious Disappearance Results in a Nation-Wide Search.

New York, May 7.—Henry Clark Coe, Jr., the Standard Oil employe who disappeared from his home in Boston January 30, last, after bidding his young wife good-bye, is alive and well in Alaska, according to information in a telegram brought back from Boston by the young man's father, Dr. H. C. Coe.

Doctor Coe is so certain that his son has been found that he authorized the Boston detective agency to send men at once to Fairbanks, Alaska, from where the message came, to complete the identification.

"I cannot disclose the sender of the message, but I am confident our long search is ended," said Doctor Coe last night. "I was told by the detective agency not to say anything, but I am so jubilant at the news and at the joy brought to my son's young wife that I cannot refrain from saying this much."

The telegram is believed to have come to operatives of the agency who had searched the northwest for the strangely missing young man.

Doctor Coe went to Boston after receiving a telegram from the detective firm saying that information of the utmost importance had been received. There he was shown the message from Alaska, which he brought back to New York with him.

Coe was to attend a meeting in the Boston offices of the Standard Oil company the day he disappeared. A little more than a month after he left home a daughter was born to his wife and it was thought that this would bring him back.

There was no explanation for his disappearance except that his mind may have been affected by business worries. The Standard Oil company, through its many subsidiaries, joined in the nation-wide search that was being made, but nearly all of the reports of his appearance in various parts of the United States were found to be cases of mistaken identity.

THE CUBS WALLOP MONROEVILLE NINE

With six feet three inches of the tribe of Vonderhaar in the box and Gard behind the bat, the Fort Wayne Cubs spent a considerable portion of Thursday afternoon walloping Monroeville. The final score was 15 and 0, and if Bade Myers hadn't told his youngsters to go easy the Monroevillevites might have been humiliated. As it was the Cubs gave their semi-pro opponents a terrible case of stage fright, and the Monroevillers simply couldn't play half way up to form.

Vonderhaar was nervous when he went into the game, but before the first inning was half over he had regained his composure and was pitching like a veteran. He is a Fort Wayne boy, and has played remarkable ball with the Alberts Brothers' aggregation. Score:

NEE BACK TO ERIE.

Last Year's Manager Again in the Fold by the Lake.

(Erie Dispatch).

Johnny Nee, the infielder who managed the Dayton club last season, has been signed by Larry Quinlan and he will place Nee at second base in today's game. Nee knows the game thoroughly and is a pretty fair hitter. Last season with Dayton Nee participated in 58 games and had a batting average of .298. The Sailors need some batting and perhaps Nee will add strength to this department.

Bennie Kauff Better Than Ty Cobb According to the Records.

Bennie Kauff, the "Jumping Fed," making a spectacular catch; below is Ty Cobb, who may be called "the Bennie Kauff" of the American League.

Just as Ty Cobb, of Detroit, was way out in front of the American league players last year, so was Bennie Kauff, of Indianapolis, the topnotcher in the records of the Federal league.

The young Federal league star who jumped from the Brooklyn Feds to the New York Nationals, has caused one of the greatest scandals in baseball, in many respects had it on Cobb, the "greatest player in baseball," according to the figures.

Kauff's batting average of .366 was attained in 154 games, whereas Cobb acquired his percentage of .368 in only 97 games.

Kauff's record in every department proportionately excels that of Cobb. Kauff fielded .958 against Cobb's .948.

Although participating in only about half again as many games as Cobb, Kauff has in several instances accomplished twice as much. His 118 runs stand against Cobb's 69; his earned runs are 98, against 47 for Cobb; his two-baggers are 45 against 22; three-baggers, 12 against 11, and home runs, 8 against 2.

CONCORDIA-PENNSY GAME ON SATURDAY

East Side Event Looks Like Best Saturday Game in the City.

The Pennsylvania company shop team will meet Concordia college at the college grounds in what will probably be the city's best Saturday afternoon game. Both teams are working well, playing fast ball, and will deliver a game that will make it worth while to travel into the east end to see.

LOCALS HAVE HARD TRIP BEFORE THEM

Opening Friday at Wheeling, and going then over the eastern circuit, hitting Dayton, Erie and Youngstown consecutively, the Fort Wayne Cubs will meet teams that will try their skill. The locals will run into some stiff ball playing, and the fans here are intent upon their actions.

As to pitchers, the Cubs are well supplied, with but one uncertainty. Robbins, the southpaw; Ainsworth, the local old-time favorite, and Donley shorn of his wildness, are sure bets. But there is Green, who pitched a game or two early in the season, and who has not performed for several weeks. He is the problem. The management refrained from pitching him in the home series because it was afraid of him, but he probably will hurl the first game on the road at Dayton Friday. Vanderhaar, who appeared over the horizon Thursday, looked a pitcher all through in Monroeville game, and there is a chance he might be added later on.

BOW FOR THE GENTS, LOOIE.

(Dickerson in Grand Rapids Press).

President Heilbroner's umpiring staff must be doing good work since there has not been a loud wail made of late. Last year scarcely a day passed that some city of the circuit did not express great dissatisfaction. Some years a league president has little trouble picking satisfying umpires and other years it is almost impossible to do so.

President Heilbroner has promised to visit Grand Rapids during the Billberts' next run of games at home. Ever since he managed a team here in the early days of the Central league Heilbroner has been a warm favorite in Grand Rapids. It is said that one of the biggest berths in baseball awaits the Fort Wayne man.

Plans were discussed Thursday evening at a meeting of the Lincoln highway committees of the Commercial and Rotary clubs for the celebration of Allen county's first stretch of concrete on the Lincoln highway. Another meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

LIGHTNING SEASON ON HAND ONCE MORE

State Fire Marshal's Department Issues Warning to Farmers.

Indianapolis, May 7.—Warning to farmers at this time of the year to beware of lightning, is being given by the state fire marshal's department. The spring showers, so welcome to the agriculturalist, often become electrical storms that mean fire and destruction to the exposed farm building. Seventy-five per cent. of all lightning losses are in the country.

Lightning did less damage in 1914 than perhaps in any recent year in Indiana, owing to the few severe electrical disturbances, and also to the generally increased equipment of buildings with lightning rods. There were only 443 lightning losses in the state during last year as compared with 1,006 in the preceding year.

Evidence gleaned from investigations by the state fire marshal's department shows that the lightning rod properly placed is certain protection. Only seven buildings equipped with rods were struck during 1914. In these seven instances, however, investigation by assistants showed the rods had been up a long time without attention or were not properly grounded. In one or two instances lightning entered buildings over telephone wires.

It is interesting to note that during the year two authorities after investigations reported favorably on the use of the lightning rod. They were Prof. W. H. Day, of the department of physics, Agricultural college, Ontario, Canada, and Prof. J. Warren Smith, of the United States weather bureau.

Burned to Death in 1914.

Were mothers and nurses properly watchful of children, the deaths of little ones by fire during 1914 would have been reduced more than 50 per cent. Of twenty children burned fatally during the year, twelve were burned while playing with matches or about hot stoves, according to the fire marshal's report.

Adults fatally burned numbered forty-seven. Of these fifteen were burned in dwelling or lodging house fires. Nine perished as a result of gasoline explosions and six because of kerosene explosions. One hundred and twenty-eight adults and thirty-seven children were badly burned.

Fire From Fireless Cooker.

The fire marshal is grappling with a mystery, introduced into the department by a down-state assistant. Under the form question as to the origin of the fire reported the cause is given as "a fireless cooker." What the fire marshal would like to know is what sort of a fire could be kindled by an agent obviously "fireless" and the modus operandi thereof.

ART SMITH FAR ON PATHWAY TO FAME

Fort Wayne Aviator Now Heralded as Best of Top-Notchers.

Art Smith, the young Fort Wayne airman, who is electrifying visitors at the San Francisco exposition with his marvelous aerial performances, is far on the road to national fame. As an instance of how he is regarded the following from the Dallas (Tex.) News is reproduced:

Art Smith, famous aviator, the only biplane operator in the world who has made thirty consecutive loops, the big star of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and successor to Lincoln Beachey as the exposition flyer, is to be the star attraction at the 1915 state fair of Texas.

J. C. Duke, chairman of the amusement committee of the state fair, announced yesterday that the offer of Mr. Smith to fly at the coming fair had been accepted by wire.

Smith, who has been in the flying game since 1910, is declared to be one of the greatest aviators in the world. San Francisco newspapers are unanimous in their verdict that Smith is the greatest flyer seen in the west, greater even than Beachey, and Beachey was regarded as the great flyer of the country.

When Beachey dove to his death in San Francisco bay the management of the Panama-Pacific exposition sent for Smith. Smith was then in Chicago and he left immediately for the exposition city. In his first flight, before thousands of spectators, Smith made fourteen consecutive loops and then gave an exhibition of what he terms "aerial insanity" that outdid anything ever seen on the coast, it is said.

From the time of his first flight in San Francisco, Smith has been the hero of the coast. He is all boy in looks, talk, manner and disregard for his bones. He uses a biplane exclusively and will come to Dallas from San Francisco.

Director Duke stated that Smith would make several flights each day during the fair and that he would give six night flights. His biplane is illuminated for the night flights and when he makes his loops he throws fireworks from his machine which adds to the startling effect of his wonderful night flights.

ROBERTS' WIFE VISITS PRISONER.

Application for Habeas Corpus Writ Will Soon Be Filed.

Leavenworth, Kan., May 7.—Donn M. Roberts, former mayor of Terre Haute, Ind., his wife and two attorneys, conferred at the United States penitentiary yesterday regarding the bringing of habeas corpus proceedings to secure Roberts' release.

It was said a petition would be filed before Judge John C. Pollock in the federal court at Kansas City, Kan., today or Saturday. The petition will ask the release of Roberts and Judge Eli H. Redman on the ground that the federal law, under which the men were convicted in connection with the Terre Haute election conspiracy cases, interferes with state rights.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Meyer Bros. or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Yankee Salesmen Brusque in Dealing With South Americans.

Chicago, May 7.—Robert H. Becker, assistant in zoology at the Field Columbian museum, recently returned to Chicago with 500 specimens gathered on an 11,000-mile trip filled with hardships and thrills across the continent of South America.

Becker was the appointee of the Field museum authorities for the expedition, acting with George K. Cherrie, of the Museum of Natural History in New York, a former member of the Roosevelt party which mapped the River of Doubt after traveling through the Amazonian jungle in Brazil.

"The South Americans want American goods, and they are appealing for them," said Mr. Becker. "There is no one there to sell them. The war has affected the business of every country. I was approached by a Dane in Bolivia. He wanted me to take letters to American business firms to get their agencies for goods made in the United States.

"Typewriters, motor cars and canned goods from Chicago and Kansas City packing houses are the only American products which are well known.

"The Germans and British have the system for selling goods to the South Americans. The American salesmen have been men who cannot speak the language of the South American people, and worse yet, who will not conform to the customs of the land. They go in, slap the South American on the back, stick a cigar in his mouth and expect to sell goods. They take no heed of the politeness and courtesy, which is the secret of success in these countries."

Cutting out ½ price sales and giving big reductions on regular prices all the year through, is our present new system.

Given Gold Medal for Distinguished Public Service.

New York, May 7.—Thomas A. Edison was awarded the Civic Forum gold medal of honor for distinguished public service at a meeting last night of the forum. The medal, which is presented annually, went last year to Major General George W. Gothals. Addresses in recognition of the inventor's achievements were delivered by former Governor John Franklin Fort, of New Jersey; William Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph, and others.

The medal of honor was established to give recognition yearly to one American who in ways of peace performs some signal public service.

Advertising a five dollar gold piece as being worth $10, yet being sold at a wonderful bargain at $5 is like advertising a $5 piece of Furniure as worth $10, yet being sold for $5; but the deception in one case is not so easily detected as in the other. At Foster's they never indulge in that kind of advertising.

Five candidates will be initiated Friday evening by Our Home lodge, No. 881, I. O. O. F.

TUMULTY IN CLASH WITH SUFFRAGISTS

Washington, May 7. Mrs. Lawrence Leads, jr., and Mrs. Harry Lowenburg, two Philadelphia woman suffragists, who have been besieging the white house to personally ask President Wilson to address some of their number in Philadelphia Monday, gave it up today and announced they would renew their efforts when the president goes to Philadelphia. Secretary Tumulty had a wordy exchange with the suffragists, who objected because the president had gone golfing yesterday when they were waiting to see him. Mr. Tumulty replied that golfing was a recreation necessary to keep up the president's health and observed that the suffragists were not advancing their cause by besieging the president.

OLNEY ACCEPTS COMMISSION.

Will Act on Board Provided By Recent Peace Treaty With France.

Washington, May 7.—Richard Olney, secretary of state during President Cleveland's last administration, has accepted President Wilson's invitation to become American member of the commission provided for in the recent peace commission treaty with France.

Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, has accepted a similar place under the treaty with Russia.

In announcing the appointments today Secretary Bryan said several other commissioners under similar treaties would be named soon.

BULLETIN.

Queenstown, May 7.—The Lusitania was seen from the signal station at Kinsale to be in difficulties at noon. She had completely sunk at 2:33 p. m. This indicates that the liner floated for two hours and a half after what evidently was the beginning of her trouble.

According to a report received here, the first wireless S. O. S. call was sent by the Lusitania at 2:15. This read "Want assistance; listing badly."

BULLETIN.

London, May 7.—(5:52 p. m.)—Official announcement was made this evening that the Lusitania had remained afloat at least twenty minutes after being torpedoed and that "twenty boats were on the spot at the time."

DIVER IS PRAISED BY ADMIRAL MOORE

Lauded for His Rescue of Loughman in Honolulu Harbor.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Daniels has received a mail report from Rear Admiral Moore concerning the progress of salvage operations on submarine F-4 between April 14 and April 19. Details of the report, which was dated Pearl Harbor, April 19, have been published in cable dispatches.

Of particular interest, however, is the tribute Admiral Moore pays to Diver Crilly for rescuing Loughman who had been sent down but became fouled and was unable to release himself. He calls the department's special attention to Crilly's feat adding that he showed great self possession and courage. At the time the report was mailed, Loughman, whom it was feared had contracted pneumonia, was reported as improving.

Admiral Moore expressed the hope that the submarine would eventually be raised, but he said that accidents and knowledge already developed by the work, made it impossible to say when the task could be accomplished.

WATKINS CHARGE FALLS.

Articles of Impeachment at Newcastle Dismissed.

Newcastle, Ind., May 7. The articles of impeachment returned against Mayor J. Leb Watkins by the Henry county grand jury were dismissed in the Henry circuit court today on the ground that the law under which they were returned was repealed in 1905, by a decision of the appellate court given by Judge Joseph Shea. The second article of impeachment did not come up before Judge Gause but will be dismissed by the prosecuting attorney, Walter Myers, it was said.

There are five indictments against Watkins on criminal charges and these have been set for trial June 3.

A GRACEFUL ADMISSION.

"If you do not instantly apologize for that remark," said the judge, "I shall commit you for contempt of court."

"Upon reflection, your honor," instantly replied the young attorney, "I find that your honor was right and I was wrong, as your honor always is."

The judge looked dubious, but finally said he would accept the apology.—Kansas City Times.

HAAG'S COW HAD A FAULTY DELIVERY

Guaranteed to Be a Good Milker, But She Was Three-Fourths Shy.

Lloyd Haag bought a cow last March from Gideon W. Cobbs and paid $58 for her on what he alleges was a guarantee that she was "a good milch cow and all right." She also was warranted to be due to "come in fresh" on or about April 22. This the cow did all right, but according to a complaint filed in the superior court by Haag demanding judgment against Cobb for $73, the cow's delivery system was defective. She could deliver but one stream worth mentioning, while at another place milk has not and never had a chance at all and the other two were so defective as to be of little use. He returned the cow to Cobbs April 30.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court Wolf & Dessauer have begun suit against Minnie F. Morse and Mrs. Reed, as Reed & Morse, for $120 on contract.

Clara Pearl Strasser has brought suit in the superior court against David B. and William Edward Anderson for partition of property.

Armin Paul Meyer, as administrator with the will annexed of the estate of the late Henry Wagner, has brought suit in the circuit court against Ludwig Wagner and others of the estate on a petition to sell real estate to meet claims that have been allowed.

Matilda A. Klossen has filed suit in the superior court against John V. Gandy and others to quiet title to real estate.

The suit of Emma Kelley vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for $15,000 damages and the suit of William Kelley against the same defendant for $200 for damage to his automobile, have been filed in the Huntington circuit court, where they were sent on a change of venue. Mrs. Kelley suffered grave injuries from an accident February 28, 1914, for which the Traction company is blamed.

George Beach, who was arrested Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Witte on a warrant charging him with embezzlement of $38 from the Beyer Brothers' company here, has furnished bond of $500 in the circuit court.

Rose G. Carpenter has brought suit in the superior court against James F. Carpenter for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married January 23, 1913, and have just separated. This is the third suit the plaintiff has filed against her husband for divorce, having dismissed the first two at his behest.

The superior court has granted Dora Shaffer a divorce from Louis Shaffer.

The suit of Albert L. Mains vs. Frank L. Rodabaugh, brought from DeKalb county on change of venue, has been set for trial in the superior court September 7.

KNOW NOTHING OF IT.

County Commissioners Butt, Schwier and Black stated Friday afternoon that they had never been consulted by any of the people of the Fifth ward concerning the wiping out of the Sthair saloon at Main street and Knitters avenue and have not entered into any understanding that when the place attempts to renew its license in July, will turn it down. "When the application comes up, if it does, the board will deal with it as it does others. There will be a hearing and if evidence is furnished against the place it will be refused a license," said one of the commissioners. The members of the board stated that they had been informed remonstrances were in circulation to make the Fifth ward dry.

NEW INCORPORATION.

The Sheldon Tile company has filed articles of incorporation in the county recorder's office. The concern has $20,000 capital stock and will manufacture and sell tile and other clay products. Frank E. Stouder, Fred W. Freese, Andrew J. Neireiter and William Geake are the incorporators and directors.

ROADS ESTABLISHED.

The county commissioners have established the Schlaudroff road in Aboite township and the Chapman road in Marion township. Hearing on the Wilson road in Washington township went over until May 20. Christ Meyers, Joseph Banet and Christ Kramer were appointed viewers for the Guiff road in Cedar Creek township.

MAY DEPORT MURDERER.

It is probable that if Governor Ralston acts on the recommendation of the state board of pardons and releases from the Michigan City prison Durghan Ferris Riszk, who is serving a sentence for the murder of Solomon Senwar in this city several years ago, the federal authorities will seize him promptly upon his emergence from the penitentiary and hurry him to the seaboard for deportation to Syria, from which country he came. Local Syrians who testified against Riszk in his trial here and were threatened with death by him, have appealed to Prosecutor H. H. Hilgemann against the pardon of Riszk, whom they fear.

Taylorville Man Asks Logansport Police to Arrest Him

Logansport, Ind., May 7.—A man who gave his name as Lora C. Wynn, assessor of German township, Bartholomew county, surrendered to Sheriff J. F. Stanley here, saying he was a defaulter in the sum of about $50. He said he could give no reason for taking the township funds.

After getting the money, he says, he bought a ticket to Indianapolis and from there went to Chicago. He says he remembers nothing about what he did in Chicago except that he bought two shirts and a coat. From Chicago he came to Logansport. He says he is anxious to get back and make good his shortage. The sheriff at Columbus has been notified. Wynn, who is thirty-eight years old, has a family in Taylorville. He appears to be mentally deranged.

INDIANA MEN ARE SUED FOR $75,000

Suit for $75,000 alleged to be due on machinery and electrical equipment and for work and labor performed was filed in the federal court Friday afternoon by the Kutzman Foundry and Machine company, a Pennsylvania corporation, against the Indiana Reduction company, James P. Goodrich, Jesse T. Moorman and Henry C. Starr.

According to the complaint the plaintiff company entered into a written contract with the defendants on July 31, 1913, to furnish and deliver to St. Louis Mo., machiner-- and electrical equipment for the sum of $158,000 in different installments.

Of this amount $108,000 has been paid leaving $50,000 still due, $25,000 of which was to have been paid on November 1, 1913, and the balance on January 1, 1914, it is alleged. The plaintiff company is also asking for $25,000 alleged to be due for work and labor performed for the defendants.

The defendants are engaged in the garbage refining business in a number of cities throughout the United States. Messrs. Goodrich and Moorman are residents of Winchester, Ind., while Mr. Starr is a well known resident of Richmond, Ind.

MRS. HARROLD IN COURT.

Wife of Indiana Singer, Accused of Striking Man, Dismissed.

New York, May 7.—Miss Lydia Locke, a singer, who in private life is Mrs. Orville Harrold, the wife of Orville Harrold, the operatic tenor, appeared in a west side court to answer the charges of disorderly conduct brought against her by Moses Small, a chauffeur. The charge was dismissed.

Small came to Mrs. Harrold's apartment at 106 Central Park, West, late Saturday night, to deliver a package of medicine her physician had ordered for her. He demanded 25 cents for the delivery. Mrs. Harrold said in court that she did not have the change, and as the physician had promised to pay the bill she refused to do so.

She was alone at the time, Mr. Harrold being in Chicago, and the maid being out. Mrs. Harrold was in her night dress. She said when she refused to pay, the chauffeur dragged her into the hall and struck her. Small said she struck him with her slipper and cut his face. The judge took her word for it.

Charles Mills, a gardener residing three miles and a half from the city on the Maysville road, died Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at the family home following an illness of four weeks due to heart trouble. Death came at the age of 52 years.

Mr. Mills had resided on the farm where his death occurred for the past eleven years, moving there from Maysville. Besides the widow he is survived by thirteen grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren. Three of his sons, Jesse, Charles and Harvey, reside in this city and are employed by the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company.

HARD HIT BY FROSTS.

Killing Freeze Comes to Big Section of the West.

Kansas City, Mo., May 7.—All of Nebraska except the extreme eastern portion of Colorado, north central and western Kansas and the Texas panhandle experienced killing frosts last night, according to reports to the local weather bureau today. Heavy rains prevailed in Oklahoma and over greater part of Kansas. Low temperatures, generally below freezing were reported at many points in the affected districts this morning. Kansas and West Missouri are the danger zones for frost tonight, according to Observer Conner.

Says Eight or Ten Could Blockade Our Atlantic Coast Line.

Bridgeport, Conn., May 7. Did you know that, in the event of war between the United States and a foreign power, our entire Atlantic coast could be successfully blockaded by eight or ten submarines, operating from under-sea supply depots?

Simon Lake, pioneer designer and

builder of submarine craft, and for twenty-five years one of the foremost authorities on submarine building and navigation, says that is just what could be done if this country clashed with any power having the necessary submarine equipment!

"Submarines of today can cross the ocean," said Lake. "A modern submarine fighting ship could tow a submarine supply ship across the ocean. The supply ship could carry fuel oil, provisions, ammunition, mines, extra torpedoes. Anchored on the sea-bottom, she would provide supplies from which the fighting submarine could operate for an indefinite length of time—weeks or months."

"Do you mean to say that these stores—provisions, fuel and ammunition—could be transferred from one ship to another, at the bottom of the sea?" Lake was asked.

"Certainly! Each ship has a trap door which can be opened, when the air pressure inside is equalized with the water pressure outside, and no water can enter the ship—just as is the case with a 'diving bell.' By the use of a system of double doors in each ship, a man in a diver's suit can go from one ship to the other, along the sea bottom, carrying provisions or stores of any kind, in water-tight cases.

"Two submarines, with submarine supply bases, would be ample to blockade New York. Half a dozen more, divided among the big harbors of the Atlantic coast, would blockade the entire eastern seaboard. No ship of any kind could approach any port without being 'heard' when many miles away by the detectors used on submarines. Any ship which tried to run such a blockade would almost certainly be torpedoed. The same fate, of course, would menace any warship of ours which tried to leave a harbor.

"The blockading submarines would be in touch with one another through the submarine wireless system which has now come into use. Lying quietly in their hiding places at the bottom of the ocean, hundreds of miles apart, these eight or ten submarines could convert the Atlantic, from Maine to Florida, into a shipless waste of waters."

"But we could do the same thing—build submarine supply ships, and send them abroad, with our submarine fighting ships, to blockade hostile ports and destroy hostile ships?"

"Oh, yes," answered Lake with a smile. "If we had the necessary submarine equipment, and our enemy also had the necessary submarine equipment we could blockade one another's ports until we both starved to death.

"Which means, you see, that submarines are to be the end of war. If the United States wants to be assured of peace, let it bring its submarine equipment to the necessary stage. Nothing more is needed."

Attempts to Do 9.8 Miles in Hour and Fifteen Minutes on Wager.

St. Paul, Minn, May 7.—Walter Fadden, restaurateur, took a walk recently that cost him $1,000. With a stream of perspiration trickling off his nose and his hair a matted mass, he arrived at the Minneapolis court house at 9:28 in the morning, exactly eight minutes too late to win a bet of $1,000 that he could walk from St. Paul to Minneapolis in an hour and fifteen minutes.

Chris Andrews and H. K. Harrison are the winners of the wager.

At 8:05 he started from the city hall, with a vision of the $1,000 urging him on. Paddy Sullican, trainer of the Gibbons boys, acted as pacemaker. Paddy himself can make the distance in fifty minutes, it is said, so the two started at such a gait that Mr. Fadden had the $1,000 all spent by the time they reached the Midway.

Three motor loads of retainers made up a cheering retinue, and the walker was kept well supplied with oranges and lemons to suck. When the Washington avenue bridge across the Mississippi river was reached, the $1,000 began to look unattainable, but Mr. Fadden never faltered and reached the Minneapolis court house at very nearly his initial pace.

His time limit had expired eight minutes before, however, and his natural jollity had diminished considerably when he started the return trip in a motor car. The odometers of the accompanying cars showed a distance of 9.8 miles.

The ten countries with the largest populations are, in the order named, China, India, Russia, the United States, Germany, Japan, the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Austria.

TIGHT LITTLE LAIR OF TIGER IS RAIDED

Plucked Railroader's Wife Gets Pete Beckes a Heavy Fine.

When Pete Beckes and his school of poker sharks got a Pennsylvania railroad man into the tiger lair last Tuesday, kept him all night in their tight little den on the third floor at 822 Calhoun street and plucked him of $100 wages he had just drawn from the pay car and after letting him have $10 on his watch to take home to his wife they were brewing trouble they wist not of. Mrs. Railroader is a woman of parts and has determined character. She combed Mr. Railroader out when she found she would have to default her bills at butcher's and grocer's and made him "come clean" on the fate of his wages. Then she went down to police headquarters and related her story to Chief Lenz. The chief on Thursday sent Lieutenant Harry Grimme, Police Bailiff George Eisenhut and Motorcycle Officer Dan Kintz to investigate the place. The officers were not sure of the precise room in which the gambling place was located and hesitated to use force to enter the locked doors and spent twenty minutes getting in. Inside they found Beckes and two or three men playing rhum with nothing in sight to indicate gambling. No arrests were made. Later Chief Lenz was informed by the complaining woman that everything had been fixed up and that she would not file an affidavit. The chief was not so easily satisfied and Friday morning filed an affidavit on information. Beckes was arrested and brought in while the city court was in session, through an attorney waived arraignment, entered a plea of guilty and took a fine of $25 and costs. He promised to quit business. Without having been put on the stand, Beckes denied that the railroad man had been fleeced in the poker game upstairs at 822 Calhoun street and said he could show the police where the plucking took place.

Stole Employer's Lawnmower.

Jacob Taylor, a young man who has been hanging around the city for several months doing odd jobs, pleaded guilty to stealing a lawnmower from the home of Frank Ray, on Broadway, where he had been employed to cut the grass, and pawned it. He was arrested by Detectives Junk and Spillner, pleaded guilty and drew $1 and costs with thirty days added.

Other City Court Cases.

John Haggerty was too drunk to be arraigned and his case was continued until Saturday.

BUILDERS WILL PROSECUTE.

The Fort Wayne Builders' association has adopted a resolution calling for the vigorous prosecution of all persons detected in the stealing of lumber and other property at the scene of building operations. Judge Kerr has given assurance that severe penalty will attach to all convictions. The builders say that the losses from petty thefts of this character amount to an enormous sum in the course of a year, both by reason of the value of property stolen and the loss of time due to thefts.

JOINS AVIATOR HUSBAND.

Mrs. Art Smith Goes to San Francisco to Meet Birdboy.

Mrs. Art Smith, wife of Fort Wayne's famous aviator, has gone to San Francisco to be with her husband while he finishes his engagement there. Art Smith still thrills the crowds daily with his remarkable exhibition of "aerial insanity."

Architect Charles R. Weatherhogg will let the contract Monday, for the new high school building to be erected at Kendallville.

Begs American People to Believe Condemned Husband Innocent.

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—"I beg the American people to save my husband's life, because he is innocent.

This is Mrs. Leo M. Frank's plea to the people of this country to help her in her fight to save her husband from the gallows, to which he has been sentenced, charged with the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan.

Leo M. Frank.

"I love and honor my husband today more than ever before," declares Mrs. Frank, "because I am sublimely confident of his innocence."

She asks that the American people back up her plea to the governor with petitions, urging that Frank be given a fairer chance to prove his claim of innocence—urging not a pardon, but a commutation of his sentence to one of life imprisonment.

"Every bit of evidence produced at the trial," says Mrs. Frank, "and that which has developed since the trial, shows completely that my husband is not guilty. In the end I know his name will be cleared."

Mrs. Frank is a member of one of the best Jewish families in Atlanta. A woman of refinement and pride—and despite untold sufferings in the two years since Mary Phagan was murdered she has kept her faith in her husband and worked and suffered to save him from death.

During the trial, when vile stories regarding Frank were spread broadcast over the country, she countered them with frank recitals of the clean and pure home life which she asserts her husband loved and always had led.

Never did she let one bit of doubt concerning her husband creep into her mind and she worked untiringly to erase such suspicions from the minds of others.

Every day since the day of her husband's arrest she has visited him in his cell and has done everything in her power to comfort him and keep him buoyed up.

Frank is fighting as much for his wife as for himself.

"If I had been what I am charged with being, if I was low and vile, would a woman with her traditions, her fine sensibilities, continue to live with me as my wife?" declares Frank.

And Mrs. Frank has proved his contention by her suffering, her loyalty and her fight for her husband.

She believes his vindication will come—she won't give up hope—and so she asks the American people to see that justice is done—to petition the governor of Georgia for clemency.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhages of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

FRIENDS, THOUGH DIVORCED.

Gary Attorney Sees His Former Wife Off for Europe.

Gary, Ind., May 7.—Shidmir von Foerster, a Gary attorney and realty broker, and his wife, Emily Elvira von Foerster, who still retains his name, were divorced recently at Hammond. She applied for the decree, which he did not contest. Some days ago von Foerster went to his Pittsburg office. On April 29 Mrs. von Foerster said goodby to friends here and left for New York, where she was to sail on the Canopic for Naples last Saturday.

Von Foerster was to meet Mrs. von Foerster in New York and see her aboard the liner. Before leaving here he said: "I will escort her to the steamer pier and we will say good-by, parting as friends. Should we ever meet again in later years there will simply be the greeting of friends."

Lame Back.

Lame back is usually due to rheumatism of the muscles of the back. Hard working people are most likely to suffer from it. Relief may be had by massaging the back with Chamberlain's Liniment two or three times a day. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

AMERICAN CORPS WINNING LAURELS

Motor Ambulance Workers in Fighting Region in France.

London, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) No ambulance corps at the front is attracting more attention than the American Volunteer Motor Ambulance corps, under the leadership of Richard Norton. Recently the British Red Cross, with which the corps is affiliated, ordered it to return for service with the British forces from the second French army with which it had been operating since it reached French soil. But in the meantime the whole ambulance organization of the second French army had been based on the American corps and the French medical department objected strongly to giving it up. The result has been a compromise whereby the corps will be enlarged to work with both armies.

The corps consists entirely of volunteer workers, who not only give their own services but provide automobiles as well. Both have distinctly made good, the French authorities having paid the warmest tributes to the efficiency of the workers and their cars. The squadron of motor cars represents many types, with American cars proving the favorites as their clearance gives them a distinct advantage in traversing the rough battle fields and wrecked roads. Among these cars the small American types have rendered extremely useful service by providing what might be termed the light cavalry of the ambulance service. While not being able to carry a heavy load these small cars bring the wounded from fields where the big ambulances cannot venture.

One ambulance of the corps carries a steam heating plant and tubs for supplying the wounded with hot baths. The corps has placed this work in charge of A. E. Kemp of Paris and it has proven so successful that he is appealing for funds to increase the number of cars equipped with the apparatus. Inspector General Dziewonski, of the sanitary department of the second army, has written to Mr. Kemp thinging him for the tubs which have been successfully tested, one tub giving from 25 to 30 baths daily.

FIREWORKS EXPLODE.

Chicago Man Fatally Injured—Scream Heard for Two Blocks.

Hammond, Ind., May 7.—A giant aerial bomb exploded prematurely at the celebration at the opening of the Roby roadhouse. Rafael Consposapa, of Chicago, was badly injured and is not expected to live. The lower part of his body was torn away by the explosion.

Several women had narrowly escaped injury when a big fire wheel tore loose from its fastenings. Shortly afterward Consposapa touched a match to the bomb. It was set in the ground and instead of rising in the air, exploded before he could escape. Consposapa's screams were heard two blocks away.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

TWO DEAD; ONE DYING IN TRAGEDY OF LOVE

Lester Poust, 28, a machinist, employed by the New York Central railroad at Avis, shot and killed Charles Holes, 32, a bar tender, and wounded Cecelia Sowers, 22, a dining room girl, when he found them together in a rooming house.

Poust shot both through the head and then shot himself through the mouth, dying instantly. Holes had a wife and two daughters.

Cliff Noyes, battered, bruised—confronted Georgiana Byrd, sweetheart of youthful Governor Morrow, just as she was entering the executive office from whence he had bten hurled by the maddened official after a desperate battle in which the two men had clinched and fought with tigerish ferocity. Noyes, in a last brutish effort to have Morrow veto the prohibition bill which would close the Noyes distilleries, has displayed before Morrow material proof that he—Morrow, was the illegitimate child of a "yaller gal" on his grandfather's plantation.

"The Nigger" is a play that will fairly lift you out of your seat with its dramatic intensity. Never has William Farnum been assigned a bigger role than that of Governor Morrow in this Sheldon "shocker."

AT THE COLONIAL

"THE AVENGING CONSCIENCE."

Mighty Photodramatic Epic Makes Deep Impression at Colonial.

This tremendous protodramatic subject is Griffith's personal conception of the Poe classic's "Annabel Lee" and "The Tell-Tale Heart." Inspired by the alternately weird and beautiful lines of these poems, Griffith has taken the characters and the basic circumstances and successfully interpreted on the screen the moods and mind workings of these characters and the significance of these incidents. As can be easily imagined this resolves itself into a gigantic task, but the Griffith genius for the interpretation of the physiological has overcome all obstacles, and this marvelous depiction of Poe's subjects can be placed in the small category of really great film triumphs. Henry B. Walthall, Blanche Sweet, Robert Harron, Mae Marsh and Spottiswoode Aiken enact the story in gripping style.

AT THE NEW PALACE

SPECIAL MATINEE SATURDAY.

Afternoon Performance for the Kiddies at New Palace.

A special matinee for the kiddies with a general admission of but five cents for youngsters, is the arrangement made by the New Palace management to afford every school child in Fort Wayne an opportunity of enjoying the great roller skating and wrestling bear, Alice Teddy, one of the most interesting nature studies on the stage today. Miss Teddy will be the center of attraction at a reception to be held on the New Palace stage immediately after the matinee performance.

The week-end bill is a laughing specialty from start to finish with a world of amusing features in the various acts. Arthur Stone and Marian Hayes' skit, "Green Goods," in which a young country bumpkin of the story book variety visits a circus grounds where he encounters the blonde vision in charge of the cane booth and gets himself trimmed for his bank roll. "The Bogus Nobles," a skit in which the trio of comedians, Cole, Davis and Russell are appearing is another big scream, while Dotson and Gordon's dancing and comedy singing are exceptionally good.

AT THE LYRIC.

Lillian Gish at Lyric Theater.

The multitude of fans who follow the activities of Lillian Gish say they never saw her golden hair so lovely as when it floats out behind her in the final part of the four-part Mutual masterpicture by Richard Harding Davis, "The Lost House." In this scene the little star leaps from the fourth story of a burning house into the fire net stretched below.

Lillian Gish's Realism.

Lillian Gish's acting in "The Lost House" is so realistic as she is rushed into helpless captivity that men have been known to jump from their seats with the evident intention of helping her.

LUCK IS WITH JACKSTED.

American Sailor Twice Escapes Death in Torpedoed Vessels.

Reading, Pa., May 7.—It was the good fortune of Conrad Jacksted, a sailor of Mount Penn, near here, to escape death twice when ships on which he was employed were blown up by torpedoes or mines in the war zone. He was on the Gulflight, struck near the Scilly islands on May 1, as third engineer. Earlier he was on the Evelyn, sunk in the North sea. After a rest at home following his first experience Jacksted took a berth on the Gulflight.

WESTERN POLAND IN DESPERATE PLIGHT

Rockefeller Commission Gets Reports of Much Suffering There.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, May 7.—Via London, 11:25 a. m.—A detailed report of the desperate situation prevailing today in the mining district of Western Poland, now in possession of the Germans, has been received by the Rockefeller commission which was organized to assist the suffering population of this region.

A comparison of food prices before the war with those which prevailed in January of this year, show the following contrasts: Rye flour increased from $40 to $90 per ton; wheat flour from $60 to $102; buckwheat, from $60 to $125, and peas from $60 to $250. Before the war a ton of straw cost $210; in January it brought $612 and the price of oats has increased 500 per cent. Out of a population of 135,000 in the district of Sosnowitz, 12,650 persons are now dependent upon charity. In Bendin there are 5,000 charity subjects out of a population of 50,000 and in Dombrov, 5,000 out of a population of 60,000. These figures do not include the unemployed who are receiving assistance from their former employers. The unemployed so situated number about 45,000, or counting their families, about 100,000 persons. Continuing this report says that during the last five months the population of this region suffered serious epidemics of typhus, scarlet fever, dysentery and cholera. Of cholera there have been 35 authenticated cases and the death rate among non-combatants has increased from 10 per cent. to 12 per cent.

Two chief causes of the misery in this region have been the cutting off of imports, upon which Poland always has depended, and the closing of the coal mines, which in normal times, give employment to 60,000 men.

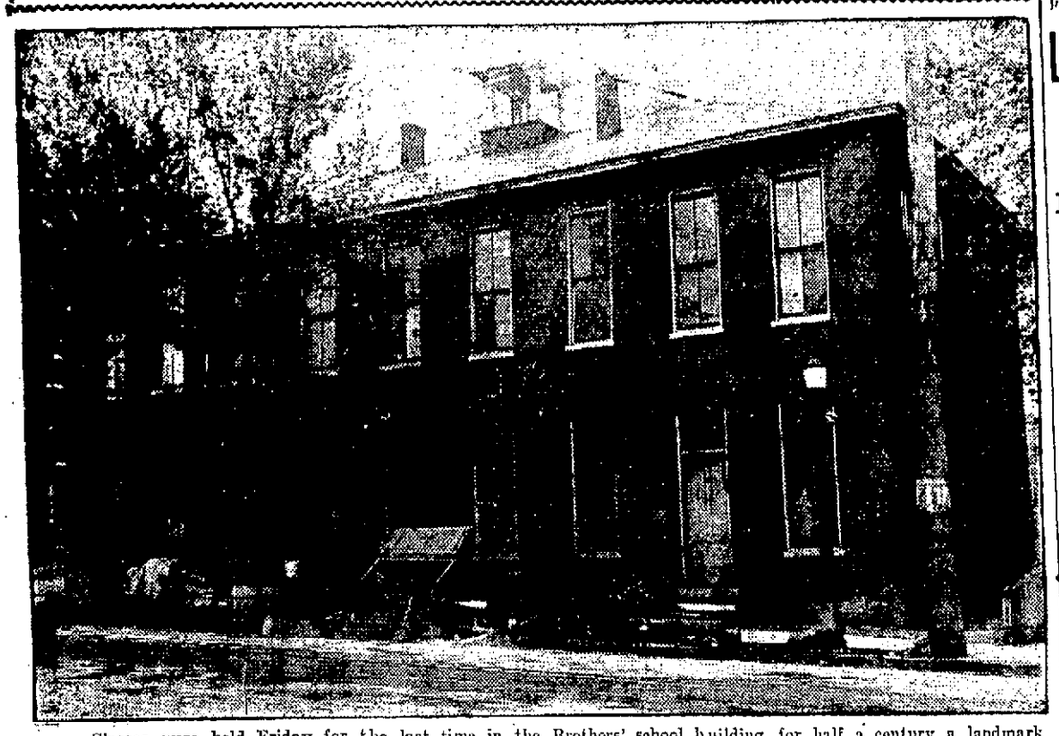
HISTORIC OLD BROTHERS' SCHOOL BUILDING IN FORT WAYNE SEES LAST CLASS PERIOD.



Classes were held Friday for the last time in the Brothers' school building, for half a century a landmark at Clinton and Jefferson streets. It will be torn down at once to make way for a handsome modern structure.

LAST CLASSES HELD IN OLD STRUCTURE

Demolition of the Brothers' School Building Begins on Monday.

On Monday morning the Fort Wayne House Wrecking company will put a large force of men to work demolishing the Brothers school in Cathedral square, one of the oldest school buildings in the county. Erected nearly fifty years ago, thousands of Fort Wayne citizens have attended classes in the old building.

The last classes were held in the building Friday, and Saturday the seats and all furniture will be taken out. The work of tearing down the ancient structure will require some ten days. The building is substantially constructed of brick, but it is badly out of repair and is not capable of accomplishing great results as a modern school.

A feature that is looked upon with regret is that when the new building is erected it will cover much of the school yard that for so many years has been as full of life and noise as a crowd of enthusiastic boys can make it.

The new building will be modern, fireproof and three times as large as the present structure. It will be completed before the first of next year if everything goes smoothly and there are no unforseen delays.

mained until thirty-five years ago, when he began work with the Seavey Hardware company. He remained in their employ until his late sickness forced him to retire.

The deceased was well known throughout the county and his many acquaintances will be grieved to learn of his death as many did not even known that he was dangerously ill. He was an active worker and member of the Summit City lodge, F. and A. M. He was a 32nd degree Mason and also a member of the Shriners. The wife, Mrs. Emma Payne, survives.

Britain and her allies; that the zone of war includes the waters adjacent to the British isle; that in accordance with notice given by the German government vessels flying the flag of Great Britain are liable to destruction in those waters and that travelers sailing in the war zone on ships of Great Britain or the allies do so at their own risk. The advertisement was signed "Imperial German Embassy."

This warning apparently did not cause many cancellations for the ship sailed with a very full passenger list. Just before the steamer's departure a number of passengers received telegrams at the pier signed by names unknown to them and presumed to be fictitious, advising them not to sail as the liner was to be torpedoed by submarines. Alfred G. Vanderbilt was one of the passengers who received such a message. He destroyed the message without comment.

No Risk, Declared Agent.

Charles H. Sumner, general agent of the Cunard line, was at the pier, and in a statement made then said that the voyage of the Lusitania would not be attended by any risk whatever as the liner had a speed of twenty-five and one-half knots and was provided with unusual watertight bulkheads.

In commenting on the report of the torpedoing of the Lusitania today, marine men pointed out that in their opinion the Lusitania could not be sunk by a single torpedo.

The Lusitania was delayed for more than two and a half hours in sailing for Liverpool last Saturday on account of having to take over the 163 passengers from the Anchor liner Cameronia, which was chartered at the last minute by the British admiralty.

T. S. Bowering, head of the firm of Bowering Bros., and president of the St. George's society, sailed on the Lusitania. He commented on the advertisement appearing in the morning papers, characterizing it as a silly performance and below the dignity of a diplomatic representative of any government. Alexander Campbell, general manager for John De War & Sons, London, who also sailed, referred to the advertisement as "Tommy rot." Other passengers on the Lusitania included Elbert Hubbard, publisher of The Philistine; D. A. Thomas, the wealthy Welsh coal operator, and his daughter, Lady Mackworth, the English suffragette.

All these persons took occasion to say that they saw nothing to worry at in the advertisement.

It was said at the Cunard offices today, previous to the receipt of the report of the torpedoing of the Lusitania, that they did not expect the steamer to arrive at Liverpool until Saturday as recently she had taken seven days to make the trip.

WHEN FIRST NEWS CAME.

Unconfirmed Rumor From English Agents of Line Given Out.

New York, May 7.—The Cunard Steamship company announced today that it had received from its agents in England an unofficial report that the Lusitania had been torpedoed off the coast of Ireland. Officials of the line here announced that they would promptly make public any confirmation or denial of the report. The Lusitania sailed last Saturday from New York and is due in Liverpool today.

A dispatch from London printed on the Jones News ticker says that a report to the Lloyds says the Lusitania had been sunk off Kinsale, Ireland. It was torpedoed at 2 o'clock this morning off Kinsale and had sunk thirty minutes later.

Life Story of Lusitania.

The magnificence of the Lusitania, the most famous leviathan of the deep ever constructed, with the probable exception of the ill-fated Titanic, was only rivalled by her sister ship, the Mauretania.

In 1907 the gigantic trans-Atlantic liner made her maiden trip to New York and she soon established the record for the run across the ocean, doing it practically in five days flat, quite a startling achievement at the time. The sister ship, Mauretania, now holds the record from Queenstown to New York of 4 days, 10 hours and 41 minutes.

Her turbine engines, a daring but successful experiment of the Cunard line, produced 70,000 horse power and drove the 45,000-ton ship 25 knots, or approximately 30 statute miles per hour. The boat was 787 feet long, a few feet shorter than the later Mauretania, and 87 1-2 feet in beam. When carrying a full load she drew 37 1-2 feet of water. She burned 1,000 tons of coal a day.

The Lusitania was constructed at the yards of John Brown & Co., Ltd., of Clydebank, England.

On her nine decks she could carry 3,000 persons, passengers and crew, and when afloat was a small city in itself.

With travelers the Lusitania was perhaps the most popular of the trans-Atlantic steamers, and a glance into her interior throughly explained why. No hotel, no palace, surpassed this superb ocean greyhound for appointments.

The 550 first class passengers were provided for in most sumptuous fashion: two elevators ran from deck E, on which was the main entrance, to deck A, where were the lounge, music, writing rooms, smoking room and a cafe veranda open only to the stern of the boat, which was an ideal spot in any weather.

For the more wealthy regal suites were provided. These were practically flats—apartments. They were made up of two bed rooms, dining and drawing rooms, pantry and bath room, so that perfect seclusion could be enjoyed.

The Lusitania established a new mark in stability and even when going at top speed articles on dressing tables and dining tables would not slide from their position. Sea-sickness was almost impossible aboard her. This was the result of the turbine engines and the bilge keels, huge steel strips which ran along either side of the ship beneath the water to steady her.

The Lusitania and Mauretania were built at the instigation of the British government, which desired a pair of royal mail and express steamers greater than anything afloat. They were built with the co-operation of the British admiralty and could mount, if desired, 12 six-inch guns.

SHOCK TO WASHINGTON.

News Strikes National Capital Like a Bomb.

Washington, May 7.—News of the torpedoing of the Lusitania struck official Washington like a bomb. While disposed to await full details before expressing opinions, all administration officials realized that the incident was probably the most serious Washington has faced since the beginning of the war.

President Wilson was informed of the sinking of the Lusitania and white house officials showed keen anxiety to learn whether any American lives were lost. No comment was made.

COMMITTEE SUCCEEDS IN RAISING $800

After securing contracts for $800 worth of advertising for the programs for "The House That Jack Built," to be given for the benefit of the Hope hospital, the advertising committee ceased work at noon Friday and has handed in all copy to the printer. Because of the limited time, the committee had to quit before reaching the $1,000 mark.

Those who assisted the advertising committee were the following: Mesdames Fred McCulloch, H. O. Bruggeman, Walter Shepard, Ben Levy, Fred H. George, H. C. Heisler, Jules Simon, Dan Milligan, Frank Walter, Louis Steifel and Gaston Bailhe and the Misses Ethel Doud, Mary Evans, Nellie Wilt, Julia Kelsey, Verne Bowser, Ignota White, Lucile Vail, Marian Puckett and Marjorie Dailey.

TWO FOUND SLAIN IN CHICAGO HOME

Chicago, May 7.—Mrs. Ella Coppersmith, 27, wife of John L. Coppersmith, a commission merchant, and her son, John, two years old, were found murdered in their homes on the south side yesterday. Their throats had been cut and their skulls crushed. A blood stained hammer was found near the bodies and in an adjoining room the police discovered a blood stained butcher knife. Diamonds belonging to Mrs. Coppersmith are missing and robbery is believed to have been the motive. The bodies were found by Mrs. John Adamson, Mrs. Coppersmith's sister.

The murderer remained long enough to wash his hands and ransack the apartment for valuables. He took a diamond ring and her wedding ring from Mrs. Coppersmith's hand, but overlooked $800 in bonds and about $50 in currency.

What the police consider their most tangible clew was the bloody imprint of the murderer's hand on a table in the kitchen. Two suspects were arrested last night.

SHOPGIRLS MAKE BEST DOMESTICS

Albany, N. Y., May 7.—Girls who worked in shops and became domestics at the solicitation of the state labor department, have proven more satisfactory than girls who have worked only as domestics, Commissioner of Labor Lynch said today in a report of the operation of the new state employment bureau. He declared these girls carried their shop training into the homes, increasing their efficiency.

In the five offices conducted by the bureau there have been 21,515 applications for positions. Of these 4,366 were women or girls. Reports show that 1,141 women and 1,739 men received positions. The greatest number of applications for help were from metal and machinery trades, with farm hands second and wholesale and retail trade next. In the woman's department the majority of calls were for domestics.

WILL CONCEDE JAP DEMANDS

ANXIOUS TO SETTLE.

China Will Make Concessions to Avoid a Rupture.

Tokio, May 7.—A dispatch to the Nichi-Nichi from its Peking correspondent says China last night informed Japanese Minister Hioki that it desired to arrange a settlement of the demands in such a way as to avoid a rupture.

The press generally deprecates the necessity of further concessions to China. Some newspapers express the fear that the impression will go abroad that the elder statesmen are still the power behind the throne.

More than forty warships, including the battleship Hizen, and the battle cruiser Kongo are preparing at Sazbo for possible operations against China. A second squadron under Admiral Nawa has arrived and is hastily embarking supplies. Rear Admiral Kamimura's fleet, including the battleships Sagami and Suwo, has been ordered to the gulf of Pechili to be in readiness to take aboard Minister Hioki in case of necessity.

The police are protecting Professor Ariga, Japanese adviser to President Yuan Shi-Kai, whom speakers have denounced as a Chinese spy and are arranging ample protection for Chinese residents of Japan.

Baron Kato, foreign minister, is understood to have informed the ambassadors of other powers that the ultimatum to China, which expires at 6 p. m. Sunday, was accompanied by additional modifications of Japan's demands, notably the questions relating to munitions and advisers which interested the United States.

It is the general opinion in diplomatic circles tonight that China will submit. Meanwhile Japan is making extensive preparations for a possible rupture. Warships and transports are held in readiness for instant movement. The impression prevails that the influence of the elder statesmen resulted in further concessions being made to China in the belief that the lasting interests of the empire could be served by convincing the powers that Japan is guided by a spirit of justice and a desire for the preservation of peace in the Orient.

GUTHRIE MAKES NO COMMENT.

Chicago, May 7.—George Guthrie, American ambassador to Japan, passed through Chicago today en route to Pittsburg, on leave of absence. He read with interest the latest news bulletins from the Orient, but offered no comment. "When I left Japan the feeling there was one of great pleasure at the cordial manner in which Admiral Dewa had been received in this country," he said.

ELECTRICIANS NAME EXCURSION DATE

Big Event Will Take Place Saturday, June 26— Voting on Place.

The Mutual Benefit association of the Fort Wayne Electric works will run its annual excursion on Saturday, June 26. This was the decision reached by the committee yesterday, and immediately following the decision Chairman Robert Bartel issued a bulletin announcing that fact and submitting to the employes of the company a result of the committee inquiry into the rates to several points. The report bearing on the latter feature is as follows:

To Michigan City, $1.95, running time three hours; to Lake Maxinkuckee, $2.80, running time three hours; to Cedar Point, $1.50, running time four and a half hours, and to Cincinnati, $2, running time five hours. The price quoted for Cincinnati includes entrance to Coney Island and the fare on the river steamer to and from that point.

Mr. Bartel says that the agent of each of the lines mentioned guarantees ample equipment for handling the crowd, even if it is necessary to have four or five trains. The selection of an excursion point has been submitted to the members of the association and the employes at the works in general and the following committee appointed to receive votes: F. G. Fleming, William Herbaum, F. Walburn, Joseph Schwartzkopf, C. J. Lopshire, J. H. Pulver, Charles Brenner, S. J. Stocks, Harry Staals, R. R. Bartel, W. H. Schultz, William Wehrs, J. Miller, Howard Miller and O. B. Rinehart.

INSTRUCTING CHICAGO DIVISION.

Nickel Plate Superintendent Williams Out on Special Mission.

This morning a special train carrying the officials of the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate left the city on an educational mission. On the train were V. A. Collie, superintendent of car service; Division Superintendent H. N. Williams, Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, Division Engineer George E. Potter, Bridge and Building Superintendent James Rogers and Fred Smith, chief clerk to Superintendent Williams. Master Mechanic W. G. Black, of Chicago, met the party at some point west of the city, and Dr. J. M. Dinnen accompanied them from this city. The object is to instruct agents how to manage the continuous home route card system, which is being inaugurated on all of the big railways of the country. The train is in charge of Conductor W. C. Bell, with Engineer William C. Happle and Fireman W. O. Chaney in the cab. A similar duty was performed by Superintendent W. F. Watterson on the Fort Wayne division yesterday, starting from Bellevue at 8 o'clock a. m. and reaching Fort Wayne at 1:15 p. m.

COMPLETE EXAMINATION TONIGHT

Trainmaster E. S. Kirby is Holding Last Book of Rules Class.

Trainmaster E. S. Kirby, of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, assisted by D. H. Caldwell, will complete the annual examination of the trainmen and enginemen in the book of rules tonight, when he will conduct a class at the public library. Mr. Kirby and Mr. Caldwell held classes at Bellevue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and opened up at the library Thursday morning. At the latter place the employes of both the Fort Wayne and the Chicago division met at the same time and the classes were held under the joint direction of Trainmaster Kirby and Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, the latter of the Chicago division. Next Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14, Trainmaster Pierce, assisted by D. H. Caldwell, will hold classes in Stony Island, which will wind up the business on the line west of Bellevue for this year.

G. R. & I. BOOK OF RULES.

Trainmaster Casey Will Start Examinations Next Week.

Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, assisted by Division Operator J. F. Betts, is making arrangements to inaugurate the annual examination of trainmen, enginemen and other employes connected with the train service on that line. Classes will be held in Fort Wayne, Kalamazoo and Richmond and they will commence as soon as the Pennsylvania, which is now holding classes in the committee room in the passenger station in this city completes its examination and vacates the room. That will be, it is thought, early next week.

GIVING LAST TEA OF SEASON.

A jolly crowd is enjoying the hospitality of Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, at the B. L. E. hall, corner of West Main and Cherry streets, this afternoon. This will be the last of the regular afternoon teas given by Division 513 this season and it will probably be the most successful in a numerical and social way, but an ice cream social will be held the afternoon and evening of May 28 in the hall. The committee in charge of the affair this afternoon are Mrs. Mabel Hood, Mrs. M. F. McCarthy, Mrs. Dennis McCarthy, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Robert Johns.

WILL SEND OUT DEMONSTRATING CAR.

The demonstrating car operated last summer by the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company in advertising its pumps, will be sent upon a more extensive trip this summer. The car will make the trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, driven by O. P. Canady, who had charge of it last year. Experience has demonstrated the value of this method of bringing the products of the company before the public. Many orders which it is believed would never have reached the Wayne company had it not been for the car, were received last fall and winter and many are still coming in as a result of the trip.

MANY ATTEND AIR BRAKE MEETING.

The convention of the Air Brake Men's association, now being held in Chicago, is attracting many railroad men. The increase in size and capacity of engines and cars has necessitated corresponding improvement in the efficiency of the air brake and "live wire" railway men are keeping in touch with this feature and to them the meeting in Chicago is especially interesting. Pennsylvania men who attended the meeting are Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, Assistant Master Mechanic F. T. Huston, Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, Assistant Road Foreman O. E. Maxwell and others.

SLEEPER FOR INDIANAPOLIS.

Fort Wayne people who attend the automobile races at Indianapolis Saturday, May 29, will have three routes to chose from, the G. R. & I., the L. E. & W. and the interurban. The G. R. & I. yesterday announced that it would have a special sleeping car for this business, which will be attached to the train leaving at 1:30 o'clock and arriving at Indianapolis at 6:45 o'clock Saturday morning, and returning will leave Indianapolis at 10:45 Saturday night. The Lake Erie and Western will have a similar service.

COUNTS VOTES MAY 21.

The votes for members of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association's advisory board will be counted Friday, May 21. This was the news received from the head of the department by Samuel M. Taylor, member of the Western division and candidate for re-election, this morning. The Western division will not have a representative on the canvassing board this time. The votes are counted by three men and there are six districts. This division was represented last year.

BROTHER DIES AT VAN WERT.

Joseph C. Brake, clerk at the Pennsylvania road foreman of engines' office, and Mrs. Brake are at Van Wert, where her brother, Mr. Hutchins, died Wednesday night. The deceased made frequent visits to his sister in this city and has a number of acquaintenances here who will be pained to learn of his death. Besides Mrs. Brake, there are other surviving relatives in Van Wert and Chicago.

USING THE RESERVE FUEL.

The big pile of coal at the Nickel Plate coal docks, deposited there a year ago and held in reserve for emergency use, is to be cleaned up now and the ground upon which it rested to be prepared for another lot of emergency fuel. Locomotives commenced drawing supplies from the big pile today and when the clam shell is not 'coaling" engines it will be busy picking up the coal and putting it in cars.

TOLEDO BOOSTERS COMING HERE.

Agent Fred C. Eggers, of the Wabash, is in receipt of the itinerary of the special train which will bear members of the Toledo Commercial club on its "boosting" trip. The "boosters" will be here the night of May 18, leaving the following morning for Peru. Their special train will consist of two Pullman cars, a coach and a baggage car.

RETURNS TO THE THROTTLE.

Thomas J. Burgess, for over a year on his farm in Michigan on account of poor health, will resume his place at the throttle of the Valparaiso and Plymouth local freight, on the Pennsylvania, next Monday. Mr. Burgess, health has improved and he expects to be able to continue at work. He is one of the old employes of the road in point of service.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Employes of the Wabash company will receive their semi-monthly pay Monday.

E. O. Wagner, commercial agent of the G. R. & I., is in Indianapolis on business for the company.

Boiler Inspector Frank Eisle, of the Wabash railroad, was in Peru yesterday on company business.

Nickel Plate Brakeman William Wolf has returned from Claypool, where he spent two or three days fishing.

Roadmaster T. W. Dempsey, of the New York Central, was here yesterday from Hillsdale on company business.

Engineer W. O. Granger, who had been off duty a few days, reported for work on the Nickel Plate this morning.

Chief Lineman G. A. Dornberg, of the Pennsylvania, inspected the telephone system the G. R. & I. is installing, yesterday.

Cash Lutz, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, went to Decatur last evening to attend the wedding of his neice Miss Jean Lutz.

Conductor D. W. Watterson, of the Knox local freight on the Nickel Plate, is taking a lay off to attend to some private matters.

Brakeman A. I. Burns, of the Nickel Plate, resumed duty yesterday, after a lay off of two weeks, spent at his home in Bucyrus, O.

Pennsylvania Yard Engineer A. C. McMillan reported for duty this morning. He has been attending the Ben Hur meeting at Bluffton.

Nickel Plate Conductors F. H. Davis and C. Compton are taking a lay off, Mr. Compton to do some painting and other repairs on his house.

Fred Gassert, machinists' helper in the Wabash shops, is off duty because of a cut in the palm of the hand, which he sustained Wednesday evening.

Engineer C. A. Boyce and Fireman B. R. Carver, of the Nickel Plate, are taking a two or three days lay off to look after some private matters.

Fred J. Thieme, of the Wayne Knitting mills, is in Philadelphia to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Hosiery manufacturers.

Conductor C. G. Baxter, who was engaged a few days in making improvements at his home on Boone street, reported for work on the Nickel Plate yesterday.

Brakemen A. I. Burns and D. L. Crance resumed work on the Nickel Plate this morning. Mr. Burns had been spending ten days with his folks at the old home in the east.

O. M. French, operator at the tower in the Lake Shore yards, says some one pried open one of the tower windows while he was temporarily absent and took a valuable telescope.

The Cushing, Okla., land car, which has been on the Nickel Plate tracks at the Calhoun street crossing the last ten days, was taken to Muncie yesterday afternoon via the L. E. & W.

Engineer W. E. Mungovan and Fireman R. M. Cline, of the G. R. & I., will spend the remaining days of the week at Howe, Ind., fishing. On a similar trip there some time ago they had excellent luck.

Vast quantities of fish are being shipped over the Nickel Plate lately. Today No. 2 carried a car load which came from Oregon and are going to New York, and this evening No. 4 will have a car load consigned to parties at Boston.

William Clusenkamp, who has worked at the plant of the old Indiana, now the American Road Machine works, more than twenty years, is recovering from an attack of pleurisy, which has kept him confined to his home three weeks.

D. C. Robinson resumed work this morning after a week's vacation and A. J. Axt left yesterday on a week's vacation, which he will spend in Chicago. Mr. Robinson spent his vacation at Winchester. They are clerks in the Pennsylvania freight office.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania, and Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the G. R. & I., have returned from Indianapolis, where they attended a hearing upon a railway matter before the Indiana railway commission.

A Fort Wayne industry that is not suffering from want of orders is the American Road Machine company. This establishment is working all its employes full time and reports that the sales so far this year are 15 per cent. heavier than for the corresponding period of last year.

Henry Gage, Wabash passenger conductor, was visiting Fort Wayne friends yesterday. He has been employed on the Wabash for nearly forty-five years and previous to taking employment with that company he worked as a newsboy on Pennsylvania trains running in and out of Fort Wayne six years.

Ralph F. Markey, clerk for Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, of the Pennsylvania, will enter upon a vacation tomorrow, which he will spend at Lafayette and Indianapolis. At the latter place the young man will attend the Knights Templar conclave, which will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The Fort Wayne Printing company's employes will have another excursion this summer and it will probably be to Cedar Point on Saturday, July 17. A committee on arrangement is composed of Harry Wilding, Kemp Baker, C. O. Whararley, Jacob Agne and Robert Schwier. This excursion, while for the employes and their families, will be open to the public also.

CONGRESSMAN CLINE WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Congressman Cyrus Cline, of the Twelfth district, will speak Friday evening before the members of Company D, Third regiment and other military bodies in this section, in the local company's armory on West Berry street. He will talk on "The Military Policies of Our Government," at which time he will discuss questions pertaining to the national defense of the country and the need and value of the national guard. The public is cordially invited to the meeting.

Why Do We Yawn?

The satisfaction we feel after a wholesome yawn is due to the fact that having replied to nature's demand that we bring in more air, our blood secures the oxygen which it needs and we feel the effect of better blood in our arteries at once.

A peculiar thing about the process of yawning is that one person in a room yawning will quite likely set all or nearly all the others to yawning also. There seems to be no explanation of this excepting that when a number of people are in one room and one of them begins to yawn, the others do so, not because they perceive the first yawn so much as the probable fact that the air in the room has become so poor that all the people in it, breathing normally, and many of them are forced to yawn at about the same time.

When you yawn, you do so because you have not been breathing quite properly and for some reason or other your blood supply has not been getting sufficient oxygen through the air which has been taken into your lungs. Nature's way, in this instance, is to call for a big intake of air all at one time, and since it is important at such times that a large quantity of air should be supplied to the lungs at once, nature has so arranged matters that certain muscles shall cause you to open your mouth wide and take in as much air as you can at one time, and also has arranged so that it is almost impossible to keep from yawning when the demand for it is once made. The yawn is controlled by a part of our nerve structure which looks after the breathing apparatus.

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't nature's way at all.

Tin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold Meyer Bros. Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

EFFICIENCY CRY IN UNITED STATES NOW

Striking Example of German Army Awakens the American Employers.

New York, May 7.—The war has given the world a watchword—it is efficiency.

The German army in action—the gray wave that rolled over Belgium—gave people a stupendous demonstration of what efficiency is and does.

Time means money—to successful firms. A big Cleveland oil firm found that many of the employes were slack in getting to work and in returning from lunch. Clerks came to work five or six minutes late in the morning, some took a little more than their allotted hour for lunch at noon. No one man took much extra time, but when a wide-awake efficiency expert sat down and figured out the amount of time lost by the firm the resulting figures astounded him and his superiors.

Time clocks were put in. Everybody, from the president of the concern down, punched them. Nobody was discharged or reprimanded for being late, but the whole force worked full time, tardiness disappeared and it was soon noticed that at the end of the month fewer men had to work overtime to close up their books or reports.

Another firm with a larger force than they had used the season before found the production falling off. It was an exceptionally hot summer and an observant foreman noted the frequency with which the "hands" dropped work to go to the lone drinking fountain located at one end of the long building. At once he had half a dozen more sanitary water tanks scattered about the big work room, and to get the needed drink an employe only had to take a few steps and a moment's time.

In a big mail order house boys and girls are employed to go from bin to bin in a huge room, filling orders. An enterprising manager fitted them out with roller skates. It was an experiment, but it worked. Now the "order fillers" glide from bin to bin in half the time and with less effort and more will in their work than before. Never have orders been sent out so promptly.

In the general offices of a big automobile manufacturing concern nobody needs leave his desk to speak to another. A note is written and a "carrier clip" operating on the endless chain system whirls it to a "distributing bureau." A second or two more and another "traveler" deposits it on the desk of the person to whom it is addressed.

Firms throughout the country are now showing men how to do one piece of work well instead of trying to do two different kinds and only half doing either. Experts show employes how to do a piece of work with two or three motions where formerly five or six or even seven had been used.

One firm found machines it used were not turning out their full capacity. The men operating these machines were working ten hours a day. This was shortened to eight and the production jumped to machine capacity at once. Before this the men tired by the long hours were unable to operate the machines to their full extent.

Big firms are putting in physicians and nurses to look after the employes' health and are ready in case of accident, with first aid treatment.

In a big pencil factory fifteen girls wrap pencils in packages of a dozen. They must be able to pick up twelve pencils—no more, no less—with one motion of the hand. Some proved faster than the others from the very start.

The foreman investigated and found that the girls who worked the fastest had hands of nearly a certain size and length of finger. From the other girls in the factory he finally found half a dozen more who had similar sized hands. These he put to work wrapping in place of the slow girls and got better results immediately.

In another factory certain men were required to do delicate filing and finishing on locks. Suddenly their production dropped off. The problem presented difficulties until the foreman had a happy inspiration. The walls across the court in front of the work benches, once white, had not been cleaned for several years. A few coats of whitewash and the men's output was soon normal again. They themselves had not noticed the gradual lessening of the light and increased difficulty of their work.

Then there is the results Frank B. Gilbreth got from bricklayers. He found most of the workmen used eighteen motions in brick laying and could lay about 120 bricks an hour. He studied the problem, reduced the motions to five and at the same time increased the number of bricks laid to 360 an hour and the workmen were not as fatigued.

Working men can save money buying their clothing from the DUKES' CLOTHING CO., At the Transfer Corner.

Police Were Informed That School Children Were Getting Cocaine.

New York, May 7.—Charged with selling cocaine to Harlem school children, four young men were arrested recently. They are Philip Lewis, the alleged leader of the gang; Abraham Levy, Elias Weibogardow and Pasquale Grecco. Levy and Weibogardow were once inmates of the city reformatory, the latter being out on suspended sentence charged with selling narcotics.

The arrest of the four was brought about by a dope fiend. This man dropped in at the first branch detective bureau and admitted to Captain Devy that he was a habitual user of drugs. He said that while he didn't mind "the gang" selling the stuff to him, he did not like the idea of them peddling it to the school children. He promised to help the police round up the gang if they would protect him.

Detectives gave the man a marked $2 bill and told him to make arrangements to meet the drug sellers. This man then met Philip Lewis, the alleged leader, at One Hundred and Tenth street and Lexington avenue. Lewis walked with him to Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, where they met Levy, Weibogardow and Grecco. The man gave one of the drug sellers the marked $2 bill and received in exchange a small quantity of cocaine.

MILLIONAIRE KID IS GOING TO FARM

Young Man Who Inherits an $800,000 Legacy Tells Plans.

San Francisco, May 7.—"If you are going to say anything in the papers about me, please go easy. The boys are 'guying' me—calling me 'Millionaire Kid' and such names."

into a fortune estimated at $800,000, as his share as one of the heirs of the estate of the late Arcadia de Baker, who died in Los Angeles in 1912.

Records of many European states were searched by his attorney, A. M. Free, former district attorney of Santa Clara county, to prove the relationship of the Bandini boy to Mrs. de Baker.

"Robert," Mrs. Ruth McMahon, the boy's mother, warned, "is the greatest mixture of boy and man you ever saw."

The son showed this in his conversation. He was worried lest the interview put him "in Dutch" with his play fellows and the members of the baseball team to which he belongs.

Then, forgetting his playfellows, he talked like a man about his future. "I am going to study agriculture and become a farmer. I will buy a ranch as soon as I am through with my college work. I have always been interested in farming and mechanics. I have a workshop in the basement where I am experimenting and building little aeroplanes and automobiles. I have also made a cabinet and bookcase which could pass for the work of an expert mechanic.

"I don't like to sit in the house. That's why I want to become a farmer. I want to live in the open, to go fishing, boating. The money that I get does not really make much difference in my plans, except that they will be carried out more easily," the boy continued.

"Yet, people seem to think that by falling into this fortune I have changed over night and become—I don't know what. All sorts of queer letters came in the last few days. One man asked me for money with which to go back to the old country to fight. Another wants me to subscribe to a worthy cause—and I don't begin to understand his letter. A third wants me as a partner in business. He thinks I am just the man he has been looking for.

"Say," he suddenly announced. "I am expert at pruning grape vines. I'll bet I could go out and work beside any man in an orchard pruning trees and get a man's wages."

"Bob," came a call from the basement.

"You'll excuse me," said Bandini, with a twinkle. "My chum is calling; I must keep him on my side.

"If you keep on writing about my inheritance all my chums will turn against me for fear that I am getting swelled up. I am not a bit. I do not see why I should be."

ARCADE Ready-to-Wear STORE

HOW PEACE PARTY HOPES TO ABOLISH WAR.

1. The immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of early peace.
2. Limitation of armaments and the nationalization of their manufacture.
3. Organized opposition to militarism in our own country.
4. Education of youth in the ideals of peace.
5. Democratic control of foreign policies.
6. The further humanizing of governments by the extension of the franchise to women.
7. "Concert of Nations" to supersede "Balance of Power."
8. Action toward the gradual organization of the world to substitute law for war.
9. The substitution of an international police for rival armies and navies.
10. Removal of the economic causes of war.
11. The appointment by our government of a commission of men and women, with an adequate appropriation, to promote international peace.

Mrs. Amos Pinchot, leader of the woman's peace party which aims to stop this war and prevent wars in the future.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

New York, May 7.—"We want an army of a million women to fight for peace!"

So Mrs. Amos Pinchot formulated for me the purpose of the newly established woman's peace party in which she is the leading spirit in New York.

"War," continued the slender, vivid crusader for peace on earth, "is stupidity. We deny individuals recourse to violence to settle their difficulties. Why should we permit it to nations which are merely groups of individuals?

"The present war has already mortgaged the future of Europe for ten generations to come. The future is woman's business. We women make the future by giving birth to children.

"If we are to continue to rear children for what Tolstoi termed properly food for cannon, women in war-harassed countries may adopt the birthstrike, when it becomes necessary, as a protest against war. In every war, woman is the greatest, the ultimate sufferer.

"The women of Europe have seen their children fed to cannon. Many of those who survive will be crippled—not only physically, but economically, and in their whole development because when peace finally comes the contending nations will be so weakened and burdened with debt that it will take long years to restore them to the standard of life that existed before the outbreak of hostilities.

"The time has come for mothers to band together to protect the race from this wholesale slaughter. Do you know that in the South African war five noncombatants died for every combatant? Women supply the materials of war—human flesh—yet they have nothing to say on the question whether their country shall be plunged into it or not.

"In this country women are a power. They can and must work against the spread of militarism. They must protest against the formation of the American legion because increased armament by the United States is equivalent to the admission that force is the only way of dealing with international difficulties.

"If, in the face of the European catastrophe, we proceed to arm ourselves, it is as much as to say, 'We expect attack, and mean to fight like the rest of you.'

"The women's peace party does not admit the necessity of future wars," Mrs. Pinchot continued. "And we think that every mother who knows the cost and the precious value of human life will want to join us in our crusade for constructive peace."

I talked with Mrs. Pinchot in the very charming apartment at 960 Park avenue, New York city, which the Pinchots took after leasing their town house to Vincent Astor. The room in which we sat was hung with pieces of old brocade. And against its soft and mellowed beauty clamored the loveliness of many spring flowers, rose-colored tulips, deep red hyacinths which contrasting with the time-toned beauty of the hangings seemed almost shrill.

In this exquisite setting the world-war seemed many worlds away.

And it was hard to realize that there was need to discuss the organization of mothers against the destruction of their sons.

But Mrs. Pinchot soon brought me back to the peace crusade into which she has thrown herself with ardor tempered by intelligence—the spirit that rules the world.

The Book of Wonders

Is Offered To You By THE SENTINEL

How can a ship sail under the water? Why doesn't the crew suffocate? Where is the eye of the submarine? Why do they keep white mice on board a submarine? How did the water get into the ocean? Why doesn't the water in the ocean sink in? How does the sand get on the seashore? What makes the sea roar?

The reading matter tells you in the most fascinating way how the things you want to know about are done and the illustrations show you how they are accomplished.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, May 7.—Wheat eased off today, influenced by predictions that the government report would be in favor of the bears. After opening at the same as last night to 1c lower, prices rallied, but again showed a disposition to sag.

Corn hardened as a result of a little buying on account of wet weather damage in Argetina. Wheat weakness, however, prevented any material upturn. The opening, which varied from ⅛c to ¼c off, was followed by advances to above last night's level.

Export clearances of oats helped make oats firm. Pit offerings were light.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, May 7.—Price changes at the outset of today's market operations reflected further irregularity and confusion, due in part to London, where Americans were heavy. War specialties were not especially prominent, except Bethlehem Steel, which soon rose six points to 154, one point under its record price. Reading was heaviest of the leading shares. U. S. Steel was barely steady, while other prominent issues moved variably.

The morning session was almost the dullest of any day for a fortnight, with a continuance of the uncertain undertone. Standard stocks denoted further selling. Reading, Union Pacific and Coppers yielding to mild pressure. Mexican Petroleum rose four points. Bonds were irregular.

Confirmation of the sinking of the Lusitania was followed by enormous selling orders. Losses ranged from six to twelve points in standard stocks and fifteen to thirty in war specialties, with a few substantial recoveries in the final dealings. The closing was weak.

THE WEATHER

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair and cooler tonight, with probably frost if weather clears; Saturday fair.

For Indiana: Fair and cooler tonight, probably frost north portion; Saturday fair.

For Ohio: Cooler and generally fair tonight and Saturday.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

The low pressure area which was central over western Texas yesterday morning has moved rapidly northeastward, and is central over upper Michigan this morning. In connection with this storm general and quite heavy precipitation has occurred over the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the lake region. Fair weather prevailed over the Atlantic coast sections and the districts west of the Rockies.

The weather is somewhat warmer this morning over the eastern states but it continues cool over the eastern Rocky mountain region, the Dakotas and Nebraska.

In this section conditions favor fair and cooler weather, with probable frost tonight if the weather clears. Saturday will be fair.

SMALL CHANCE FOR BERRY ST. OPENING

Nickel Plate Road Owns Land Necessary and Would Keep It.

That there is an unpromising prospect for the opening and extension of East Berry street from Monroe street to join the western terminus of Erie street and so give that thoroughfare and the region of which it is the artery a straight outlet to the downtown district was brought out Friday morning during a conference of Mayor Hosey and the board of works with W. F. Watterson, division superintendent of the Nickel Plate railroad.

The railroad owns and includes in its right of way the crescent strip of land that sweeps around the curvature of the Maumee river and is necessary to the opening of Berry street. Superintendent Watterson said the Nickel Plate undoubtedly would refuse to yield this strip for a street. It is wanted, he said, for the site of a temporary passenger station at such time as the city compels track elevation through the city, and might be made the site of a permanent passenger station at some future time. Mayor Hosey is of the opinion that so long as the Nickel Plate uses this ground as a part of its right of way for railway purposes the city cannot condemn it for a street. If it should be condemned it would impose enormous assessments on the abutting property. People of Erie street and that region have been clamoring for the Berry street extension for a long time, and recently the movement was revived.

GRADE SEPARATION ORDERED.

Board of Works Adopts Resolution for Osage Street.

The board of works at Thursday night's meeting adopted a resolution ordering the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railroads to begin track elevation work at Osage street, not later than June 1 and to complete operations at a time the board will fix later. The resolution was introduced by Member Henry Hilgemann. Mayor Hosey and the board are resolved to get the openings for subways through at Osage and Coombs streets this year and have been given satisfactory assurance by General Manager A. W. Johnston, of the Nickel Plate, that his road will co-operate in this purpose.

The board fixed May 24 as the date for hearings on the new franchise to be given the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for its tracks on State street. The purpose of the new franchise is to get the tracks removed from the sides to the center of the street, which is to be paved.

Orders were given the engineering department for plans for ornamental lighting systems on Hoagland avenue, from Creighton avenue to Pontiac street, and on Brackenridge street from Calhoun street to Harrison street. The type of standards and lamps are left to the selection of the property owners.

The board rescinded action on a resolution adopted in 1912 for ornamental lighting on Lawton place because the improvement must now be made under the new law. Plans were ordered for these improvements: Paving the alley between Washington and Wayne streets, Nelson to Garden; sidewalks on the east side of Hoagland avenue, from Cour to Organ; on both sides of Reed street, from Colerick to Pontiac; on the east side of Holton avenue, from Colerick to Pontiac, and on both sides of Lewis street, from Hanna to Anthony.

NOBLE SUIT IS SET FOR TRIAL.

Matter Affecting Osage Street Opening to Be Tried May 13.

The circuit court has fixed May 13 for trial of the suit of William K. Noble against the city on appeal from the board of works in the matter of opening Osage street across the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railway tracks and if no further delays arise the cause will be determined within a few days. The board awarded Noble $2,500 damages for the portion of his property north of the Lake Shore tracks necessary to the street opening. He refused to accept the award and appealed to the circuit court, demanding $20,000 damages. The suit has been pending for a year or two. It has not been pressed because the city wished to have it tried under a new law that gives the city the option to rescind all action and pay back to property owners the assessments they have paid in and also to make a reassessment to cover any excess of damages the courts may award, thus protecting the general fund of the city. There is a prospect that the suit may be compromised before the day set for trial. The board of works and the city's legal department will consider reasonable proposals for settlement. If no settlement is reached and the court awards more than the city officials believes should be paid, the street will be opened across the Nickel Plate to Burgess street and the Lake Shore opening will be made probably at DeGroff street.

WAR ON A CLEANING PLANT.

The board of works and Building Inspector Philip Wyss have under consideration a remonstrance filed by a committee of property owners in the square bound by Calhoun, Williams, Harrison and Butler streets protesting against the establishment of the plant of the Princess Dry Cleaning company at 2004-6-8 Calhoun street. The remonstrants say the odors produced by chemicals that will be used in the plant will create a nuisance in the neighborhood.

WEIGHTS LAW APPLIES.

City Sealer C. B. Tolan has been advised by H. E. Barnard, state commissioner of weights and measures that the regulations enforced by the state bureau of weights and measures apply to sand, gravel and rock and that the capacity of wagons used for hauling these should be determined in cubic feet instead of cubic yards. Commissioner Barnard says that the use of a wagon for hauling these materials, when it does not hold the stated amount, is just as fraudulent as the use of a short half-bushel measure or a short-weight scale. The sealer and other officers are instructed to see that the law requiring honest measures is obeyed in respect of the materials mentioned.

TO EXAMINE FLUSHERS.

Mayor W. J. Hosey and Street Superintendent Herman Strodel went to Peru, Ind., Friday afternoon to inspect a street flusher, recently purchased there, that has a small gasoline rotary pump equipment. If it is found to work well two horse-drawn flushers owned by this city will be equipped with similar pumps and made modern and more useful. They are compressed air flushers and have serious drawbacks that it is believed pump equipments will correct.

ST. JOSEPH CLASSIS AT GRACE REFORMED

Forty-third Annual Meeting of This Body Begins Here Tuesday, May 11.

The forty-third annual meeting of the St. Joseph Classis of the Reformed churches will be held at the Grace Reformed church, Rev. A. K. Zartman pastor, next week, beginning Tuesday evening, May 11. This classis is composed of nearly fifty churches of northern Indiana and southern Michigan and it is expected that over 75 delegates will be present. The officers of this body are Rev. C. E. Albright, of Detroit, president; Rev. Freeman Ware, of White Pigeon, Mich., clerk, and Rev. W. H. Hand, of Culver, treasurer.

The opening session will be held Tuesday evening when the retiring president, Rev. Albright, will deliver a sermon on the subject, "The Imperative Need of Constructive Preaching." The business session will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the Woman's Missionary society of the classis will also be held next week at Grace Reformed beginning Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when the annual reports will be submitted and the committees appointed. The officers of this body are: President, Mrs. H. B. Diefenbach, and secretary, Mrs. Jesse Zehner.

The fortieth annual meeting of the Sunday schools of the same classis opens Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. A. K. Zartman will deliver the address of welcome and Prof. E. O. Sellers of Moody Bible institute, Chicago, will deliver the address on the subject, "Teaching of Missions in the Sunday Schools." The various officers will read the annual reports Tuesday afternoon at the session beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

ROANOKE NEWS.

Roanoke, Ind., May 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Hunsoner and children motored to Wabash Sunday, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Roy Tudor.

The commencement exercises were held at the United Brethren church Tuesday evening. James H. Shaw, of Bloomington, Ill., delivered the address, the subject being "Horace Man and the Public Schools." Music was furnished by the Stag orchestra. The seniors are Misses Clella Wygant, Frieda Broxon, Minnie Crawford, Louis Van Arsdol and Cloney Goff and Messrs. John Schwab, Russel Wake, Paul Hatfield, Fredric Wade, Burwell Crow, Frank Goings, Allen Van Arsdol and Eldon Wygant. The girls were all dressed in white veile. Their class motto was, "To Succeed Is to Excel." Colors, red and white; flowers, lilies of the valley. After the commencement exercises they marched in a body to the Masonic hall, where they were given a reception by the juniors. The juniors were dressed in white middy suits with lavender ties, lavender and white being their class colors. The room was beautifully decorated with red carnations and purple hyacinths. A three course luncheon was served and music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Balar Carter. Little Virginia Biggs and Ellen Wasmuth acted as flower girls.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Blum and son, Hillford, were Sunday guests at the Milton Dennis home, near Homestead.

Rev. Gillispie and daughter, of Saturn, took Sunday dinner at the Harvey Jackson home.

GEORGE W. LINDEMUTH.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of George W. Lindemuth, 525 Wildwood avenue, as captain of deputies of the fish and game department of northern Indiana, succeeding Rodney D. Fleming.

Mr. Lindemuth has always been an ardent sportsman and is fully qualified for the position to which he has been appointed. He is a former auditor of Allen county, completing his term on January 1, 1911, and for two years after retiring from office was engaged in the manufacture of cement blocks at Wolcottville. Returning to Fort Wayne about a year and a half ago he engaged in the real estate and insurance business with David C. Stout.

Mr. Fleming retires after sixteen years of service in the fish and game department of the state. Six years ago he was appointed head of the deputies in the northern half of the state.

Noted Missionary at Plymouth Church Next Tuesday—State Delegates.

The Young Ladies' Missionary society of Plymouth Congregational church, in conjunction with the Ladies' Missionary society of the same church, will bring to Fort Wayne next Tuesday for two addresses Mrs. Ida Woodbury, a noted missionary.

A general invitation to the public, especially the members of other local missionary societies, is extended on the occasion of Mrs. Woodbury's address at Plymouth church at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when she will speak on Alaskan missions, and also in the evening, when the speaker will tell of the work among the mountain whites.

At a meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary society of Plymouth church Miss Evelyn Archibald was chosen as the delegate of the society to the state conference at Marion, which will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Indiana conference of Congregational churches and ministers.

BASEBALL POOLS UNDER POLICE BAN

The selling of baseball pools, a species of gambling that has had extensive patronage here for several years, has been put under the ban of the police in Fort Wayne. Chief Lenz on Thursday instructed Captain Kelly, night commandant, to notify all cigar store proprietors and other persons who have been engaged in pool selling on baseball games that these violations of the law must cease at once. While this variety of gambling does not take much from any one of the patrons of the "sport," the number who play the pools is large and in the aggregate much money goes into the play every week. Prosecution will be alternative to obedience to the order of Chief Lenz.
